

=====
From: B Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, B Davis

=====
From: BD Bennett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BD Bennett

=====
From: Beatrice Haas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beatrice Haas

=====
From: Beatrice Nissel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beatrice Nissel

97405

=====
From: Beau Treadwell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beau Treadwell

10031

=====
From: Becca Tulip
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Becca Tulip

From: Becki Marauskis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Becki Marauskis

=====
From: Becky
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Block unknown caller

Sent from my iPhone

=====
From: Becky Berry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Becky Berry

76401

=====
From: Becky Coulter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Becky Coulter

56374

=====

From: Becky Cox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am writing to urge the FCC to take a stand and to use its legal authority to declare the Internet a public utility and to regulate it as a public utility. Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 clearly gives the FCC the authority to regulate the Internet as a public utility.

As you know, ARPANET was funded primarily with public dollars and was the origins of the Internet. The Internet has revolutionized and continues to revolutionize our world like no communication device before it. The telegraph, telephone, radio, and computer each had its place and its day, but they pale when compared to the capabilities and functions of today's Internet. The Internet is far too valuable and powerful to allow the heads of only a few corporations to control it, which is why I am writing today.

One of the keys to the rapid growth and universal usefulness of the Internet was the free and open access to the basic documents, especially the specifications of the protocols. That open access is exactly what promoted the growth and development of the Internet. Today's current expansion of the Internet is fueled by the realization of its capability to promote information sharing. We must not let control of the Internet belong to the few rather than to everyone because free and open access is critical to both the future evolution of the Internet and to the future of information-sharing.

I am a teacher. I use the Internet numerous times a day with my students in the classroom, in my lesson-prep, in my research and in my own on-going education. The Internet is an extremely valuable professional tool for me. I also use the Internet daily in my personal life to engage in leisure activities, shopping, banking, and staying in touch with friends and family and mentors.

It is no longer debatable that the Internet is one of the world's most important and powerful information infrastructures. As such, it is critical, especially in a democracy, that it remain free and open. Information is power. The FCC must not grant the power to decide what is and what is not available on the Internet to the large cable and telecommunication companies. As most infrastructures, it should remain public.

If the FCC were to turn this valuable infrastructure over to the cable and telecom companies, those companies will most likely do what they have said they will do--control the speed of service and create a faster lane for some. Which means that they will slow down service for others. Given that we've seen corporations take activist's positions on issues like taxes, religion, gay-marriage, birth control and other social issues this past decade, there is very little reason to believe that they will not block content they disagree with or that creates any form of competition for them. The FCC must not allow this to happen. Internet providers must not be in a position to control the content available on the Internet.

The United States of America already has Internet speeds that are among the slowest in the world. Rather than provide all of us the speed that people in other countries enjoy, the cable and telecommunication companies want to take control of the Internet so that they can suddenly create faster speeds and sell those to the highest bidders, and continue to overcharge the rest of us for the pitifully slow speeds.

Instead of turning the Internet over to the big companies--which promotes only more and more mergers until it is all owned and controlled by one company, the FCC should insist on competition. The FCC should not approve the Comcast-Time Warner merger and, in fact, should seek ways to divest some of the larger companies from holdings that allow them to control information markets.

I urge the FCC to use its legal authority to declare the Internet a public utility and to regulate it as a public utility. I urge the FCC to use competition to maintain true net neutrality. Most Americans consider the Internet to be a public utility and the FCC should take the legal steps to make it so. We want the FCC to do its job and keep the Internet free and open. For all.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Becky Cox

59802

=====
From: Becky Fuller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Becky Fuller

=====
From: becky Kurth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is important for people on fixed incomes like us.

We already pay the phone company a hefty fee for the internet. Any more fees would be a hardship. Large corporations have too much power over our lives already. Please preserve net neutrality. Thankyou

becky Kurth

65721

=====
From: Becky Lee Rodriguez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Becky Lee Rodriguez

=====
From: Becky Magnuson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Becky Magnuson

=====
From: Becky McElfresh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Becky McElfresh

=====
From: Becky Russell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Becky Russell

63084

From: beduschi damiano

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

beduschi damiano

46100

From: Behzad Zandieh

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Behzad Zandieh

17110

From: Belinda Araiza

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Belinda Araiza

=====
From: Belinda Roddie
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Mr. Wheeler,

From the moment I tried out dial-up, I have found the Internet to be an absolute blessing to artists and writers like myself. Not only do sites like Youtube allow us to creatively use and promote our own created media, but the opportunity to create our own sites and our own blogs is amazing for the innovation and growth of our work. To have each site on the web at equal speeds allows us the opportunity to display our work on a level playing field, and to easily promote and competitively sell products should we begin a market for them.

Any possible encouragement of pay-for-priority, as a result, is creative suicide for hundreds, if not thousands, of freelance writers, artists, comic creators, media producers, and anyone who is not capable of forking over money to the Big Man. If speed was to be calculated by pay, then those with amazing products and ideas would be left behind for the sake of already established and prominent media - who MAY or MAY NOT have the best ideas or public interest in mind. This is an argument I also repeat for the Comcast-Time Warner merger, in which speeds could be compromised for the sake of rising prices on tiers. You may feel as if these businesses have the interest of customers, but I know, from experience, that the bigger things get, and the more monopolizing they become, the less compassion they show. It all comes down to money.

I run a personal blog with AdSense on it and make very little money from it. I dread the day that paid prioritization potentially slows down the speed to my site, and the inability of my friends and family to properly read my work. Let me make this clear: I cannot, and would not, be able to afford any request by Internet providers to pay more money for the sake of speed. I should not HAVE to pay any extra money to promote my work. If I stood on the street, playing guitar and singing, would it not be insane for a man to walk up to and say, "For five dollars, I will let you keep playing, or else the musician on the other corner will play louder than you and cancel you out"? That is, essentially, what paid prioritization does - it cancels out competition and destroys any chance of ever getting work out. It's mind-boggling, and if the FCC lets it happen, it will be tragic.

Please bolster Title II in your future discussions on net neutrality, and remember that people like me - lower class artists with strong dreams but little money - rely on the Internet for extraordinary things. You can make that happen, Mister Wheeler. I know you can be a hero for underdogs like us, rather than supporting the CEOs who already have it all and so much more. Their profits don't need to be further maximized. Our opportunities do. Just think of the writers.

Sincerely,
Belinda Roddie
Student and Writer

Belinda Roddie

94901

=====
From: Belinda Yocom

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Belinda Yocom

=====

From: belva hubbard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, belva hubbard

=====

From: Ben Basin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The preservation of net neutrality is essential to human freedom and dignity in the digital age. The world has changed because of this technological evolution, and large corporations must NOT be given the power to influence complete, equal, and fair access to the internet itself.

Ben Basin

97214

=====

From: Ben Bellus

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Ben Bellus

50312

=====
From: Ben Bunner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Bunner

=====
From: Ben Comar
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Comar

=====
From: Ben Delaney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

As a nonprofit technology leader, net neutrality is a big deal for me.

Well, not actually for me personally. But for the hundreds of low-income families who need a working, fast internet to complete schoolwork, find jobs, obtain healthcare, and stay up to date with their often-distant families, net neutrality is a very big deal indeed. these are people I work with every day.

You see, these folks can't afford to pay to play on the information superhighway. Yet their needs and rights are as valid as mine and yours. We should not allow corporate giants to penalize these people (again) for being poor. They need, and deserve, a fast internet connection to allow them to take their places as complete citizens, participating in, and supporting, this great country.

Please, please, please prohibit an internet "fast lane." That's just another form of discrimination, and we absolutely do not need it. Nor do the giant ISPs need ever greater profits.

Thank you.

Ben Delaney

Ben Delaney

94607

=====
From: Benedict Barstys
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Benedict Barstys

89503

=====
From: Ben Gramm
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Gramm

=====
From: Ben Granito
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Ben Granito

60614

=====
From: Ben Jakovljevic
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Jakovljevic

=====
From: Benjamin Bowman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Benjamin Bowman

43085

=====
From: benjamin burns

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, benjamin burns

=====

From: benjamin carpenter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

benjamin carpenter

94607

=====

From: Benjamin Gruseck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

My name is LÃ¶wen and I am an Electrical Engineer working at a Data Center in Florida. Keeping true net neutrality is essential for our business to grow. Thankfully we don't have a monopoly in our area, but if we did it would have been next to impossible to expand to the company we are today. ISP's should not be allowed to double charge for service on both sides of the router. If the customer is paying for a certain bandwidth, it is their job to provide the infrastructure for that bandwidth, not third party internet services. The merger between Comcast and Time Warner would be detrimental to trade, and fast lanes are already doing that. You cannot let this monopoly occur. Classify the internet as a common carrier because that's what it is. There is no difference between data in the internet and data in phone lines. Comcast and others are committing Data Discrimination, and it should be illegal.

Please stop this to protect our nation's future. To allow for innovation and new businesses to grow. We need to catch up to the rest of the world and the system in place is not letting that happen.

Do the right thing. Protect the Open Internet.

Sincerely,
B. LÃ¶wen Gruseck

Data Center Systems Engineer

Benjamin Gruseck

32792

=====
From: Benjamin Melius
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Benjamin Melius

=====
From: Benjamin Scott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I'm writing urging, no, demanding, as a citizen-constituent, that the FCC protect net neutrality as we all currently know it. The FCC should do this by maintaining a level playing field in which all ISPs load all websites at the same speed. In order to accomplish this the FCC must regulate the internet as a public utility by way of Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934.

Protection of the transformational, game-changing, revolutionary technology [the internet] that has been integral to our huge advances in society, business, and universal knowledge, and to maintain our momentum of said advances, is what we have government for in the first place - to protect our country and our individual citizens against out-sized interests from mucking it all up.

My wife is a small business owner who operates exclusively on the internet. I can only imagine the struggles that will be added to her already difficult existence if the rules of the internet game were to change. One thing that's guaranteed is that her cost of business would go up -- because the only reason ISPs want this change is so they can charge more money. In her case, with such a small profit margin, added infrastructure difficulties and cost increases would almost certainly cause her to close up shop.

Is it the FCC's intention make life for small businesses impossible, or to drive up costs for everyone from business owners to regular consumers? Is the FCC interested in stifling the economy even further? Because I don't see any other outcome possible if net neutrality is not protected - and what I'm hearing Chairman Wheeler talking about doesn't sound like net neutrality to me. We've had net neutrality since the inception of the internet, so talk of implementing any change to that status quo is alarming.

And don't even get me started on the free speech implications of letting ISPs pick and choose which content is prioritized over others. The unimaginable power that could be given to ISPs, and/or the highest bidder, if net neutrality is not protected, is chilling.

America invented the internet and everyone agrees it's been pretty great and has revolutionized (revolutionized!) the whole world. The. Whole World. We did that. Why would we go and mess with a good thing like that?

One internet for all, the same speed, just as it always has been. We should keep what we have and not jeopardize it. Period. Anything else would be folly. The FCC must use Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 to regulate the internet as a public utility in order to protect net neutrality and, in effect, our way of life.

Benjamin Scott

95687

=====
From: Ben Jones
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Jones

=====
From: Benj Young
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Benj Young

=====

From: Ben Kidwell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Kidwell

=====

From: Ben & Mary LaLonde
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben & Mary LaLonde

=====

From: Ben Michel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Internet MUST be treated like any other utility, and be regulated by the government. Cable companies are not to be trusted, as they only have their own profits in mind.

Ben Michel

60091

=====

From: Ben Minasola
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Minasola

=====

From: Ben Modica
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Modica

=====

From: Ben Mohs
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Mohs

=====
From: Bennett Yang
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Chairman Wheeler, please don't be a lapdog for big telecommunication companies. Don't become a public enemy for your selfish gain.

It's time for you to reclassify broadband as a telecommunications service public utility instead of as an information service as it currently is.

Please don't betray the trust of public in FCC.

Bennett Yang

77584

=====
From: Benny Huffman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Benny Huffman

=====
From: ben schmidt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, ben schmidt

=====
From: Benton West
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Benton West

=====
From: Benvineto Watson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am very concerned that despite your stated commitment to net neutrality, I am getting the impression that our definitions are not the same. I am again imploring you not to create a "seperate but equal" internet. History has taught the USA that when applied to anything, it is not good for our country.

Benvineto Watson

33436

=====
From: Ben York
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Ben York

29072

=====
From: Ben Young
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ben Young

=====
From: Berkley Cumbie
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Berkley Cumbie

=====
From: Berlin Lewis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Broadband providers should be regulated as public utilities and tasked to provide equal access fit all users.

Berlin Lewis

77388
=====

From: Bernadette COLE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Mr. Wheeler,
Have you read "Captive Audience". Please do. The idea that the internet will be not be as ubiquitous as it could be is sad. Really, we know the rest of the world is ahead of us in speed, capability, and coverage. We can do better. Do your part.
Bernadette

Bernadette COLE

84763

=====
From: Bernadette Freedman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am old enough to have used the Internet since it was created. I am an educator, and to my community, the Internet is a vital public utility. Now, I am already experiencing slow Internet service on selected tasks because people and companies with big bucks are buying the "fast lanes" and leaving ordinary people like me in the dust--people WHO PAY OUTRAGEOUS MONTHLY INTERNET SERVICE BILLS for the "privilege" of being abused in this way. These degraded services will only multiply and worsen unless you at the FCC step up and protect net neutrality once and for all. My Constitutional right to free speech is being threatened by the big telecom companies that want to make more money by charging the largest ISPs for "prime" service. We need to help more Americans get on the Internet by making new, smaller start-up ISPs able to open their businesses and charge reasonable rates--those start-ups won't have a prayer unless net neutrality is maintained. It is critical that you put forward regulations that protect an open Internet for EVERYONE.

Bernadette Freedman

19115

=====
From: Bernadine Turner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bernadine Turner

32669

=====

From: Bernard and Shirley Bruning
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bernard and Shirley Bruning

=====

From: Bernard Dahlstrom
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bernard Dahlstrom

=====

From: bernard elias
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Equal access for all is essential for our Democracy, and with citizens united it is even more important that we have net neutrality to make sure all voices are heard regarding all issues. One person, one vote can only be adhered to in this day and age if our poorest citizens have the same say as our richest Corporation.

bernard elias

90278

=====
From: Bernard Horvath
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bernard Horvath

=====
From: bernardo alayza mujica
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Net neutrality has been the default state of the internet since its invention - internet service providers load all websites at the same speed. Now, Big Telecom wants to change the rules so they can extract more money from websites by making them pay to be served to customers at faster speeds.

In order to preserve net neutrality, the FCC needs to ban Big Telecom from creating these so-called "fast-lanes" which only large companies could afford. Start-ups and independent sites like Daily Kos would be left behind and crushed.

The FCC has tried protecting net neutrality twice before, and been defeated by Big Telecom in court both times. In order to legally prevent Big Telecom from destroying net neutrality once again, the FCC should assert authority it already has under Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 to regulate the internet as a public utility. This legal argument offers the most protection for real net neutrality to prevent ISPs from controlling content speed and blocking websites.

bernardo alayza mujica

51111

=====
From: Bernard Rich
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Internet should be considered a public trust, and no one should be allowed to monopolize it. As more and more uses for Internet technology improve education, healthcare and individual safety it becomes increasingly important not to allow providers to favor one group of users over another in terms of speed or bandwidth.

Bernard Rich

77025

=====
From: Bernice Kephart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bernice Kephart

=====
From: Bernice Reinharth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bernice Reinharth

11554

=====
From: bernie dieska
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bernie dieska

=====

From: BERN WALLACE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Keep net neutrality. Why should the consumer, the majority of cable subscribers, be penalized for not being a corporation with deep pockets? Cable fees with Comcast are already sky high, and I don't want to spend another penny for faster speeds and WORSE customer service.

BERN WALLACE

30033

=====

From: berry parker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, berry parker

=====

From: Berta Gonzales
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please keep our internet free and accessible. It is not right that big, rich telecommunications companies get decide who and what will be allowed. That will not only hurt companies, but the rest of us that rely on the internet. And those big companies would get to determine what kind of stuff the rest of us get to have access to.

That is what "net neutrality" means to me and I urge you to keep our internet a free, robust, and democratic.

Sincerely, Berta Gonzales

Berta Gonzales

95821

=====
From: Bert Bannister
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bert Bannister

94960

=====
From: Bertha Kaine
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bertha Kaine

=====
From: BERT ROTHMAN
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BERT ROTHMAN

=====
From: Bert Shaw
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bert Shaw

=====
From: Bert Williams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bert Williams

=====
From: Bert Zehringer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bert Zehringer

=====
From: Beryl Brownstein
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
First Amendment rules...the airwaves, the internet should be available to all!!

I agree with John Oliver...keep the cable companies honest!!

Beryl Brownstein

94402

=====
From: Bessie M Carpenter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bessie M Carpenter

=====
From: BethaGonza Gonzalez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BethaGonza Gonzalez

=====
From: Bethann Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bethann Davis

=====
From: Bethany Benson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bethany Benson

=====
From: Bethany Harris
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bethany Harris

=====
From: Bethany Hitt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bethany Hitt

=====
From: bethany jeffries
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bethany jeffries

=====
From: bethany marshall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Mr. Wheeler,

As a small business owner, I rely on net neutrality. I do not think it is fair that a large corporation can pay more money (money I can't afford to pay) in order to get a "fast lane." That internet fast lane will kill my business, and many other small online businesses like mine. People and corporations with large amounts of money are already ruining our country in so many ways; don't let them add one more.

Thank you for your time.

bethany marshall

97070

=====
From: Bethany merriman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bethany merriman

=====
From: Beth Beck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beth Beck

From: beth brehmer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

beth brehmer

02667

=====
From: beth brehmer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please preserve net neutrality. Today the common man/woman is bullied by big business. Please help us survive in an age of corporate power and greed. Let us return to a democracy of the people, by the people and for the people of USA.

beth brehmer

02667

=====
From: Beth Crouch
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beth Crouch

=====
From: Beth DeVoe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beth DeVoe

1267

=====
From: Beth Finn

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beth Finn

45212

=====
From: beth gentry

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, beth gentry

=====
From: beth heistand

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, beth heistand

=====
From: Beth Light
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beth Light

=====
From: beth mcbee
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, beth mcbee

=====
From: Beth McHenry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please keep the internet open to the average person.

Beth McHenry

23421

=====
From: Beth Mehaffey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Mr chairman

The internet is and should be a public utility, protected from commercial sharks who will turn it into the vast wasteland that television as become. It should be opened to all, equally. There is no reason not to declare it a public utility other than the greed of a very few, very rich special interests. As chairman of the FCC, your duty is to all the citizens of this country, not just the rich. Coming from your background, I know that you want to turn the internet over to commercial capitalists, because I am sure you will personally profit by it. You haven't done so this far because of the enormous pushback you are getting from the people. More than you ever thought you would get. I also know that the only reason we are still having discussions, is because you are determined to turn the internet into a pay to play venture. You're just trying to figure out how to do it without causing riots that would be largely aimed at you. Declare the internet a public utility and move on, Mr Chairman. We are watching you and we aren't going away.

Beth Mehaffey

29212

=====
From: Beth Rathburn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beth Rathburn

=====
From: Beth Stump

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beth Stump

=====

From: Beth Weber
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beth Weber

=====

From: Beth Whitmore
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beth Whitmore

=====

From: betsy carpenter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, betsy carpenter

=====
From: betsy hatton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

betsy hatton

33606

=====
From: Betsy Plunkett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betsy Plunkett

=====
From: Bettie and Lyle Carpenter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bettie and Lyle Carpenter

=====
From: Bettie Muellenberg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bettie Muellenberg

=====
From: Bettie Nesta
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No net neutrality, no democracy. Keep the net open.

Bettie Nesta

34242

=====
From: Bettie Storey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bettie Storey

=====

From: Bettina Brown
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bettina Brown

=====

From: Betty Adams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Betty Adams

49675

=====

From: Betty Anderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Anderson

=====
From: Betty and Martin Ellyn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Betty and Martin Ellyn

90034

=====
From: Betty Chavez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

It it a very sad day that this has even become a discussion. Currently, worldwide, but especially in America, Big Corporations are slowing destroying everything they touch. Our air, water, soil, our food, our government, the list goes on ALL FOR THE SAKE OF GREED, nothing else.

The Internet is a very remarkable tool for the world. Look at how many countries have been able to get their own people to wake-up to the atrocities of their governments and take a stand! People everywhere have a voice that CAN BE HEARD. More so in America.

I find it disgraceful, pathetic, and BIG MONEY WANTS TO LIMIT OUR FREEDOM OF VOICE/SPEECH AS WELL. EVERY PERSON SHOULD ONLY HAVE "ONE VOICE", not the number that the greedy claims, by the number of their dollars. THAT WOULD BE A MOCKERY. It is pitiful that our government, campaigns, elections and elected officials are ALL BECOMING PUPPETS TO THE BILLIONAIRE PUPPETEERS.

LEAVE THE INTERNET ALONE, KEEP IF NEUTRAL. It has been an incredible tool for EVERYONE, RICH AND POOR, YOUNG AND OLD, ETC. It is ONE THING THAT STILL REMAINS,

DO NOT LET THE BIG CORPORATIONS DESTROY WHAT LITTLE WE HAVE LEFT IN THIS WORLD.
Betty Chavez

Betty Chavez

92394

=====
From: Betty Cutler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Cutler

=====
From: Betty Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Betty Davis

19136

=====
From: betty eby
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, betty eby

From: betty e. dean
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, betty e. dean

=====

From: Bettye Jordan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bettye Jordan

=====

From: Betty Emarita
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please maintain net neutrality, and regulate it as a public communication service. Public funds helped to develop it, and our democracy depends upon it. Thank you.

Betty Emarita

55417

=====

From: Betty Epperso
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Epperso

=====

From: Betty Fortune
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Fortune

=====

From: Betty Hooven
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Betty Hooven

17043

=====

From: Betty Lawrence
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please do not destroy the neutrality the internet has had since its inception. The internet IS a public utility and it needs to be regulated to be fair to all and not more beneficial to giant cable companies, etc. Thanks.

Betty Lawrence

28801

=====
From: Betty Lewis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Why can't the average person get a break? This plan will up the cost to pay for it. I get my internet through one of the TV plans. Bit tp use their lines I have to pay for the basic cable. I't close to $70/00. I'm a widow and that's a big chunk of my money. I'm in the process of changing carriers now. They promised that would be the total charge.''I don't have a lot of patience the older I get. Having to wait longer to get a smaller blog that can't afford the higher fees we be so frustrating.

Betty Lewis

85364

=====
From: Betty Messina
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Messina

=====
From: Betty M Morgan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty M Morgan

=====

From: Betty Nemeth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Nemeth

=====

From: Betty Raspberry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Betty Raspberry

44306

=====

From: BETTY REID
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BETTY REID

=====
From: Betty Salvi
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Salvi

=====
From: Betty Sazama
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Sazama

=====
From: Betty Sines
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Sines

=====

From: Betty Storar
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Storar

=====

From: Betty Tackitt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am very concerned that you are not listening to the many voices of the people exploring you to leave our internet as it is - open and friendly to all! America is changing into a country where the voices of the privileged are drowning out the far more numerous voices of those with less financial standing. We need the internet to be open and easily accessible to all! Schools, small businesses, even the housewife at home should have equal access. We know that our tax money created the internet so one group should not have greater access or profit from it over the rest of us. We know that once that "pay to play" door is opened it will hurt us regular folks and benefit those that already have the lion's share. Please, do the right thing and declare that it is a public utility. This has become a staple in our lives. We should not be forced to pay a third party for what our tax dollars already developed!

Thank you.

Betty Tackitt

60185

=====
From: Betty Ward
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Ward

=====
From: betty westbrook
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, betty westbrook

=====
From: Betty Whitten
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Whitten

=====
From: betty winholtz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is freedom of speech equalizing the playing field for all. It's American.

betty winholtz

93442

=====
From: Betty Zito
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Betty Zito

=====
From: Beulah Leach
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beulah Leach

=====
From: Beulah White
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket Number: 14-28 Protecting An Open Internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Mr. Wheeler:

In today's world an open Internet free from corporate control is a necessity. My family and I depend on the Internet for many things such as homework, banking, research, communication. Prioritizing, blocking, or slowing down access would deprive us of making use of essential services.

We call on the Commission to:

a) Ban Big Telecom from creating "fast lanes" which only large companies can afford. Start-ups and independent sites would be left behind and squashed.

b) Preserve net neutrality on the Internet: Assert your authority under Title II of the Telecommunications Act to regulate the Internet as a public utility.

Thank you.

Beulah White

45044

=====
From: Beverley Estes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverley Estes

=====
From: Beverlie Brewer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverlie Brewer

=====
From: Beverly Bankston-Correu
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverly Bankston-Correu

=====
From: Beverly Boyd-OConnor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a handicapped mother of four widow and I'm very concerned that you may be tone deaf to the will of the people concerning net nuetrality. I'm not clear on your position which is concerning based on the deadline. Corporations who can afford it do not deserve better than small businesses & consumers like myself who depend on the net for, among other things, vital medical information from my doctors. All children need access to the net for homework and the burden on parents like myself, living on a fixed income, of net access bills is expensive. I expect to get the same service for my money as the big corporations. Please support net nuetrality.

Beverly Boyd-OConnor

01776

=====
From: Beverly Budig

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beverly Budig

95820

=====
From: Beverly Chemai
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beverly Chemai

20874

=====
From: Beverly Conway
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beverly Conway

30642

=====
From: Beverly Dahlen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

Once again I am urging you to protect net neutrality. We can't afford to let a few mega-rich corporations control the internet. Millions of us will be priced out of the market if the FCC doesn't protect consumers of the news and other features of the internet.

Thank you,
Beverly Dahlen

Beverly Dahlen

94110

=====
From: Beverly Demastrie
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverly Demastrie

=====
From: Beverly Kontney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beverly Kontney

60015

=====
From: Beverly Kubachka
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Beverly Kubachka

45776

=====
From: Beverly Mahoney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

It's in no one's best interest to widen the gaps between the "haves" and the "have-nots." Except, of course, the interests of the haves. They want to buy even more of our common spaces, and that includes using their money to make sure their messages are delivered faster and more reliably than the messages from the little start-up company, blogger, news outlet.

If you were to pass some kind of restriction saying that anything calling itself "news" that goes out over OUR public airways has to be verifiably accurate and truthful, you'll have my support. But don't hamstring the Internet by making it a multi-tier situation based on how much money a corporation or political is willing to shell out - regulate it as a public utility, which it surely is. And while you're at it, don't permit a merger of two telecom giants, neither of which cares about customers or service.

Beverly Mahoney

57702

=====
From: Beverly Nahm
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverly Nahm

=====
From: Beverly Oberline
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I work remotely for a medical transcription company. I need Net Neutrality so that my reports and work can be transmitted on time. These reports go straight to the hospital to mesh with the hospital EMR (electronic medical record). Patients need their records as fast as possible from the time of dictation by the physician so their care can be seamless as well as reacting to the latest laboratory values and testing results.

If my ISP isn't one of the chosen, or my company can't pay the freight, you will be literally endangering thousands of patients.

Please support Net Neutrality.

Thank you,

Beverly Oberline

62661

=====
From: beverly petzold
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, beverly petzold

=====
From: Beverly Roberts
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverly Roberts

=====
From: Beverly Skinner

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverly Skinner

=====

From: Beverly Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverly Smith

=====

From: Beverly Weinmann
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please Mr Chairmann consider protecting out rights as individuals using the Internet from large corporate enterprise. Support net neutrality for the people of America. Thank you.
Respectfully, Beverly Weinmann

Beverly Weinmann

=====

From: Beverly Wood
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverly Wood

=====

From: Beverly Worcester
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Beverly Worcester

=====

From: Bev Jacoby
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bev Jacoby

=====
From: Bev Nichols
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Chairman Wheeler,
I am a CPA in public accounting practice. I have practiced for 40 years with clients worldwide. The internet opened up my communication and quick response time with all my clients but especially those out of the country. Free to research and seek information on the internet has also changed and improved my and the members of my firm's ability to work with our clients. It is working very well and I fail to see how giving control to cable companies would enhance anything except their profits. I understand their feelings of threat but there are other ways to deal with that (if you believe that necessary). The open internet has changed how many of us operate and for most of us for the better. New inventions or processes have caused change through our country's existence. New entrepreneurs have replaced existing companies and it will and should continue. Change must happen - please support net neutrality.
Respectfully,
Bev Nichols

Bev Nichols

70118

=====
From: Be Yang
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Be Yang

=====
From: B.F. Bayha
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet should be a publicly owned utility.

We, breathing people, paid for the internet.

Don't give our common property to corporations.

You need to be working for the good of the country, not just the profits of corporations.

The whole world is watching, as are we.

B.F. Bayha

48185

=====

From: B Hayes

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The Internet should be considered part of our Freedom of Speech and our right to public education. Everyone should have equal access to use the internet to find/share information unfiltered by corporate interests. The internet is the People's medium, it should be a public utility. Turning over more control to corporations would violate the principles behind our anti-trust laws.

B Hayes

78702

=====

From: Bianca Stevenson

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bianca Stevenson

=====

From: Bill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Power Bank Speaker 4000mAh For iPhone Samsung All Smartphone

Dear Manager,

Â

Nice day and wish you lucky all day after read this mail.

Â

Here I am recommend to you newest product :power bank /speaker /holder 03 in 01.

Â

Skype:cds.tech08Â Â Email: xxxx@xxxx.xxxÂ

Â

Â

Â

Â

Â

Â

Features:Â

1. Newest 4000mAhÂ portable power bank with Mini Speaker
2. Can be a holderÂ
3. used for all smart phones (like iPhone, Samsung, HTC, Blackberry, LG etc.), iPad, MP3/MP4, PSP, GPS, bluetooth devices, digital camera etc.
4. long recycle time over 800 times
5. logo printing service are acceptable & professional OEM servicesÂ

Specifications:

Model:Â P01

Dimensions: Â 138*29*29mm

Weight: 220g

Battery Type:Â 26650 Lithium Battery

Capacity: 4000mAh

Shell Material: ABS Plastic

Color: Pink ,Green, Blue, Red , Black,Customized

Input: DC 5V 1A

Output: DC 5V 1A

Operating Temperature: 00-40 °C

Recharge Cycles: 500-800 times

Certifications: CE, FCC, RoHS

Quality Warranty: 01 year

Kits include:

- 1x 03 in 01 power bank
- 1x Construction manual
- 1x 02 in 01 USB charging cable
- 1x 03.5mm Audio Jack Connection Cable

Best regards,

Bill

Â

COOLDIS TECH Co.,Ltd.

E-mail:Â HYPERLINK "mailto: xxxx@xxxx.xxx" xxxx@xxxx.xxx

Website:Â HYPERLINK "http://www.giftusbmanufacturer.com/"www.giftusbmanufacturer.com

Phone:Â Â Â HYPERLINK "tel:%2B86%28755%29%202308%201425"
+86(755) 2308 1425

FaxÂ Â Â :Â Â Â Â HYPERLINK "tel:%2B86%28755%29%202308%201425"
+86(755) 2308 1425

Mobile :Â Â HYPERLINK "tel:%2B86-13554915523"
+86-18823309831

Skype:Â Â cds.tech08

Address:Â 101,building 17,Tongfu West Road,Pingshan district,Shenzhen, China

From: Bill Bender
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Bender

=====
From: Bill Blackburn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bill Blackburn

54935

=====
From: Bill Brennan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

net neutrality, please!

Bill Brennan

08534

=====
From: Bill Brown
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The Internet Neutrality needs to be protected to ensure all users have equal access without "1st Class" only lanes that impair the free exchange of communication and ideas.

Bill Brown

93611

=====
From: bill burg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Sir

Mega Corporations are already bleeding us at the highest rate ever.

I am not sure What ever happened to the Sherman Anti trust act they told us about in school, but I must have been asleep when Congress did away with it

We are limited to fewer and fewer choices with all the mergers that are going on, and with Corp making all time high profits we done need to add to that with our money or small business money

Stop the merger and keep the net neutral please

Yours

Bill Burg

bill burg

60102

=====
From: Bill Burger
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Burger

=====
From: Bill Butler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Please protect net neutrality.

Bill Butler

47714
=====

From: Bill Chalmers Jr.
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Chalmers Jr.

=====

From: Bill Connor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

A free and neutral internet is essential to new ideas and entrepreneurs world wide. Allowing Telecom moguls to fast track the internet will destroy that neutral interface. Do not sell out the American public and the world in general by allowing media giants to turn the internet into a profit center.

Slowing down those who can't or won't pay the ransom that Big Telecom would charge would cripple the internet as we know it today. This is a criminal act as far as I am concerned. Profit taking is the corporate modus operandi today. Don't let it happen to the open and free operation of the internet.

Bill Connor
10080 Craft Dr. #02
Cupertino, CA 95014

Bill Connor

95014

=====

From: Bill Connor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is the most dynamic element in our information highway. To allow Big Telecom to turn the internet into a profit center is stupid beyond belief. It makes me wonder what the decision maker's bank entries look like. Are you taking money to turn the internet over to Comcast/Time Warner et al.

To do so is criminal behavior and I will support prosecution of those who deliver fast tracking fees to Big Telecom. I will see you put in jail for a decade if you allow this travesty to take place.

Bill Connor

95014

=====
From: Bill Cunningham
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please do not let the Time-Warner/Comcast merge, and eliminate the needed competition. This country already has the worst internet service of any developed nation! Please give us new neutrality.
Thanks

Bill Cunningham

85747

=====
From: Bill Debernarde
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Debernarde

=====
From: bill duggan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Fcc Chairman Wheeler, I feel that Big Telecom is out of order in trying to regulate who and what gets access to the internet. There is no entity that should be able to do that. All in the name of "profit". that word has become abhorant to me. Prioritizing content that i can see! I prioritze what I see, not some deep pocket Big Telecom Conglomeration! I don't watch very much TV, i read about what is important to me on the internet. I'm disabled and can't work. I know better than anybody that that isn't an excuse, it's not meant to be. It's meant to show that I don't get much interaction with what I find important without the internet being a cash only service.

I don't think that blocking, prioritizing and slowing down my access to information on the things I think are important are anybody elses concern and the first amendment backs me up on that. Under title 11 of the telecommunications act of 1934, you can regulate the internet as a public utility. This represents the biggest muscle the FCC can flex for real net neutrality to prevent ISP's from blocking and slowing content. Please flex that muscle for all it's worth!

I believe that allowing mergers of companys like Time-Warner, Comcast, AT&T and Verizon is going to go a long way in destroying television (already done), telephone, and internet. They can't be given free reign to tell me what i can or can't view or use.

I truly need and deserve an open internet free from corporate money grubbing hands and control. Please stop this insane ploy at controlling me and everyone else that uses the internet. I really do rely on the web sites i visit for open news, information and conversation. Thank you bill duggan

02813

=====
From: Billee D Mundorff
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

If the internet does not qualify as a public utility, nothing does. I venture to guess it serves more people than all other public utilities combined. It has become absolutely essential to millions, and to allow corporations to regulate the speed of service simply for their profit, with no consideration for urgency as opposed to entertainment, would be unconscionable and morally wrong. My granddaughter works from home using the internet, like many, many others. What happens to those people's livelihoods when giant corporations derail the internet by "fast-tracking" only the traffic willing to pay BIG BUCKS for the high speed. Smaller companies will not be able to compete at that level.

The government says small business is the backbone of America. If that's true, you will be putting a major roadblock in front of our backbone by allowing those corporations to control access to fast internet service.

Billee D Mundorff

87031

=====
From: Bill Farmer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Farmer

=====
From: Bill Frazier
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Frazier

=====
From: Bill Gallant
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bill Gallant

98368

=====
From: bill garcia
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bill garcia

=====
From: BILL GARRETT
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BILL GARRETT

=====
From: Bill Gerken
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Gerken

=====
From: Bill Gould
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Chairman Wheeler,

It is disappointing to me that a campaign even needs to be launched to convince you and the FCC to do what should be second nature to your agency- protecting the most open and excessible and unfettered means of communication available for the citizens of the United States and by association the world. Please protect and enforce net neutrality as a legacy of your administration, and for the benefit of this and future generations.

Bill Gould

30318

=====
From: Bill Gravelle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bill Gravelle

81623

=====
From: Bill Hall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Hall

=====
From: Bill Harmon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Now they are placing commercials about how wonderful the merger will be, which shows they know the public is against it. Do not approve the merger, and CLASSIFY AS COMMON CARRIERS.

Bill Harmon

95035

=====
From: Bill Helwig
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Chairman Wheeler and FCC Members: I urge you to continue "net neutrality" of the internet. This invaluable modern technology should not be reduced to a pay-to-play status where only the well-financed sites are given fast access by the public. All websites should load on an equal basis. Our society already is overly structured in favor of those with big wallets. The internet is the final refuge of the small or independent player. We need to give them equal access versus those with mega-million bank accounts. It is essential to preserve our democracy.

Bill Helwig
Albuquerque, NM

Bill Helwig

87111

=====
From: Bill Higgins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Higgins

=====
From: Bill Hood

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Hood

=====

From: Bill Howell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Howell

=====

From: Bill Huber
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Huber

=====

From: Billie Arnold
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Billie Arnold

=====

From: Billie Bussmann
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Billie Bussmann

=====

From: Billie Loy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Billie Loy

=====
From: Billie Powell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Billie Powell

=====
From: BILLIE THOMPSON
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BILLIE THOMPSON

=====
From: Bill Jennings
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Preserving 1st amendment rights includes having equal right to express views and ideas regardless of the particular plan an internet provider has available. This basic right should not be given up because certain providers are too expensive for a large segment of the population. to afford. Thank you.

Bill Jennings

=====
From: bill jordan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net Nuetrality is essential to an open, free and progressively creative society. If net nuetrality is not preserved, this country is one more step closer to a full blown fascist government/corp. Obviously, with the coming of the Senate's bill for a constitutional amendment to undo Citizens United, which currently has at least 48 co-sponsors, the FCC has an obligation to rule in favor of people and stop accepting bribes from the likes of Comcast and Verizon. Enough is enough. Sooner or later, if you don't rule in the people's favor on this issue, the internet will be split into two groups. The later, those folks who've been messed with because of a bad decision, will create their own 'new internet', or revert to using the net of the new China or Russia. Rule against the bit corporations; rule in favor of the citizens of the country, without which there would be no comcast or verizon. Rule like a leader instead of a stuffed shirt working for grease!

bill jordan

98238

=====
From: Bill Kersey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

In order to preserve net neutrality, the FCC needs to ban Big Telecom from creating these so-called â\200\234fast-lanesâ\200\235 which only large companies could afford. Start-ups and independent sites like Daily Kos would be left behind and crushed.

The FCC has tried protecting net neutrality twice before, and been defeated by Big Telecom in court both times. In order to legally prevent Big Telecom from destroying net neutrality once again, the FCC should assert authority it already has under Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 to regulate the internet as a public utility. This legal argument offers the most protection for real net neutrality to prevent ISPs from controlling content speed and blocking websites.

Bill Kersey

85212

=====
From: BILL MACCRACKEN
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BILL MACCRACKEN

=====
From: bill manser
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

bill manser

93230

=====
From: bill mathews
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bill mathews

=====
From: bill minichiello
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

bill minichiello

=====

From: Bill Moody
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Moody

=====

From: Bill Murphy
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Murphy

=====

From: BILL MURRAY
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

BILL MURRAY

=====
From: Bill Osborn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Osborn

=====
From: Bill Paradis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Paradis

=====
From: Bill Phillips
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Phillips

=====

From: Bill Pool
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Pool

=====

From: Bill Ruggirello
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content Tom Please add YOUR content as to why you think the internet must be a tool for corporate profit. An OPEN INTERNET benefits the PEOPLE you serve - how is it that you do not understand??? I guess the answer may be for the people to "follow the money".

It makes sense for corporate providers of a service to be the gatekeepers of that service - we all know that they are looking out for the best interest of their clients - RIGHT??

And just how will these providers use this to cripple OTA TV so that I must pay higher and higher cable/internet fees.

There will be a price to pay for your ignorance of the people you are suppose to serve.

Bill Ruggirello

27513

=====

From: BILL RUTLEDGE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BILL RUTLEDGE

=====
From: Bill Schill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bill Schill

15120

=====
From: Bill Schneider
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Schneider

=====
From: Bill Schwarz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I'm not happy about having big telecom firms dictate (by fee structure) how fast I get internet content. Net neutrality is important to me because we pay enough to providers now, without having additional costs for priority sites.

Bill Schwarz

12801

=====
From: bill shaw
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bill shaw

=====
From: Bill Shoemaker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Shoemaker

=====
From: bill snyder
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bill snyder

=====

From: Bill Spencer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Spencer

=====

From: Bill Staton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Staton

=====

From: Bill Wagner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Wagner

=====
From: Bill Walters
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Walters

=====
From: Bill Weber
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bill Weber

=====
From: Billy Carter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Billy Carter

=====
From: Billy Caudill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Billy Caudill

=====
From: Billy Cox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Billy Cox

=====
From: Billy Haffly
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Billy Haffly

=====

From: billy leonard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

It's time for you to decide if you're going to help the middle class or will you continue to sell out to big business.

billy leonard

98249

=====

From: Billy Nichols
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Billy Nichols

97209

=====

From: Billy Stacey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Billy Stacey

=====

From: billy teeples
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, billy teeples

=====

From: BILLY WOODS
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

BILLY WOODS

63740

=====

From: bittoo goel
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bittoo goel

=====
From: Bj Allred
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bj Allred

=====
From: B J HOLIFIELD
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, B J HOLIFIELD

=====
From: BJ Matson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BJ Matson

=====
From: BJ Noble
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BJ Noble

=====
From: bjorn holubar
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bjorn holubar

=====
From: BLADES & ORCHIDS
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: Do Not Regulate the Internet

To whom it may concern

I am not sure of what what you talking about the internet? Please inform me..

On Friday, September 05, 2014, OpenInternet <HYPERLINK "mailto: xxxx@xxxx.xxx"> wrote:

Thank you, we have received your comments and will review them.

=====
From: Blaine katz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blaine katz

=====
From: Blaine Spieth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blaine Spieth

=====
From: Blair Hunter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blair Hunter

=====

From: Blair Miller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blair Miller

=====

From: Blake Lewis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blake Lewis

=====

From: Blake Orman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blake Orman

=====
From: Blake Winslow
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blake Winslow

=====
From: Blake Wu
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Blake Wu

94549

=====
From: blanca castillo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, blanca castillo

=====
From: blanca guardado
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, blanca guardado

=====
From: Blanca Lopez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blanca Lopez

=====
From: Blanche Campbell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Blanche Campbell

=====
From: blancs Torres
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, blancs Torres

=====
From: B. Lee Schumacher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

My business depends on the internet but I am a small fish; don't let the money control the internet

B. Lee Schumacher

81611

=====
From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Open Internet Reply Comment

Name: Elaine Larsen
Email: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Address: 604 Gallego drive
Zip: 34761

Dear Chairman Wheeler, please donâ\200\231t break the Internet. Donâ\200\231t abandon the â\200\234Hands off the â\200\230Netâ\200\235 approach begun under President Clinton, which unleashed staggering innovation. That bipartisan approach made possible the $01.03 trillion dollars of private investment that built todayâ\200\231s broadband networks. Imposing Title II would hurt all Americans by slowing broadband deployment and creating a cloud of uncertainty over all Internet services.

Title II's draconian rules were designed in the 1930s for AT&T's government-created monopoly. They're a poor fit for the Internet. FCC Chairmen Bill Kennard (D, 1997-2001) and Michael Powell (R, 2001-2005) knew that. So they wisely drew a clear, bright line between Title II and the Internet. We don't buy claims that the FCC can maintain this firewall if it re-opens Title II. Nor do we trust that the FCC can quickly whittle Title II into something resembling today's bipartisan "Hands off the Net" approach. You can't have just enough Title II any more than you can be a little lightly pregnant.

Title II would hurt startups most: they can't cope with regulation as easily as big companies. Title II would protect incumbent broadband companies from new entrants like Google Fiber. Title II would hurt the underserved by slowing deployment and upgrades in minority and rural communities. And Title II would vastly increase the FCC's powers over the Internet. Remember, you won't be Chairman forever, and the powers you claim over the Internet today could be used to control it in ways you don't intend.

Yet, as you've noted, Title II wouldn't even allow the FCC to do what its proponents demand: ban fast lanes.

We urge you to carefully focus regulation on real problems, what Chairman Kennard called "vigilant restraint." But remember Kennard's digital mantra, too: "First, do no harm." If you conclude that existing laws aren't adequate to protect consumers, you should ask Congress for legislation that clearly specifies the boundaries of the FCC's authority. No government agency should be trusted with a blank check to regulate the Internet at whim whether that's Title II or the vast powers the FCC has claimed under Section 706 to do anything it thinks will promote broadband.

Most of all, we want continually better, faster broadband and more competition. Instead of imposing Title II, we urge you to identify regulatory barriers at all levels of government that could be removed to help existing companies keep upgrading their networks, but also help Google Fiber, wireless providers and other private companies to compete.

Competition, not endless litigation and political bickering over Title II, should be your legacy.

=====
From: B L Wilson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, B L Wilson

=====

From: B Noel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, B Noel

=====

From: Bob AC Conover
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob AC Conover

=====

From: Bob Avey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Avey

=====
From: bob bastian
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content
bob bastian

54016

=====
From: Bobbi Coleman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content
Bobbi Coleman

95126

=====
From: Bobbie Avery
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content
Bobbie Avery

48601

=====
From: Bobbie Narramore
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
I am a 71 year old woman living on Social Security and a VA disability check. I use the Internet every day. I get news from several sources. I contact my state and federal legislative members frequently.

There are several other ways I use the Internet, but mostly I spend my time researching. Usually, I spend 04 to 05 hours on the Internet daily.

Net Neutrality is very important to my life and it would be a significant my daily life. lifestyle would think a down turn.

Thank you, Bobbie Narramore

Bobbie Narramore

76086

=====
From: bobbi jo goss
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bobbi jo goss

=====
From: Bobbi Presser
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bobbi Presser

85022

=====
From: Bob Borck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is crucial to capitalism on level playing field. It allows fairness and a level playing field for competition in business. Do not side with big telecom. Side with Main Street instead of wall street.

Bob Borck

95502

=====
From: Bobby Dudley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Dudley

=====
From: Bobbye Phillips
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please preserve net neutrality. The internet is a utility and everyone should have the same access. Regulate for the public good, not the corporate good. Citizens can no longer fully participate in our society unless they have internet access. The government should be doing more to make internet access better and cheaper. It is still very expensive to gain access to the internet in rural areas. If some companies are given priority in the use of the internet, that will only add to the already existing inequalities.

Large media companies already exert too much control over "news" content. Do not allow any further consolidation of media control. How can we have an informed electorate when there is only one source of information?

Bobbye Phillips

37043

=====
From: Bobby Frederick
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Frederick

=====

From: Bobby Kolthoff
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Kolthoff

=====

From: Bobby Mone
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Mone

=====

From: Bobby Neal

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Neal

=====

From: Bobby Sandimanie Jr
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Sandimanie Jr

=====

From: Bobby Tillman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Tillman

=====

From: Bobby Wilkinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Wilkinson

=====

From: Bobby Wilson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bobby Wilson

=====

From: Bob Copeland
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Copeland

=====
From: Bob D'Amato
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
The 'net has been working just fine for all this time, so leave it alone.

Bob D'Amato

13808

=====
From: Bob Erickson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Erickson

03253

=====
From: Bob Faginkrantz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Faginkrantz

=====
From: Bob Flenner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

If you truly want to expand broadband and increase competition, this is, in my opinion, the best path forward:

01) Use Title II authority to promote broadband expansion and to prevent Big Telecom from creating fast and slow lanes on the internet.

02) Reject the Comcast Time Warner merger. If you want to promote competition, you donâ\200\231t allow 02 of the 04 national broadband providers to merge.

Thank you,

Bob Flenner

06830

=====
From: Bob Foster
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

It's bad enough that I have to pay a high rate for internet service that constantly slows down or has popup ads. By not protecting "net neutrality" you'll allow the giant companies to make the problem worse and increase the frustration level of the everyday citizen. DO THE RIGHT THING FOR A CHANGE !!!!

Bob Foster

4106

=====
From: Bob Glover
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Glover

64118

=====
From: Bob Haddard

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The Internet belongs to the people of the United States of America.
We paid for it, and you try to take it from us at your own peril.
You have been warned.

Bob Haddard

37172

=====
From: Bob Harris
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Harris

=====
From: bob hollis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

bob hollis

47117

=====
From: Bob Holman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Holman

=====
From: Bob jackson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob jackson

=====
From: Bob Joyce
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Internet belongs to the public, not to large businesses as a vehicle to make money.

Bob Joyce

37931

=====
From: bob kennedy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

bob kennedy

54552

=====
From: Bob King
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob King

48103

=====
From: Bob Larson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Larson

=====
From: Bob Layton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Layton

97201

From: Bob Lentz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Lentz

91342

=====
From: Bob Mais
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Mais

=====
From: Bob Man
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Man

=====
From: Bob Messerich
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Messerich

55122

=====
From: Bob Miskiewicz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Miskiewicz

=====
From: bob Nace
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

bob Nace

94523

=====
From: Bob Neal
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Neal

=====
From: Bob Puchli
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Puchli

60046

=====
From: Bob Railey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

If internet access does not remain neutral, that will be yet one more area where we well-to-do will be increasing our oppression of the poor among us. Because internet access plays such a significant role in education, job-hunting, obtaining housing, etc., we cannot allow such a valuable resource to be used to discriminate against the poor.

Bob Railey

49855

=====
From: Bob Rusk
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Keeping the Internet democratic -- equal access for everyone -- is ESSENTIAL for growth, entrepreneurial enterprise, and a level playing field for all users, regardless of income.

Bob Rusk

08742

=====
From: BOB SAHNI
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

BOB SAHNI

94539

=====
From: bob saravalli
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bob saravalli

=====
From: Bob Segal
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please ensure that there is real net neutrality. Stop mergers like Comcast Time Warner merger. Seeking short term profits for the already super rich at the expense of freedom, liberty and democracy is a willful action of evil.

Bob Segal

85705

From: Bob Smet
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Smet

62705

=====
From: Bob Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Smith

=====
From: Bob Stephenson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Stephenson

37716

=====
From: Bob Sunman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Once you allow the Net to become buy-able or controllable by any group or groups of people, you invite dictatorship since the Net will become an instrument for the propaganda of the ruling power. And that will prove impossible to break.

Bob Sunman

58765

=====
From: Bob Tatarka
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Tatarka

=====
From: Bob Thomas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

You're supposed to be working for the public, NOT big business. You are supposed to be doing what is in the best interest of all U.S. citizens, NOT big business. DO YOUR JOB THE RIGHT WAY!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Bob Thomas

97457

=====
From: Bob Thwing
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Thwing

=====
From: Bob Walls
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bob Walls

52556

=====
From: Bob West
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob West

=====
From: Bob Wilson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Wilson

=====
From: Bob Yeary
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bob Yeary

=====
From: Boman Desai
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Boman Desai

60657

=====
From: Bonita Harthan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonita Harthan

=====
From: Bonita Staas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

PLEASE - stay with Net Neutrality. The internet is my only link to the outside world. I live on social security, and subscribe to no newspapers, and have not had a TV for 25 years. I NEED a free internet! I can NOT afford to pay just because some huge corporation wants to get even larger and make more money!

PLEASE do the decent, moral thing and let the net STAY NEUTRAL.

Thank you for your consideration.....

Bonita Staas

61060

=====
From: Bonne Beavers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

To the FCC: Worldwide studies show that the best way to ensure fast internet to the greatest numbers at an affordable price is by treating the service as a public utility which encourages competition. As it stands now, the virtual monopoly by the Big Providers, e.g. Comcast/Time Warner, gives these companies the power to prioritize content and delivery by favoring those who pay more. Moreover, it allows these companies to act as information gatekeepers by slowing or even blocking access to information. Such a system does a huge disservice to the American public and places it at a grave disadvantage when compared with other nations.

Net Neutrality should not only be protected but required. As such, I ask FCC Chair Wheeler to use his authority to preserve net neutrality.

Bonne Beavers

88041

=====
From: Bonnie Agudelo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Agudelo

=====
From: Bonnie Bitetti
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bonnie Bitetti

34668

=====
From: Bonnie Boots
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bonnie Boots

33713

=====
From: Bonnie Campbell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

If we want an educated society, ALL people must have access to information ALL of the time....with no restrictions on speed! other countries are progressing more than the US because of greedy people wanting MORE for education, etc. Please keep the internet open so our country will not fall behind others in what we can know and accomplish!

Bonnie Campbell

80228

=====
From: bonnie cockrill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bonnie cockrill

=====
From: Bonnie Collazo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Collazo

=====
From: Bonnie Crawford
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Crawford

=====

From: Bonnie Dunn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Dunn

=====

From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Open Internet Reply Comment

Name: bonnie miller
Email: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Address: Athens, GA
Zip: 30601

Dear Chairman Wheeler, please don't break the Internet. Don't abandon the "Hands off the Net" approach begun under President Clinton, which unleashed staggering innovation. That bipartisan approach made possible the $01.03 trillion dollars of private investment that built today's broadband networks. Imposing Title II would hurt all Americans by slowing broadband deployment and creating a cloud of uncertainty over all Internet services.

Title II's draconian rules were designed in the 1930s for AT&T's government-created monopoly. They're a poor fit for the Internet. FCC Chairmen Bill Kennard (D, 1997-2001) and Michael Powell (R, 2001-2005) knew that. So they wisely drew a clear, bright line between Title II and the Internet. We don't buy claims that the FCC can maintain this firewall if it re-opens Title II. Nor do we trust that the FCC can quickly whittle Title II into something resembling today's bipartisan "Hands off the Net" approach. You can't have just enough Title II any more than you can be slightly pregnant.

Title II would hurt startups most: they can't cope with regulation as easily as big companies. Title II would protect incumbent broadband companies from new entrants like Google Fiber. Title II would hurt the underserved by slowing deployment and upgrades in minority and rural communities. And Title II would vastly increase the FCC's powers over the Internet. Remember, you won't be Chairman forever, and the powers you claim over the Internet today could be used to control it in ways you don't intend.

Yet, as you've noted, Title II wouldn't even allow the FCC to do what its proponents demand: ban "fast lanes."

We urge you to carefully focus regulation on real problems, what Chairman Kennard called â\200\234vigilant restraint.â\200\235 But remember Kennardâ\200\231s digital mantra, too: â\200\234First, do no harm.â\200\235 If you conclude that existing laws arenâ\200\231t adequate to protect consumers, you should ask Congress for legislation that clearly specifies the boundaries of the FCCâ\200\231s authority. No government agency should be trusted with a blank check to regulate the Internet at whim â\200\224 whether thatâ\200\231s Title II or the vast powers the FCC has claimed under Section 706 to do anything it thinks will promote broadband.

Most of all, we want continually better, faster broadband and more competition. Instead of imposing Title II, we urge you to identify regulatory barriers at all levels of government that could be removed to help existing companies keep upgrading their networks, but also help Google Fiber, wireless providers and other private companies to compete.

Competition, not endless litigation and political bickering over Title II, should be your legacy.

=====
From: Bonnie Glasgow
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Glasgow

=====
From: Bonnie Herzog
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

There is enough unfair practices already in existence that the general public has to suffer, without a branch of our Govt. refusing to do what it has the power to do, in the public's best interest.

Bonnie Herzog

85248

=====
From: bonnie irwin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bonnie irwin

=====
From: Bonnie Koehler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Koehler

=====
From: bonnie mccloud
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bonnie mccloud

=====
From: Bonnie McLen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie McLen

=====
From: Bonnie Millican
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality has been the norm since the internet became available to everyone. Small business owners cannot compete dollar-wise with the big telecom companies. Net neutrality is critical to the running of small businesses today. There is no need to put in "class distinctions" where none are needed. When it comes to the internet, we all gain from it in our own way. Leave it as it is--net neutrality needs to remain the norm!

Bonnie Millican

76824

=====
From: Bonnie Mize
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Mize

=====

From: Bonnie Mulkey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Mulkey

=====

From: Bonnie Mulligan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am writing to confirm my belief that our society needs Internet neutrality. I believe that no company should be able to buy its way into a 'fast lane'. Allowing all voices equal access to the Internet serves all of us well.
Thank you.

Bonnie Mulligan

20706

=====

From: Bonnie Murphy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bonnie Murphy

52241

=====

From: Bonnie Shand
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bonnie Shand

95524

=====
From: Bonnie Unruh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bonnie Unruh

=====
From: Booh Edouardo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

I support an open internet as it is an essential part of my life.

With the corporate takeover of newspapers, radio stations, and television, it's impossible for people to obtain important life-saving information about what's going on in their local communities without immediate access to the internet. Today, for example, a five-alarm fire broke out in San Francisco's Mission District just blocks from my house. As I gazed at the black toxic smoke coming towards me, I felt my throat and lungs tighten from asthma. At the beginning of the emergency, I could not find any information on what was going on because none of the news or radio stations were covering it. Finally, I located a small website designed for local residents and was able to ascertain how the emergency impacted me. After a few hours, the radio and news stations began reporting on the fire, but by that time, it was too late for people with life-threatening medical conditions to do anything about being exposed to the toxic substances.

While I could provide other ample evidence regarding health concerns and the importance to a free and open internet because Bay Area residences also experienced a serious earthquake within the last few weeks, I will, instead, ask you to consider the tens of thousands of people who rely on the internet to receive weather, emergency, flood, storm, tornado, and earthquake reports on a daily basis. Furthermore, please consider that people have limited ways to access emergency information given the demise of local news services. Consequently, I ask that you allow a free and open internet. Today, minutes counted for me. Having the ability to find a small local internet group designed for the neighborhood helped me avoid a health crisis. If the internet had been slowed because I could not afford to pay for the most expensive service, I may have ended up sick and in the hospital.

Please allow people the freedom to continue to access the internet for emergency and life-threatening services in a timely and efficient manner. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Booh Edouardo

Booh Edouardo

94131

=====
From: boxbe- xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: RE: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet (Action Requested)

Hello OpenInternet,

Your message about "RE: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet" was waitlisted.

Please add yourself to my Guest List so your messages will be delivered to my Inbox. Use the link below.

HYPERLINK

"https://www.boxbe.com/crs?tc_serial=18491439406&tc_rand=33786134&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Click here to deliver your message

Thank you,
Tom Dewille

HYPERLINK

"http://www.boxbe.com/how-it-works?tc_serial=18491439406&tc_rand=33786134&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Boxbe
Powered by Boxbe -- "End Email Overload"

Boxbe, Inc. | 65 Broadway, Suite 601 | New York, NY 10006

HYPERLINK

"http://www.boxbe.com/privacy?tc_serial=18491439406&tc_rand=33786134&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Privacy Policy | HYPERLINK
"http://www.boxbe.com/unsubscribe?tc_serial=18491439406&tc_rand=33786134&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Unsubscribe

http://www.boxbe.com/stfopen?tc_serial=18491439406&tc_rand=33786134&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002

=====

From: boxbe- xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: RE: Do Not Regulate the Internet (Action Requested)

Hello OpenInternet,

Your message about "RE: Do Not Regulate the Internet" was waitlisted.

Please add yourself to my Guest List so your messages will be delivered to my Inbox.
Use the link below.

HYPERLINK

"https://www.boxbe.com/crs?tc_serial=18489310519&tc_rand=2050232348&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Click here to deliver your message

Thank you,
Dale Weaver

HYPERLINK

"http://www.boxbe.com/how-it-works?tc_serial=18489310519&tc_rand=2050232348&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Boxbe

Powered by Boxbe -- "End Email Overload"

Boxbe, Inc. | 65 Broadway, Suite 601 | New York, NY 10006

HYPERLINK

"http://www.boxbe.com/privacy?tc_serial=18489310519&tc_rand=2050232348&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Privacy Policy | HYPERLINK

"http://www.boxbe.com/unsubscribe?tc_serial=18489310519&tc_rand=2050232348&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Unsubscribe

http://www.boxbe.com/stfopen?tc_serial=18489310519&tc_rand=2050232348&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002

=====
From: boxbe- xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: RE: Do Not Regulate the Internet (Action Requested)

Hello OpenInternet,

Your message about "RE: Do Not Regulate the Internet" was waitlisted.

Please add yourself to my Guest List so your messages will be delivered to my Inbox.
Use the link below.

HYPERLINK

"https://www.boxbe.com/crs?tc_serial=18492131782&tc_rand=2146765426&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Click here to deliver your message

Thank you,
Friend Oxley

HYPERLINK

"http://www.boxbe.com/how-it-works?tc_serial=18492131782&tc_rand=2146765426&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Boxbe

Powered by Boxbe -- "End Email Overload"

Boxbe, Inc. | 65 Broadway, Suite 601 | New York, NY 10006

HYPERLINK

"http://www.boxbe.com/privacy?tc_serial=18492131782&tc_rand=2146765426&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Privacy Policy | HYPERLINK

"http://www.boxbe.com/unsubscribe?tc_serial=18492131782&tc_rand=2146765426&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002"Unsubscribe

http://www.boxbe.com/stfopen?tc_serial=18492131782&tc_rand=2146765426&utm_source=stf&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=CN_STDW&utm_content=002

=====
From: Boyce Booth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am for the most part home bound. I do the vast majority of my shopping online. I am very poor and to have to pay more for my internet connection would substantially hurt. My communication should not be limited to haow much money I have. Monopolies, of any kind, anywhere in the U.S. is bad for the country.

Boyce Booth

28160

=====
From: Boyd Muzzana
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Boyd Muzzana

=====
From: Bozidar Kornic
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content We the people do not want any interference with our exercise of the free speech, which in this case is internet. Corporations have already too much power, and this internet bis the last frontier that they want to exploit for profit. We do not want to create an Orwellian State as in the book 1984, we do nor wish a Fascist State.

Bozidar Kornic

=====

From: brad derting
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brad derting

=====

From: bradford belk
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bradford belk

=====

From: Bradford Page
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bradford Page

=====
From: Brad Goode
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Pretty soon one company will control everyone's access to what appears on the internet. Does that seem like a good idea for a democratic country such as the one we supposedly are?

Brad Goode

90290

=====
From: Brad Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brad Johnson

45013

=====
From: Brad Kane
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The future of capitalism and democracy is dependent on classifying ISPs as utilities. Everyone should be able to compete and get information at the same speed.

Brad Kane

90035
=====

From: Brad Keller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is the only way to protect use of the internet for the US public. Without it, use will be based on your availability to pay as the the large telecoms will absolutely base use on your pay level. To believe otherwise is be delusional in the economic world we live in today. I live in a very rural area in western Oregon, and my entire financial world is conducted on the internet. There is little profit motive for the large telecoms to provide fast internet service in my area so there is not a doubt in my mind that I will be forced to pay exorbitant rates to acquire premium speeds rates for even the small amount of band width I need. We currently have continual outages and slowdowns and it will get worse. The only way to provide equal and free access is to regulate the internet as a public utility as allowed under Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934.

If this was 50 years ago, true competition could provide fast service, but that does not happen any more with the mega- mergers. Is the airline industry truly better after all their mergers? From a consumer standpoint I would say absolutely not. The internet will become the same, and use will be dictated by ability to pay and the US public will lose.

You can only make one decision that is best for the US public, and that is to keep our internet free, open and without control by private interests.

Thank you.

Brad Keller

97141

=====
From: bradley Ellery
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bradley Ellery

=====
From: Bradley Ellis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bradley Ellis

=====
From: Bradley Graham
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bradley Graham

=====
From: Bradley Klein
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

True net neutrality must be preserved, not some paid tier system which favors huge corporations in lieu of the smaller contributors. Handle the bulk data needs for Netflix and other streaming video websites by making EVERYONE'S internet faster. It is shameful that the U.S. brought forth the internet and yet doesn't have the fastest internet available. No tiered system which favors large corporations!!!

Bradley Klein

62901

=====
From: Bradley Mardis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bradley Mardis

=====

From: Brad Miller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Big corporations like AT&T, Comcast, and Verizon want to control what all of us see online. They want to charge content providers, like Netflix or YouTube, for carrying their traffic. The Internet has been crucial to building progressive power in America. Without it, we would have been defeated by corporate cash long ago. The billionaires want to control the Internet and tilt the playing field in their favor. Do NOT allow this to occur.

Brad Miller

67003

=====

From: Brad Nadeau
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brad Nadeau

=====

From: Brad Ogle

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brad Ogle

=====

From: Brad Patterson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please, Please protect Net Neutrality, every person, small business and cooperation should be treated equally. The internet is too instrumental in the success of all people and businesses alike to tilt the playing field toward large cooperation's. Also cooperation's should not be allowed to decide the content available on the internet. So I ask that you please protect the interests of the individuals instead of cooperation's.

Thank you,
Brad Patterson - private citizen

Brad Patterson

47336

=====

From: Brad Rae
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brad Rae

92630

=====

From: BRAD RIDDLE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BRAD RIDDLE

=====
From: Brad Vaught
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brad Vaught

=====
From: Brad Walker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brad Walker

62223

=====
From: brandalyn beauvais
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brandalyn beauvais

=====
From: branden clowes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, branden clowes

=====
From: brandi cage
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brandi cage

=====
From: Brandie Runyon

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandie Runyon

=====

From: brandi parimon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brandi parimon

=====

From: Brandis Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brandis Johnson

30349

=====

From: brandolyn Spencer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brandolyn Spencer

=====
From: Brandon Brock
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Brock

=====
From: Brandon Corrick
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Corrick

=====
From: brandon culverson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brandon culverson

=====
From: Brandon Frazier
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Frazier

=====
From: Brandon hicks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon hicks

From: Brandon Jay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brandon Jay

95124

=====
From: brandon knoblich
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brandon knoblich

=====
From: Brandon Landry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Landry

=====
From: Brandon Mackesey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Re-classify the broadband companies as Title II utilities. There is virtually no competition already and that is not likely to change. The internet has become as instrumental to our society as electricity - do not let the broadband companies extort us for it.

Brandon Mackesey

53575

=====
From: Brandon McCarthy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon McCarthy

=====
From: Brandon Mest
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brandon Mest

80017

=====
From: Brandon Miller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Miller

=====
From: Brandon Monroe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Monroe

=====
From: Brandon Reynolds
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Reynolds

=====
From: Brandon schadt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon schadt

=====
From: brandon steinke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brandon steinke

=====
From: Brandon Walden
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Walden

=====
From: Brandon Wood
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandon Wood

=====

From: Brandy Blackstock
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandy Blackstock

=====

From: Brandy Gatlin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandy Gatlin

=====

From: Brandy Hamel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandy Hamel

=====
From: Brandy Rouse
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandy Rouse

=====
From: Brandy Schumacher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
The internet should be classified as a utility.

Brandy Schumacher

95610

=====
From: brandy sweda
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brandy sweda

=====
From: Brandy Weaver
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brandy Weaver

=====
From: Brayton Jones
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brayton Jones

=====
From: Breanna Grogan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Breanna Grogan

=====

From: Breanna Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Breanna Smith

=====

From: bree powers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bree powers

=====

From: Breelan-Fayette : Knighten

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Breelan-Fayette :
Knighten

=====
From: Brenda Beers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Beers

=====
From: Brenda Bledsoe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Bledsoe

=====

From: Brenda Clark
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

We need net neutrality to give the 99 percent in this country at least some semblance of democratic freedom, including free speech. Stop kowtowing to your wealthy friends and do the RIGHT thing. Make the net a utility and keep it equal to all!!!

Brenda Clark

49004

=====
From: Brenda Daugherty
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Daugherty

=====
From: Brenda Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Davis

=====

From: Brenda Delano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Delano

=====
From: Brenda Devitt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Devitt

=====
From: Brenda Duryea
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Duryea

=====
From: Brenda Garcia
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Garcia

=====
From: Brenda Goldman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Goldman

=====
From: Brenda Hayes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is critical to small business and the home owner. These are two important segments of the American polity who can be seriously harmed by tiered access. The student who must do research on the net is seriously hampered when he/she is unable to complete necessary research because the download is too slow to meet their needs. When the net becomes pay to play, only the big payers will be able to play. The rest of us will wait in line. Please maintain equal access to the internet!

Brenda Hayes, LCSW, BCD

Brenda Hayes

=====
From: brenda lacroix
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brenda lacroix

=====
From: Brenda Levy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Levy

=====
From: brenda maldonado
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brenda maldonado

=====
From: Brendan Aragorn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No fast lanes, no special deals. Net neutrality and common carrier status.

Brendan Aragorn

97471

=====
From: Brendan Shinney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brendan Shinney

=====
From: Brenda Petrick
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Petrick

=====
From: Brenda Reese
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brenda Reese

95008

=====
From: Brenda Richardson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Really?

I cannot believe that I have to write to you to defend net neutrality. To me, it is fricken common sense!!! Are you kidding me??? Is this really something you have to consider?

Brenda Richardson

64134

=====
From: Brenda Russell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

If it ain't broke, don't fix it!

We currently have an open, competitive Internet. It works - for everyone. Allowing huge corporations to institute fast lanes means that these behemoths will have the effective power not only to determine which sites one can visit, but to censor the content one can view. This type of control is inimical to the very foundations of the Internet whose basis was funded by taxpayers, not corporations. They didn't invent it, or build it, so why should they control it?

Keep the Internet free, accessible, and WORTH accessing. Declare broadband to be a public communication utility, and regulate the hell out of it, if that should become necessary. But don't kill off the goose that lays so many golden eggs by turning it over to the corporations (I do mean "corporations" as a pejorative!).

Brenda Russell

07644

=====
From: Brenda Salyers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Salyers

=====
From: Brenda Sanders
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Founding Fathers of America realized the need for our first amendment..to keep reigns on those powerful people who only want to gain more power by controlling the people. Please don't let this happen. Keeping the current neutrality in tact and don't allow the Big Telecoms to become our gate keepers.

I realize the excuse may be to have a better edge in controlling terrorist invasion, however, as technology evolves, this will always remain a problem. Educating the people rather than controlling them is the answer.

Brenda Sanders

80247

=====
From: Brenda S Brown
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda S Brown

=====

From: Brenda Small
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Small

=====

From: Brenda Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Smith

=====

From: Brenda Talley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: FCC Should Hold Hearings Across the Country on Net Neutrality

To the FCC Commissioners

It has been more than five years since all five FCC commissioners left Washington, D.C., in an official capacity to hear how the agency's policies affect real people. The public is invested in the future of the Open Internet where there is equal access for all and no discrimination. The American public wants to have a voice in this debate. The public has provided more than one million comments, a record number of public comments, on the Open Internet rulemaking and prior to the rulemaking more than 03 million took action for Net Neutrality. The FCC was unable to handle all the phone calls it received from the public and the comments on the rulemaking crashed the FCC's system. Reclassification of the Internet so it is a public utility where there can be no discrimination is an issue where the public wants to be heard.

Give the public a real opportunity to meet with you face to face. Please schedule meetings in communities throughout the country before you vote on this plan.

--

Brenda Talley
xxxx@xxxx.xxx

=====
From: Brenda Woolley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman Wheeler:

The internet is the last common space for the common citizen to be able to create their own American Dream, where a level playing field exists. There is no other place on earth where this is the case. Monopolies are everywhere, encroaching, waiting for these "new tiered systems" to be put in place to squeeze the average citizen out of more money in order to create their dream. Please do not let that happen. We are all equal under the World Wide Web and we should try to keep it that way. With a growing digital divide due to economics, it is even more important to protect this level playing field.

It's worth fighting for, it is worth writing a heartfelt letter to you, it's worth more than what any telecom could possibly imagine.

Please keep this an open internet for all.

Brenda Woolley

95818

=====
From: Brenda Word
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brenda Word

=====
From: Brent Bach
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brent Bach

=====
From: Brent Davidson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brent Davidson

=====
From: Brent Hammond
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brent Hammond

=====

From: Brent Hansen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brent Hansen

=====

From: Brent Larsen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Look Tom my business relies on a truly open internet. I employ 18 people here in San Diego and compete with the likes of PetSmart and Petco. If you choose to have paid for lanes on the internet my business will die. I can't pay like the big boys do. My business is expanding I am looking at hiring more people. If you change the internet from what it has always been my business will shut down. Please treat the internet as a utility not a pay for play game like cable. Please!

Brent Larsen

92116

=====

From: Brent Marley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I won't waste your time with a long letter. Net Neutrality is a massively important issue that will effect the future of all information. Please do not allow the further consolidation of big telecom and any kind of controlling of the internet in the name of money. It needs to remain an open source for everyone.

Thank you,
Brent Marley

Brent Marley

75214

=====
From: Brenton Dowd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The American People are asking to be treated fairly, and the businesses - AGAIN - want it all for themselves. It's really quit simple. If you are against net neutrality - you are against a free, open society, you support big business over average americans, which makes you a COMMUNIST, and a whiny little business whore. And don't talk about showing respect - you show some first and do the job you're being paid to do. America is really starting to SUCK, and its crap like this that is causing it. Greedy corporate whores.

Brenton Dowd

04256

=====
From: Brent Reitze
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

This is supposed to be the land of the free, not the land of corporate masters. The founding fathers would be appalled to see how much power and influence they wield in our government. Do we even so anti-trust suites anymore? What happened to those? We broke up Ma Bell decades ago, because they were promoting unfair practices and they are back, bigger and even more influential and we to allow them more?! Keep the internet free and the corporate juggernauts in their proper place, competing for the consumer dollar.

Brent Reitze

20716

=====
From: BRET NEGLEY
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BRET NEGLEY

=====

From: Brett Allison
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Leave the internet alone!! It works just fine!! Can't we leave the greed out of one of the only things left?

Brett Allison

85282

=====

From: Brett Barksdale
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Chairman Wheeler,

I am writing you to urge you to come out and unconditionally support net neutrality for the Internet. As the U.S. , and the world, continues to move ahead into the 21st century. having a 100% free and non-tiered Internet is absolutely critical. So much of the world's activity: news, commerce, politics, entertainment - you name it - already utilizes the Internet to a large - or even total - degree. Any change in paradigm away from net neutrality represents a major impact to all of these activities - and none of those changes would be good for consumers - or people in general. All a tiered Internet does is allow a few, select corporate entities further monetize and control a resources that should treated as utility - like power or water.

I have heard not a single argument that wasn't full of evasions, half-truths or flat-out lies that makes a case for supporting moving away from net neutrality as being good for the general public.

Please, do the right thing.

Brett Barksdale

97224

=====
From: Brett Burford
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Internet access in the US is pathetic compared to the rest of the world. The very least you can do is keep it open and not allow a small group of corporations to control it.

Brett Burford

63119

=====
From: Brett Carter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brett Carter

=====
From: Brett Crummer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brett Crummer

=====

From: Brett DeKing
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brett DeKing

=====

From: Brett Fleagle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brett Fleagle

=====

From: Brett Meyer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please protect net neutrality at all cost.

Brett Meyer

33334

=====

From: Brett Sanders

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Corporate takeover of America needs to stop. The greed and power grabbing has become normal for what used to be the most respected country in the world, but not anymore. The world is watching, and so are the American people.

Please do the right thing and protect the rights of the AVERAGE American.

Thank you,

Brett

Brett Sanders

76665

From: Brett Sommer

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brett Sommer

From: Brett Williams

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brett Williams

=====
From: Brian Austin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Allowing companies like Comcast to charge more to certain companies and not others will completely change the power dynamic on the internet, placing the power to essentially block any content or websites the internet provider wants to. At first, you may think, "but they just want to charge more to Netflix for their extra use of bandwidth." Right, but if you let that happen, they can essentially slow it down for everyone who doesn't want to or can't pay extra. Let's understand the long-term effects of things for once, please. A free and open internet is essential for millions of small players and end-users to enjoy the benefits and entrepreneurial opportunities it provides. Please don't let them ruin this for us. This is the biggest and most important decision you're going to make in your life. Keep it open and free. This will affect hundreds of millions of people's everyday lives.

Brian Austin

30115

=====
From: Briana White
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Briana White

=====
From: brian ballestero
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brian ballestero

=====
From: Brian Banse
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

To the FCC, we need to maintain net neutrality and not give it up to ComCast and all the other corporate predators. This is one way of keeping a democracy, by having a free flow of unrestricted information.

Regards

Brian Banse

Brian Banse

50316

=====
From: brian barton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brian barton

=====
From: Brian Blassingame
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please don'r be a traitor to our people. SUPPORT NET NEUTRALITY!!!

Brian Blassingame

80449

=====
From: Brian Boehler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Boehler

=====
From: Brian Brothers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

It is not in our best interest to restrict the flow of free thought on the internet. it is also not in our best interest to give preference to corporations over the general citizenry. We are too often seeing the people becoming second class citizen to corporations.

Brian Brothers

98020

=====
From: Brian Bumstead
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Bumstead

=====
From: Brian Burk
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Burk

=====
From: Brian Byrne
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Byrne

07442

=====
From: Brian & Christine Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian & Christine Smith

=====
From: brian cishecki
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

brian cishecki

98225

=====
From: Brian Coram
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Coram

=====
From: brian court
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

brian court

59404

=====
From: Brian Cowher

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Cowher

=====

From: Brian crosson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian crosson

=====

From: Brian Danielsson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Danielsson

=====

From: Brian Dexter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Dexter

04970

=====
From: Brian Donahue
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Donahue

=====
From: Brian Findlay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

As a devout capitalist, entrepreneur, and someone who understands some small "overstep" today will create a hell on earth tomorrow.. I urge you, I plead to you, I yell at you to SAVE NET NEUTRALITY and stop the merger with Comcast/TimeWarner merger.

You KNOW that both of these are not just bad for America and Americans, but a stake through the heart real competition, the start of new internet businesses, and freedom of speech.

PLEASE DO NOT DO THIS!!!

Brian Findlay
10 Blood Street
Pepperell, MA
01463

Brian Findlay

1463

=====
From: BRIAN FISHER
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BRIAN FISHER

=====
From: Brian Galford
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

America is too top-heavy with giant companies that make it difficult for start-ups to exist without being gobbled up by the giant corporations or who would obstruct the growth of smaller ones. Stop the Comcast-Time Warner merger. The American Consumer (your clientele) has nothing to gain from this merger; therefore it is your duty to stop it from happening.

Brian Galford

02067

=====
From: Brian Gaudet
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am writing to recommend that the internet remain OPEN and "neutral" for everyone. If not, freedoms and economic concerns will explode and cripple the free flow of information and what has become commerce. This will cause severe hardships for everyone and benefit only the few.

This can not happen!

Thank you for considering my input.

Brian Gaudet

01527

=====
From: Brian Geddes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Geddes

=====
From: Brian Gorski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

This is the LAST even playing field for small business, I T N E E D S T O B E P R O T E C T E D ! Plain, and Simple.

Brian Gorski

07801

=====
From: Brian Gurney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Chairman Wheeler, please stop avoiding the issue! Declare your support for a REAL open internet. Without net neutrality, the dynamic internet economy will grow stale. Innovation will be retarded as startups can't afford the increased costs to get a decent connection. Eventually, the internet will cease to be relevant as average consumers and small businesses alike opt out because of cost and unfair advantages from Big Business. Please don't let this happen!

Brian Gurney

=====
From: Brian Harris
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Net Neutrality is essential for freedom. America is supposed to be a beacon of freedom in the world. We must preserve true net neutrality!!

Brian Harris

48184

=====
From: Brian Heck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re
enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,
I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf
for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government
didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Heck

=====
From: BRIAN HEMPSTEAD
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge
of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re
enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,
I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf
for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government
didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BRIAN HEMPSTEAD

=====
From: Brian Hill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Hill

=====
From: Brian Houghton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Houghton

12901

=====
From: Brian Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Johnson

=====

From: Brian Jones
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Jones

=====
From: Brian Kay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Imagine if your radio would only play Rush Limbaugh, and you had to pay $100/month to get any other stations. That is essentially the situation that Big Telecom thinks they can buy with lobbying. It is outrageously unconstitutional idea, which destroys the First Amendment entirely.

Brian Kay

21146

=====
From: Brian Klubek
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Klubek

62966

=====
From: Brian Kohli
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Kohli

=====
From: Brian Lange
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Enough! Americans have made it clear they want genuine net neutrality. No fast lanes, no special fees for access to telecom customers, no B.S.! So just get it done already.

Brian Lange

63122

=====
From: Brian Larson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Larson

=====
From: Brian Lazarus
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please give us net neutrality. Please stop the Comcast Time Warner merger, President Teddy Roosevelt fought this stuff about 100 years ago. Why does the United States constantly re-live the same historical battles. Allowing this merger is allowing 02 rich companies to get richer off the backs of the working class. The gilded age is back with a vengeance.

Brian Lazarus

93428

=====
From: Brian Lennox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

If there's no net neutrality Comcast, Time Warner and all the other cable companies and ISP's will use it to put a slow lane on anything they don't approve of, so going to comcast.net will load super fast in your browser yet when you go to a website like tomwheelershouldbefired.com your webpage loads as slow as it was back in the 56k dial-up modem days, that way there "technically" not blocking the website but it's still virtually inaccessible to people, the same can be done to political websites or any other websites.

NO NET NEUTRALITY IS THE FIRST STEP IN A VERY SLIPPERY SLOPE.

It seems to me the only people who are against net neutrality are ignorant of how important it is, being paid off, or stand to make a huge profit, so basically, all the bad people.

Brian Lennox

98662

=====
From: Brian Lindsey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Lindsey

=====

From: Brian Mack
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Mack

93063

=====
From: Brian Manns
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Manns

=====
From: Brian & Maria Kelly
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian & Maria Kelly

87104

=====
From: Brian Mazzei
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Wireless companies collected money to make sure rural areas had adequate coverage and that hasn't happened. Now, you want us to pay extra for faster lanes on the internet. So much for equality and level playing fields-that's not the American Way.

Brian Mazzei

24210

=====
From: Brian Moody
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Keep the internet Equal and Free to all.

Brian Moody

16508

=====
From: Brian Niggeman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Niggeman

=====
From: Brian O'Neill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian ONeill

=====
From: Brian Pearson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Don't you think the rich are already rich enough. There has got to be some way to throw a few bones to us common folk?

Brian Pearson

18914

=====
From: Brian Peterson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Peterson

85201

=====
From: Brian Quade
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Quade

80112

=====
From: Brian Rich
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Rich

60647

=====
From: Brian Robertson

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Don't stifle internet service to those fledgling enterprises and individuals that need it to bring new products and services to market. If service is throttled , or worse , censored , only the fat cats will be able to bring any new technology to market in a timely manner , limiting competition , innovation , and thus stifling our ability to compete in the global economy. If you care about our current lowly standing in the global economy , minus money shuffling , you would not even consider anything other than a level playing field for ALL concerned.

I can not believe for one second , that pay to play would benefit anyone except the ones who need it least. Perhaps that is the plan? After all the rich keep getting richer..... Wonder why.....

Brian Robertson

14543

=====
From: Brian Seibert

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I survive by the internet. My very small business operates nearly entirely by doing business over the internet. Please keep net neutrality so I can continue to operate my business.

Brian Seibert

11232

=====
From: Brian/sheila murdock

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian/sheila murdock

=====

From: BRIAN SKINNER
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Let the Internet LIVE! Once they do this it will be IRREVERSABLE. The ISP'S will OWN US! THE FCC IS SUPPOSED TO BE LOOKING OUT FOR THE CITIZENS! NOT COMCAST!

BRIAN SKINNER

02134

=====

From: Brian Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Many show that I watch are only available on the internet and eliminating net neutrality puts my ability to watch these shows at risk.

Brian Smith

06029

=====

From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Open Internet Reply Comment

Name: Brian K Smith
Email: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Address: 11515 Englewood Rd
Zip: 21740

Dear Chairman Wheeler, please don't break the Internet. Don't abandon the "Hands off the Net" approach begun under President Clinton, which unleashed staggering innovation. That bipartisan approach made possible the $01.03 trillion dollars of private investment that built today's broadband networks. Imposing Title II would hurt all Americans by slowing broadband deployment and creating a cloud of uncertainty over all Internet services.

Title II's draconian rules were designed in the 1930s for AT&T's government-created monopoly. They're a poor fit for the Internet. FCC Chairmen Bill Kennard (D, 1997-2001) and Michael Powell (R, 2001-2005) knew that. So they wisely drew a clear, bright line between Title II and the Internet. We don't buy claims that the FCC can maintain this firewall if it re-opens Title II. Nor do we trust that the FCC can quickly whittle Title II into something resembling today's bipartisan "Hands off the Net" approach. You can't have just enough Title II any more than you can be slightly pregnant.

Title II would hurt startups most: they can't cope with regulation as easily as big companies. Title II would protect incumbent broadband companies from new entrants like Google Fiber. Title II would hurt the underserved by slowing deployment and upgrades in minority and rural communities. And Title II would vastly increase the FCC's powers over the Internet. Remember, you won't be Chairman forever, and the powers you claim over the Internet today could be used to control it in ways you don't intend.

Yet, as you've noted, Title II wouldn't even allow the FCC to do what its proponents demand: ban "fast lanes."

We urge you to carefully focus regulation on real problems, what Chairman Kennard called "vigilant restraint." But remember Kennard's digital mantra, too: "First, do no harm." If you conclude that existing laws aren't adequate to protect consumers, you should ask Congress for legislation that clearly specifies the boundaries of the FCC's authority. No government agency should be trusted with a blank check to regulate the Internet at whim whether that's Title II or the vast powers the FCC has claimed under Section 706 to do anything it thinks will promote broadband.

Most of all, we want continually better, faster broadband and more competition. Instead of imposing Title II, we urge you to identify regulatory barriers at all levels of government that could be removed to help existing companies keep upgrading their networks, but also help Google Fiber, wireless providers and other private companies to compete.

Competition, not endless litigation and political bickering over Title II, should be your legacy.

=====
From: BRIAN SPENCER
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BRIAN SPENCER

=====
From: Brian Thompson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Thompson

=====
From: Brian Waak
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: FCC Should Hold Hearings Across the Country on Net Neutrality

To the FCC Commissioners

It has been more than five years since all five FCC commissioners left Washington, D.C., in an official capacity to hear how the agencyâ\200\231s policies affect real people. The public is invested in the future of the Open Internet where there is equal access for all and no discrimination. The American public wants to have a voice in this debate. The public has provided more than one million comments, a record number of public comments, on the Open Internet rulemaking and prior to the rulemaking more than 03 million took action for Net Neutrality. The FCC was unable to handle all the phone calls it received from the public and the comments on the rulemaking crashed the FCC's system. Reclassification of the Internet so it is a public utility where there can be no discrimination is an issue where the public wants to be heard.

Give the public a real opportunity to meet with you face to face. Please schedule meetings in communities throughout the country before you vote on this plan.

--
Brian Waak
xxxxx@xxxx.xxx

=====
From: Brian Watson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Watson

14850

=====
From: Brian Whildin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Whildin

=====
From: Brian Williams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brian Williams

=====
From: Brian Zabawski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brian Zabawski

11768

=====
From: Bridge Larkin

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bridge Larkin

87508

=====
From: Bridget Borer

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear FCC:

I am urging you to not allow the Big Telecom companies to extract more money from internet companies by creating "fast lanes" for those who can pay higher rates. This creates an inequitable internet system for start ups, small companies, home based businesses, alternative, and small community websites. Do not allow the giant corporations to control the internet!

I am a student and teacher and need access to a free flowing internet. These so called "fast lanes" will really amount to higher costs, slower internet speed, and less access to all the information the internet has to offer.

The internet should be a public utility similar to other public utilities that are regulated by the FCC or other government entities. This regulation by the government, for the people and by the people, is what helps us maintain a democratic system and disallows the big corporations to control the form and content of our public communications.

The majority of the people do not want the "fast lanes" as we all know that it is an unfair set up and will be a rip off (over-priced, non-competitive services) for the average citizen seeking to use the internet's information highway.

Power to the people. Corporations are not people. The governments job is to serve all the people, not just the special interests of big corporations. It is anti-American to promote big business over the rights of the common people--a neutral, free flowing, open internet is part of our modern day pursuit of life, liberty, and happiness, and should not in any way be taken over and controlled by Big Telecom.

Bridget Borer

55122

=====
From: Bridgette Benedict
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bridgette Benedict

=====
From: Brion Hurley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is so important. If the net 'playing field' becomes uneven, America will fall behind the world in so many ways. We are already beginning to lag behind as our service is slower and less reliable than Ireland, Czech Republic and even Istanbul. With a pay to play access system, our economy will suffer as there are many smaller businesses that rely on the net for both national and more importantly, international trade. This would effectively cut us off from the international playing field. It lower the taxable income more than it will generate taxable income in the companies that want to control the internet, especially when you look at the tax brackets (percentage of taxable income) that each category (small business, major corporation) fall into.

There are many other reasons why net neutrality is a good idea and these other payment schemes are a very bad idea, but this one, this economic and international impact, is very important.

Thank you for your time

Brion Hurley

94965

=====
From: brison ball

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brison ball

=====

From: brit moore
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brit moore

=====

From: britney hartung
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, britney hartung

=====

From: Brittani Tooke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittani Tooke

=====
From: Brittany carlin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany carlin

=====
From: Brittany Chin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Chin

=====
From: Brittany Dudley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Dudley

=====
From: Brittany Elsdén
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Elsdén

=====
From: Brittany Fenner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Fenner

=====
From: Brittany Ferguson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Ferguson

=====
From: Brittany Katen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Katen

=====
From: Brittany Kiser
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Kiser

=====
From: brittany Kolodgie
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brittany Kolodgie

=====
From: Brittany Meriwether
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Meriwether

=====
From: Brittany Pugh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Pugh

=====
From: Brittany Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Smith

=====
From: Brittany Walters
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Walters

=====
From: Brittany Washington
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittany Washington

=====
From: Brittiny Stewart Uribe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittiny Stewart Uribe

=====
From: Brittnee Ayer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittnee Ayer

=====
From: Brittney Brown
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittney Brown

From: Brittney Burrell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittney Burrell

From: brittney conners
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brittney conners

From: Brittney Jenkins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittney Jenkins

=====
From: Brittney Patterson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Brittney Patterson

=====
From: Broc Eledge
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Broc Eledge

=====
From: BRO. DANNY RAY
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BRO. DANNY RAY

=====
From: B. Rodriguez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

B. Rodriguez

94547

=====
From: Brooke Bates
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Brooke Bates

10029

=====
From: brooke DeLong
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brooke DeLong

=====
From: brooke stanton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brooke stanton

=====
From: brook rollins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, brook rollins

=====
From: Bruce Allen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Allen

=====

From: Bruce Boudin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Boudin

=====

From: bruce bowman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bruce bowman

=====

From: Bruce Bowsher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Bowsher

=====
From: Bruce Boyd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Boyd

=====
From: BRUCE BRUCE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BRUCE BRUCE

=====
From: Bruce Carlton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Do not allow this Monopoly to happen. They are gouging us already!!!!!!!!!!!!!! Enough is enough!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Bruce Carlton

94941

=====
From: Bruce Carpenter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Carpenter

=====
From: Bruce Conant
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Conant

=====
From: Bruce Cozzini
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruce Cozzini

95010

=====
From: Bruce Cratty
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruce Cratty

80210

=====
From: Bruce Cutts
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruce Cutts

80526

=====
From: Bruce deGraaf
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruce deGraaf

01545

=====
From: bruce dunn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Dunn

=====

From: Bruce Fick
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruce Fick

13057

=====

From: Bruce Garabrant
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Garabrant

=====

From: bruce gemberling
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Gemberling

=====
From: Bruce Gereau
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Gereau

=====
From: Bruce Glover
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some contents Why put a price on something that has been free ? Who are the special ones who will be making $ on the innocent rest of us ? Find some morality on this. Bruce Glover

Bruce Glover

90066

=====
From: Bruce Greeley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Large corporations should not be able to control the speed of the Internet as they choose fit. It is just another way for these corporations to fill their pockets by extorting fees for faster service from those who can afford them and leaving the rest of those smaller Internet sites holding the bag. Keep the Internet free. It has worked fine so far.

Bruce Greeley

26437

=====
From: Bruce Hahn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Hahn

=====
From: Bruce Hayden
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Hayden

=====
From: Bruce Hoeflinger
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Hoeflinger

=====
From: Bruce Inman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Inman

=====
From: Bruce Isenberg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Isenberg

=====
From: Bruce Jacobsen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

It is Net Neutrality that has made the internet as incredible as it is today. Small companies and even single individuals can come up with wonderful ideas and get them accepted world-wide without first needing to secure huge amounts of funding.

It is also the fair way to go. It will make it much more difficult for smaller competitors to survive against the huge telecom companies that can afford to pay for faster delivery.

Bruce Jacobsen

55406

=====
From: Bruce Laborin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Mr. Wheeler-and-dealer,

Why have you ignored the flood of emails and personal letters sent to you by internet groups and users? Did you just delete my last hostile email? Must I reiterate my misgivings of how I feel you and the other representatives are behaving extremely inadequate to represent anyone because of the way you keep ignoring the fact that we want our net neutrality? I understand you have an agenda the same as anyone else at the top, but please, before you delete this email, kindly TAKE YOUR HEAD OUTTA YOUR xxxx@xxxx.xxx$$!!!

I'm taking the same stance I did with my last letter in saying that I'm tired of emailing you, you IGNORANT GHOUL. Start supporting net neutrality and stop supporting the corporations that have your hands in their pockets.

Sincerely tired of all of your B.S.,

Bruce Laborin

Bruce Laborin

92083

=====
From: Bruce Langman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet should belong to and be governed by the people, not corporations which will shape and regulate it to their own benefit and the detriment of everybody else.

Bruce Langman

=====
From: Bruce Lockert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Very soon, you are going to show your real priorities to the American public in what you do or don't do, where your education should guide your to doing what is right, versus wrong. Insure that when your act in your appointed public role that has public trust, that what you do is in the best interests of America and its citizens. If not, then you are going to make a mess that will have to be cleaned-up after you are removed. There will be someone who will do what is in the best interests of America and its citizens afterwards because the American public will be communicating to their elected politicians to get the internet onto the right track for use. Presently, the internet needs to be converted into being a REGULATED UTILITY, complete with taxes on financial transactions. Greater government regulation will cause improvements to the internet because the government does not want to have hackers steal tax money. Hence, the government will need to insure that the internet becomes a safer medium.

You know the differences, and you should do what is right for America and its citizens, the first time, reliably, and in keeping with good faith.

Bruce Lockert
Spokane, WA

Bruce Lockert

99205

=====
From: Bruce McClarron
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce McClarron

From: Bruce Offi
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Offi

=====
From: Bruce Olson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruce Olson

66213

=====
From: Bruce Patterson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Patterson

=====
From: Bruce Peacock
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruce Peacock

93006

=====
From: Bruce Pierce
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Pierce

=====
From: Bruce Piper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Piper

=====
From: Bruce Rewerts
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear FCC Chairman Wheeler,

Please preserve net neutrality and designate the internet as a public utility. To destroy net neutrality would mean the destruction of a level playing field. It will leave small businesses and all but the wealthiest citizens at a disadvantage in all aspects of life - from education, to e-commerce, to filing taxes, to social media - because the internet now touches all aspects of our lives. Please keep it accessible for all so that everyone can benefit, not just the wealthy.

Respectfully,

Bruce Rewerts
Centennial, CO 80121

Bruce Rewerts

80121

=====
From: Bruce Savage
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruce Savage

96741

=====
From: Bruce Schacht
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am an environmental manager for my company. I view my job as helping industry and environment coexist. In order to do my job well, I need the internet to research for contractors, vendors, suppliers, and most importantly for new technology innovations. New innovations commonly come from small startup companies, who have little or no funding for extras like making their website viewable to as many potential customers and funding sources as possible. So, if net neutrality dies, and big ISP corporations have their way, it would inevitably serve to strangle and stifle many of the true innovators who find better ways to protect our environment, and who create startup companies that create new jobs. The big ISPs have no interest in protecting the "little guys" who are the important innovators in our society. They are only interested in maximizing their profits by squeezing more money from those most able to pay more. The side effect of stifling startups and small businesses is of no concern to them. That is precisely why we need continued government control of this extraordinarily valuable resource, so it remains equally available to all.

Thanks for your consideration!

Bruce Schacht

=====

From: Bruce Schell
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Schell

=====

From: Bruce Sutton
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Sutton

=====

From: Bruce Trueman
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Tom Wheeler -

Keep the internet Neutral!! Don't sell out to the big money! Think of the future and keep this highway open to all equally. If you don't do this, you are endangering our democracy of the people - and allowing power to be concentrated with the wealthiest few. MONEY IS NOT SPEECH. Keep big money from taking over the internet!!

KEEP THE NET NEUTRAL !! Thank you, Bruce Trueman, Solvang, CA 93463

Bruce Trueman

93463

=====
From: Bruce Walker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Walker

=====
From: Bruce Wayne
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Wayne

=====
From: Bruce Willard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bruce Willard

=====
From: BRUCE WILLIAMS
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, BRUCE WILLIAMS

=====
From: Bruno Prata
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bruno Prata

11230

=====
From: bryan barone
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

bryan barone

=====

From: Bryan Dyer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryan Dyer

=====

From: bryan ferguson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bryan ferguson

=====

From: Bryan Friscia
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryan Friscia

=====
From: Bryan Fron
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryan Fron

=====
From: Bryan Griffith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryan Griffith

=====
From: bryan jellison
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bryan jellison

=====
From: Bryan Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryan Johnson

=====
From: Bryan Kurowski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

America has always tried to encourage a level playing field to allow all of us the opportunity to succeed and prosper, and whenever big money interests have tried to take over control of resources and create a monopoly on a particular sector of the market to shut out any possible new competition, consumers have always suffered, and there is usually corrective action taken to break up and limit the stranglehold of big business on our economy in order to encourage more participation and innovation in the market.

This dangerous dynamic is once again at play with regard to Net Neutrality. The efforts by the mega-telecomm industry giants like Verizon and Comcast are attempting to achieve such a monopoly and stranglehold on internet telecommunications so as to stifle any competitors and have utter control over who is able to use the internet and in what manner, which will slow down the development and innovation processes which require equal and unfettered access.

Please do your patriotic duty to protect the rights of all Americans to have equal access to the internet by advocating for true Net Neutrality, not some watered down version drafted by those seeking to gain this unfair advantage and monopoly on a medium of communication that drives our economy and society today. Thank you very much for your attention to the opinions and interests of American citizens and common, everyday users of th e internet like myself.

Bryan Kurowski

37067

=====
From: Bryan Loudy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryan Loudy

=====
From: Bryan Snowden
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

HEY, to whomever reads this at the FCC!

Don't let the already profitable tele-com & cable corps screw us out of more money than they already do!

I live in an Ex-Urb of D/FW Texas where there's not much entertaining to do. Or, at least not that much I can manage to get out & do very often, without driving into the city - its normally at least an hour - just to drive to any sort of meetups w/ friends or acquaintances, or 'clubs' of people that share similar interests. Fortunately, I happen to live near enough to a cable line (I think because of the relative proximity to a nearby highway) - I lucked out and we have a decent cable-modem connection. But, there are 03 of us using it - and that along with the TV-cable bill (the second major 'lifeline' to entertainment/the world) is Seriously costly - even with a "bundle" it's getting shockingly expensive.

And that is of course, before you get to a smartphone/data bill, and without any Netflix or Hulu-type services (our cable-tv-boxes have limited DVR & 'on-demand' that function/ability) that are included with the bundles now.

They also make the idea of trying to pay for those 'subscriptions' (and any of these "new" or "incoming" additional bills or premiums) that these companies are itching to use to milk more cash out of Americans = whose average wages/income haven't kept up with inflation for many years!

But the corporations keep on merging and without a guarantee of "Net Neutrality" from the FCC - they're going to attempt to leverage every last penny out of our ever-shrinking 'disposable income'. That is -IF- you're someone that has the "luxury" of having any 'disposable income' - something that politicians and friendly corporate-execs expect us to spend on their products.

Yet they gnash their teeth & wail when asked to pay people a minimum wage that Henry Ford would approve of...

They try to claiming that minimum wage jobs are just "entry-level" jobs meant for teenagers which may have been true 20-40 years ago - but any such claim made today is factually inaccurate. But they'll lie about it even when the modern stats are shown to them.

Meanwhile they're also battling unions out of existence, and shrugging their shoulders as if they have no control over single-minded pursuits a higher stock-price and a ROI for their shareholders = so the already wealthy can continue to rake in more money than they'll ever be able to ever spend.

PLEASE, Don't let them screw us -(yet again)- when you have the power to stop them in this one area = directly in your hands!

Bryan Snowden

76049

=====
From: Bryant Devereaux
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryant Devereaux

=====
From: Bryan Thurmond
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bryan Thurmond

95468
=====

From: Bryce Moltumyr
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryce Moltumyr

=====

From: Bryce Nugent
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryce Nugent

=====

From: Bryon Ball
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryon Ball

=====

From: Bryon Biesman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bryon Biesman

57701

=====
From: Bryon Harrelson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryon Harrelson

=====
From: Bryson Lewis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bryson Lewis

=====
From: B. Thomas Diener

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

I would deeply appreciate it if you'd keep Net Neutrality because eliminating it would greatly violate the 1st Amendment and hurt the common people of this country. If countries like France, Japan, and South Korea has superfast internet service, then the US should be no exception. Corporations are NOT people; individual humans are with certain inalienable rights the Founding Fathers established almost 02 and 01/02 centuries ago at what is now Independence Hall in Philadelphia. Please do NOT abolish Net Neutrality. Thank you and goodnight.

B. Thomas Diener

87123

=====
From: Bud Clifton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Bud Clifton

96793

=====
From: Buddy Platt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Buddy Platt

11367

=====
From: Bud Greiner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Bud Greiner

=====
From: Bud Stuart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

We are only asking you to not infringe on American freedoms any more than has already been done!!

Bud Stuart

93103

=====
From: buford goodwin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please do not ruin the internet with your good intentions.

buford goodwin

70448

=====
From: bunker davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, bunker davis

=====
From: Burks Hunt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Burks Hunt

32606

=====
From: Burnie Vaughn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Burnie Vaughn

=====
From: Burton Callicott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a librarian and I know how vital it is that students have equal access to information. I urge you to stand guard and protect the Internet from the monied interests that are motivated by profit.

Burton Callicott

29407

=====

From: Burton Foley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content FPlease protect net neutrality. Allowing AT&T, Time Warner, Comcast, and Verizon to kill net neutrality is to promote the worst kind of crony capitalism possible.

I can only imagine the dampening effect on internet jobs & creativity killing net neutrality would have. Profiteering opportunists like AT&T, Time Warner, Comcast, and Verizon produce nothing, add no value, and benefit from the hard work of others by holding access to their real products ransom to exorbitant fees. Companies that seek to kill net neutrality seek to throttle the internet to squeeze every penny out of their customers without any care for the general well being of our society. It impedes progress and hurts the economy. It's hydraulic despotism for the 21st century.

To a lesser degree, internet productivity would be hindered by bad service. AT&T, Time Warner, Comcast, and Verizon provide a horrible level of customer support. They charge exorbitant rates for pathetic service. I avoid companies like these, but allowing them to do what they will raise the cost for everyone.

Their "high speed lane" justification rational is weak and self serving. On the consumer side, and borrowing the automotive analogy, what they propose to do with the internet is like a gas station attendant asking you where you're going before filling your tank. He then charges you different rates for the gas depending on where you tell him you're going. Charging you one price for "normal" trips, and a jacked-up price if you're going somewhere more interesting. This is called extortion.

Please protect net neutrality.

Don't be someone that we remember as bolstering an industry that's on its way out anyway. If they get their way we'll all be held back. But in the meantime these profiteers haven't a clue how to innovate and won't actually produce anything of value. When their stale, extortionist business model expires, their revenue will finally dry up and the lobbyists will kick them to the curb. We'll finally be free from them and we will thrive again. But we will be doing it from behind. Other economies won't have to with this. Do you want to be remembered for holding our nation's economy, productivity, creativity and ingenuity back??

Burton Foley

23185

=====

From: butch agrifoglio
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, butch agrifoglio

=====
From: Byron Montague
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Net neutrality must be maintained. It is for everyone not just giant corporations.

Byron Montague

94523

=====
From: Byron Nelson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Byron Nelson

=====
From: Caarol Shelton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Caarol Shelton

=====
From: Caherine Healy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Caherine Healy

=====
From: Cait Evelyn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please, you MUST use Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 to regulate the internet as a public utility!! I get my NEWS from the internet. I rely on the internet for WORK; it is my source to look up research publications, protocols, and trends. I don't have time in my work day to wait for "slow lane" internet service, just like when I have to put a patient on life support, I don't have time to wait for the equipment to turn on and function. The internet should be as readily accessible as electricity, and should be regulated as a public utility.

Cait Evelyn

98026

=====
From: Caitlin Boyd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Caitlin Boyd

=====
From: CA Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

CA Johnson

87410

=====
From: Caleb Sikes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Caleb Sikes

=====
From: calissa burns
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, calissa burns

=====
From: Calista Chandler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Comcast has proven time and time again that they don't have their customers' best interest at heart. Why would we give a company like that more power over consumers? This merger would only benefit the corporations involved, at the expense of the American people.

Please remember who you are supposed to work for. The American people deserve better than this.

Calista Chandler

94043

=====
From: Callie Riley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is a public utility and should remain so.

Callie Riley

95610

=====
From: Calum Traveler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Stop the Comcast/Time Warner merger, and give us net neutrality, please.

Calum Traveler

80401
=====

From: Calvin Beinlich
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Calvin Beinlich

=====
From: Calvin Cobb
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Calvin Cobb

29835

=====
From: Calvin Combs
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Calvin Combs

=====
From: Calvin Kruse
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Calvin Kruse

=====
From: Calvin Mannes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

Millions of Americans rely on an internet that is open to all, at the same speed for all, and universally available to all. I strongly urge you to favor the interests of these millions of Americans over the profits of the big Telecom companies. Please do what is in your power to do - and it is in your power - to keep the internet neutral with equal access for all. It is vital to all of us. We are depending on you. Please heed us.

Sincerely yours,

Calvin J. Mannes
Tiger, GA

Calvin Mannes

30576

=====
From: Calvin Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Calvin Smith

=====
From: Calvin Stewart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Calvin Stewart

=====
From: camell moten
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, camell moten

=====
From: Camerin Gagliano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Camerin Gagliano

=====
From: camille cooper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

camille cooper

72205

=====
From: Camille Solbrig
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: FCC Should Hold Hearings Across the Country on Net Neutrality

To the FCC Commissioners

It has been more than five years since all five FCC commissioners left Washington, D.C., in an official capacity to hear how the agency's policies affect real people. The public is invested in the future of the Open Internet where there is equal access for all and no discrimination. The American public wants to have a voice in this debate. The public has provided more than one million comments, a record number of public comments, on the Open Internet rulemaking and prior to the rulemaking more than 03 million took action for Net Neutrality. The FCC was unable to handle all the phone calls it received from the public and the comments on the rulemaking crashed the FCC's system. Reclassification of the Internet so it is a public utility where there can be no discrimination is an issue where the public wants to be heard.

Give the public a real opportunity to meet with you face to face. Please schedule meetings in communities throughout the country before you vote on this plan.

--
Camille Solbrig
xxxx@xxxx.xxx

=====
From: Candace Abrams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candace Abrams

=====
From: Candace Arnold
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please do not allow this merger. As a person who has dealt with both companies separately, I know that they are already not well motivated to give good customer service, or to keep rates affordable. We need MORE choices, not less- to keep the free market system effective, to keep the internet equal for everyone, and to keep access at reasonable rates.

Candace Arnold

96793

=====
From: candace bieneman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

candace bieneman

94123

=====
From: Candace Borja
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Candace Borja

33156

=====
From: candace johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, candace johnson

=====
From: candace stolley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Net Neutrality is ESSENTIAL for our Democracy. Net Neutrality affects ALL internet users. Net Neutrality MUST be preserved as a right for all to equally benefit from and NOT for some corporation's gain over others. Allowing some corporations to have higher speeds will affect negatively all other Americans use of the internet and have profound long range disruptive affects.

candace stolley

95457

=====
From: Candace Valenzuela
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candace Valenzuela

=====
From: Candi Bartoli
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candi Bartoli

=====
From: Candice Carver
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candice Carver

=====
From: Candice Parlee
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is for everybody! Keep it free and open so today's start ups have a chance at becoming tomorrow's Googles.

Thank you,
Candice Parlee

Candice Parlee

=====
From: Candice Reddish
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candice Reddish

=====
From: Candi Howard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candi Howard

=====
From: Candse Ausman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candse Ausman

=====
From: Candy Bender
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candy Bender

=====
From: Candy Haymes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Protect net neutrality.

Candy Haymes

79407

=====
From: Candy Hopkins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Candy Hopkins

=====
From: Cara Anderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cara Anderson

80304

=====
From: Cara O'Neill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cara O'Neill

94515

=====
From: carey mcdonald
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carey mcdonald

=====
From: Carin Poore
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carin Poore

=====

From: Carissa Robles
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carissa Robles

=====

From: Cari Wright
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Mr. Wheeler,

I have sent three letters regarding my priorities for keeping the internet completely open and neutral.

It has come to my attention that you have not yet made a total commitment to this.

An open and neutral internet is vital to the health of our society. A place free of corporate and special interest interference.

I feel this is a vitally important issue and you are being put in a position of great responsibility. Please do not cave to special interests and serve the needs of the common person you are in your position to serve unbiasedly.
Sincerely, Cari Wright

Cari Wright

55616

=====
From: Carla Burke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carla Burke

60516

=====
From: Carla Cortner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carla Cortner

=====
From: Carl Annarummo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carl Annarummo

34758

=====
From: carla porter

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carla porter

=====

From: Carla Reinagel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carla Reinagel

=====

From: Carla Schmehl
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carla Schmehl

=====

From: Carla Stevens
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carla Stevens

=====
From: Carl Brunkow
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Brunkow

=====
From: Carl Carter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I was on AOL before internet became available to ordinary people. As soon as a local ISP opened it to us, I signed on. I have used the internet for a variety of purposes for a good two decades.

During that time, the speed limit was your modem and there were no real content restrictions... Now, we have some of the worst internet in the world. Seoul Korea has faster internet in the subways than we have in our homes. And the ISPs who provide our lack of service want to merge and make it worse??

We need the internet to stay free and get faster, not slower!

Carl Carter

97123

=====
From: Carl Dasher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Dasher

=====
From: Carl DeHaven
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl DeHaven

=====
From: Carl Eckenrode
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Eckenrode

=====
From: CARL-EDWARD ENDICOTT
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CARL-EDWARD ENDICOTT

=====
From: CARL Farmer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CARL Farmer

=====
From: carl fussell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carl fussell

=====
From: Carl Gage
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please protect Net Neutrality, it's crucial to everyone.
Powerful corporations should not determine who has access to what, and how fast or slow they should get it.

Carl Gage

93065

=====
From: Carl Hart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Hart

=====
From: Carl Hauquitz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Hauquitz

=====
From: Carl Hawkins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Hawkins

=====
From: carli grimes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carli grimes

=====
From: carlis gaylor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carlis gaylor

=====

From: Carl Jones
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Jones

=====

From: Carl Kammeyer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am a senior citizen. I use the internet every day to get my news, to stay in touch with friends and family.

The internet must be treated as a public utility.

Giving wealthy companies the power to buy up bandwidth will adversely affect students, seniors, libraries and all citizens who regularly use the internet personally and professionally. This harmful Pay to Play approach to governing does not belong in American culture.

Carl Kammeyer

08107

=====

From: carl kolpin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carl kolpin

=====
From: Carl Kozlowski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Kozlowski

=====
From: carl lasalle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carl lasalle

=====
From: Carl Legere
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carl Legere

03063

=====
From: Carl Lundholm
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Lundholm

=====
From: Carl Martin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Martin

=====
From: Carl Neumann
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Neumann

=====
From: Carl Noggle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Hello--

Thomas Jefferson said that a free press was more important than democracy. Thomas Jefferson was a very wise man.

Please do not allow monopolies to control our free flow of information.

Thank you--

Carl Noggle

Carl Noggle

85719

=====
From: Carlo Papolizio
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet was given to humanity free of charge by its creator. We pay to the service provider. That shall be enough. These companies have no right to censor, block, prioritize or slow down the exchange of internet information.

Carlo Papolizio

08319

=====
From: carlos bennett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carlos bennett

=====
From: Carlos Caceres
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carlos Caceres

93312

=====
From: carlos diaz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carlos diaz

=====
From: Carlos Echevarria
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carlos Echevarria

90302

=====
From: Carlos Mojica
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carlos Mojica

=====
From: CARLOS MUÃ\221OZ
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CARLOS MUÃ\221OZ

=====
From: Carlos Paulino
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carlos Paulino

=====
From: Carlos Pecciotto
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Telecommunications companies such as Verizon, AT&T, and Comcast have been getting their way for far too long. Every customer of theirs experiences sharp rate hikes after an "introductory period" of, say, six months. We are getting gouged by them every day. The end of Net Neutrality just encourages them to gouge us even more, and in the name of what? Appeasing their shareholders? Padding their already ample bottom lines? Telcos are among the most profitable corporations. They can -- and do -- charge customers many dollars for services that cost them mere fractions of a penny to provide. The Internet has become a necessity in most households. There are already too many Americans priced out of Internet access in their own homes. I live in one of those neighborhoods where many cannot afford an efficient Internet hookup because of this constant price gouging. Please don't make this situation any worse by creating "fast" and "slow" lanes. Telcos will still be able to make their tidy profits without it.

Carlos Pecciotto

60622

=====
From: Carlos Reyes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

It's not just pay-to-play that's the issue here. Big Telecoms have a history of distorting facts and proliferating false information in their quest to dominate and unfairly profit from the industry.

This is becoming an assault on the freedoms of the American people and the Constitution itself.

I'm not against corporations "EARNING" my business. Provide me a better product and I'll buy it.

But keep in mind that "NECESSITY" and "COMPETITION" are the cornerstones of innovation and progress.

Returning to the age of Robber Barons and the associated corruption that inevitably follows showed us once before that those methods absolutely do not work.

One can always count on greed and corruption. That's why anti-trust laws were written and passed in the first place!

Carlos Reyes

03060

=====
From: Carlos Rosado-Berrios
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The idea of giving the companies more control over the system so they can profit more as well as the possibility of also discriminate is unconscionable. Illogical and against the people well being the idea of giving more control to those companies.

Carlos Rosado-Berrios

72467

=====
From: Carlotta Harrell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carlotta Harrell

30281

=====
From: Carlotta Stewart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carlotta Stewart

=====
From: Carl Philips
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Philips

=====
From: Carl Prather
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please keep the internet open to all, not just moneyed interests who can squeeze everyone off the information highway just because they have money. By influencing the FCC and in carpetbagger fashion, they will have the ability to buy up internet space without paying for the infrastructure that has already been put in place.

The internet is a public good. It is not a country club. We already have privilege accorded to those of wealth in other areas of society well beyond what's fair and appropriate and the government, the supreme court in particular, placing the individual at a disadvantage. The value of their actions should not be based on the girth of their pocketbooks.

If the FCC is not treating ALL American citizens equally, then what purpose is the FCC serving and why do we, the people, pay taxes for such treatment?

Sincerely,

Carl Prather

Carl Prather

95020

=====
From: Carl Prather
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please no steerage class for the average person and promenade decks for the well-to-do. For the information era to be of any value, everyone needs equal access. Without equal access, the FCC may as well treat the information highway like a country club.

We already have enough problems understanding that value of information is seated in its intrinsic worth , not the size of one's pocket book.

Democracy and the internet is for the public good, not just profit-making businesses, well-healed political groups or wealthy individuals to do as they and they alone wish. We've all paid into the internet up to this point, why create welfare for those who least need access to the internet by handing all of the historical costs that got to the internet to it present state?

Is this fair?

No, no it's not.

Carl Prather

95020

=====
From: Carl Rehm
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Rehm

=====
From: Carl Rowe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Rowe

=====
From: Carl sampsonCarlSampson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl sampsonCarlSampson

=====
From: CARL scollo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

CARL scollo

06040

=====
From: carl simpson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Simpson

=====

From: Carl Skraastad
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Skraastad

=====

From: Carl Sorem
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -

An open internet is fundamental for our democracy, Give us full net neutrality.

Carl Sorem

94550

=====

From: Carl Stibelton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carl stebelton

=====
From: Carl Sudbrink
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Sudbrink

=====
From: Carl Terry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Terry

=====
From: Carl Thompson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Thompson

=====

From: Carlton Banks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carlton Banks

=====

From: Carlton Burgess
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carlton Burgess

=====

From: Carlton Russell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -

The internet has become a public utility used by business, nonprofits and individuals for both business and personal transactions. It should be governed as a public utility.

Carlton Russell

99508

=====
From: Carl Williams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carl Williams

99833

=====
From: Carl Williams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carl Williams

=====
From: CARL WOOD
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CARL WOOD

=====
From: Carl Woodward
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carl Woodward

48105

=====
From: Carly Henderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The country is watching. Do the right thing. Keep Net Neutrality!

Carly Henderson

56303

=====
From: Carly Krensis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carly Krensis

=====
From: Carly Steel

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Save NET NEUTRALITY AND stop the Time Warner & Comcast merger! It's a monopoly!

I do a lot of genealogical research on line & I certainly don't want to be slowed down in my research.

Carly Steel

78641

=====
From: carly tumlinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carly tumlinson

=====
From: Carmela Lonergan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carmela Lonergan

=====
From: Carmelina Brockmann

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carmelina Brockmann

=====

From: carmen blakestad
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net Neutrality is the best thing for the US. STOP trying to take it away from the Average American, just because YOU want to score "Brownie Points" with your Corporate Buddies. Equal Access is MORE IMPORTANT than making a profit!! LEAVE THE NET NEUTRALITY LAWS ALONE!!!

carmen blakestad

56301

=====

From: Carmen Campbell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am a legal assistant for an attorney in Bradenton, Florida. We use the Internet on an ongoing basis and rely on Court, city, county, state and other websites to be up and running smoothly and quickly so we can conduct our work, which includes mandatory e-filing with the Courts in the State of Florida. I am very concerned that "Big Telecom" can potentially influence the FCC in a way that will destroy net neutrality and cause major problems for businesses like ours that rely so heavily on the use of the Internet. I am also a private citizen who uses the Internet and am very worried that there could soon come a time when I can't even afford it because of the influence of corporations who are only thinking about making more profit. The Internet should always be available to everyone and not governed or regulated by money-hungry corporations. The Internet is essential to our lives and should always be open and free from corporate control. Net neutrality must be preserved. Thank you.

Carmen Campbell

33703

=====
From: carmen carella
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carmen carella

=====
From: Carmen Chacon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carmen Chacon

83202

=====
From: Carmen Correa
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carmen Correa

From: carmen gamero
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carmen gamero

=====

From: Carmen Gonzalez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carmen Gonzalez

=====

From: Carmen Hernandez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carmen Hernandez

=====
From: Carmen Leitch
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet isn't broken, so don't try to fix it.

As a medical researcher, free and fair internet is crucial to my work, and the work of thousands of others toiling to make the world a better place. Don't rob us of those opportunities.

Carmen Leitch

21223

=====
From: Carmen Ramirez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carmen Ramirez

32303

=====
From: Carmen Schultz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I pay a lot of money every month to have this net work for me when I am working, as I work from home. Please don't let the neutrality of the internet be compromised. That would be like censorship of everyone who isn't rich. I wouldn't be able to continue to work and it's hard enough now. Please take my feelings into account when you vote. Thank you, Carmen

Carmen Schultz

72753

=====
From: carmen sparks

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carmen sparks

=====

From: Carme Scott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carme Scott

=====

From: carmon cain
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carmon cain

=====

From: Carol Adamec
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

It is time for you, Mr. Wheeler, to stand for a free and open internet FOR THE PEOPLE, NOT FOR CORPORATE INTERESTS. Simple, isn't it, since it's your job.

Carol Adamec

87113

=====
From: Carol Ampel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman Wheeler:

I have been waiting to hear from you that you will preserve internet neutrality and block the merger of Big Telecom companies. Keeping the internet fully available to all and maintaining diversity and real competition between telecom giants is crucial to a fair and democratic flow of information and economic opportunity. The culture that says money is the only thing that matters, that those who already have the gold get to make all the rules, whether in campaign advertising or business startups, is inimical to our rights as citizens equally and our future as innovators and creative leaders.

Once upon a time, we had leaders who stood up for the public good. Be such a one. Keep the internet open and available to all users equally. Don't allow the big telecom companies to join into behemoths that control every bit of what we see and what we pay. I expect better from you.

Sincerely,
Carol Ampel

Carol Ampel

97504

=====
From: Carol Ann Fryer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

A picture is beginning to emerge. I no longer get my local newspaper because it's about 80% ads. I don't watch television because it's slow, dull, and boring. Clear Channel recently cut off my favorite radio station (Denver, CO), so almost all of my news sources are gone.

That leaves the internet. I'll admit that for $52.55 a month Comcast only gives me

01-03 megahertz of speed...just beyond dial-up. I like economics, political lectures and so on. I also like Facebook and news from family. All this will be lost to me in the future.

The Fourth Estate encapsulates all forms of media and provides facts and education to an informed populace. "Our liberty depends upon freedom of the press and that cannot be limited without being lost." Thomas Jefferson, letter to Dr. James Currie, 1786.

We are being both limited and (given my slow internet speed) lost. There are probably millions more like me that will have no access to anything beyond my local throwaway advertiser. In a world of instant communications this is both staggeringly incomprehensible and wrong.

Carol Ann Fryer

80212

=====
From: CAROL ANN PETERSON
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
People like myself. Retired and physically limited, use the open net for daily living. We shop for essentials, even groceries, socialize with family and friends, keep up with the daily news, read books on favorite topics, play games every day. Without an open network everything would be compromised, news would be only things the corporation felt we should know, buy, read, or who we should be allowed to communicate with. Corporations could interfere with our human right to free expression in any and all forms.

CAROL ANN PETERSON

95307

=====
From: Carol Arnold
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Arnold

53188

=====
From: Carol Auld
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Mr. Wheeler, Would you REALLY ignore the interests of the citizens in favor of monopolizing cable companies? What a betrayal that would be. Shame on you if you ignore ALL OF US!!!!

Carol Auld, R.N.

Carol Auld

46835

=====
From: Carol Bailey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

FCC Chairman Wheeler: It is my understanding that your position entrusts you with the responsibility of keeping the Internet accessible to one and all. How can you say that one group of the "all" - those with money are more equal and deserving of a higher level of access? How can you say that one group of the "all" - those of us who are retirees, seniors and limited income groups are less deserving of equal access? Please make your voice a voice for "all" - maintain the true intent of net neutrality = keep it open and fair and free! Thank you! Carol Bailey

Carol Bailey

95209

=====
From: carol bartlett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carol bartlett

=====

From: Carol Begley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Begley

=====
From: Carol Berkowicz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Berkowicz

01588

=====
From: Carol Blauvelt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am urging the FCC firmly and clearly back net neutrality. First, the FCC must reclassify internet service under Title II of the 1934 Telecommunications Act. While the internet did not even exist in 1934, when it did come into being, it was placed as an information service in Title I. That classification was clearly inappropriate as it is more than an information service and daily it provides our citizens the opportunity and the avenue of speaking out themselves and responding to what is found on the internet. The internet is no television service, yet "Big TeleCom" wants to treat it as such with "big users" getting better service. Their ability to pay for that better service puts the everyday citizen at a distinct disadvantage. Net neutrality matters for everyone.

The very thing the internet has supported and encouraged up to this point - individual innovation and access to share that innovation - will be shut down or severely disabled. That speaks to our first amendment rights first of all, but in a world that values economics, it speaks to the loss of potential billions of dollars and many, many jobs. "Little" companies like Facebook were started with just one person's ideas and the chance to place it in the public venue without huge start-up costs of reaching that public.

As an educator, I know first-hand the role the internet plays in education is incalculable, but education providers depend on net neutrality. They cannot afford huge costs to have fast access, and students, and indeed, all the public should have access to a huge variety of information and services, not just ones from the big boys who have the money to get it front of our eyes. Television already does that!

Blocking the merger of two of the biggest cable companies is also critical. Already their services are often questionable and poor - and customers have little choice in providers. Their merger would only exacerbate the situation. Frankly, corporate control of the internet is the worst idea from the point of view of everyone but the big companies who wish to "own" the internet. Please protect the people you are charged to serve, the American citizen, all 300+ million of us, over the demands of Big Telecom. Protect net neutrality by placing the internet in the classification of Title II, by blocking the merger of Time-Warner and Comcast, and by protecting an open internet for all.

Thank you.

Carol Blauvelt

20111

=====
From: Carol Bornman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Bornman

=====
From: Carol Bradley-Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

We must keep our net neutrality or the big companies will just take control of our way of communicating think about that !!!!!

Carol Bradley-Johnson

34231

=====
From: Carol Braly
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Braly

=====
From: Carol Buchanan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Buchanan

=====
From: Carol Bullock
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Bullock

=====
From: Carol Caldwell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Caldwell

=====
From: Carol Chernay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Chernay

44202

=====
From: Carol Childress
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Childress

=====

From: carol conrad
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carol conrad

=====

From: Carol Dahlin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Dahlin

=====

From: Carol Dargie
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Dargie

=====
From: Carol David
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol David

23220

=====
From: Carol Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please, sir, don't take away our open internet and keep the net neutral.

Carol Davis

34769

=====
From: Carol Delfosse
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Delfosse

=====
From: Carol Dickason
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

As the proposed rules stand, Big Cable and Telecom providers will be able to control the speed at which different websites load including creating a fast lane for big corporations that can pay more, and slowing-down service to independent sites, to outright blocking content they don't want on their networks.

This is a fight to determine who controls the internet people or corporations. In terms of freedom, democracy and just plain fairness, please protect the rights of the people. This is not China or North Korea or Syria. This is still America, by, of and for the people.

Carol Dickason

95476

=====
From: Carol Drybread
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Drybread

=====
From: Carole Aus
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carole Aus

=====

From: Carole Chi
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Chairman Wheeler, Allow net neutrality, make it a public utility. Do NOT allow Comcast and Time Warner or AT&T or Verizon to merge for that would be the exact OPPOSITE of competition. We need a free and open and FAST internet. Communication and information is vital to America--to its people and for competition--for the market place, for manufacturing, for small and large businesses and for education. I have Comcast and it's already slow enough. You should NOT allow a monopoly to occur and you should NOT allow them to control/slow down the speed of the internet. Thanks you. Sincerely,
Carole Chi

Carole Chi

48312

=====
From: Carolee Morris
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolee Morris

=====
From: Carole Ivy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I depend on the internet for communicating with my friends, and my family, who live across the country from me, face-to-screen, so the next generation will know me when I visit. Please keep the internet equal!

Carole Ivy

48430

=====

From: Carole Luchsinger
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carole Luchsinger

32778

=====
From: Carole Mathews
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carole Mathews

30082

=====
From: Carole McCarthy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Our first amendment rights are at risk. Prioritizing, blocking and impeding access is wrong. Don't violate our rights.

Carole McCarthy

95650

=====
From: Carole Onderdonk
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carole Onderdonk

81631

=====
From: Carole Peacock
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carole Peacock

=====
From: Carole Plesser
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carole Plesser

66208

=====
From: Carol Epstein
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am in favor of a free, open internet and will not support any politician or company that tries to limit the internet.

CE

Carol Epstein

95060

=====
From: Carole Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Net neutrality is vital to me. I am retired, disabled, well educated. I am writing a book on a very interesting American woman of the 18th century who had a great effect on Chicago and on U.S. history. She is, however, largely unknown in our times. I don't have the money to pay for fast Internet access. I don't have the strength to go to libraries for the historical information that I need. What I really, truly need is a continuation of the fabulous open, free Internet. Please keep it available to all on an equal basis. Thank you.

Carole Smith

60093

=====
From: Carole Soldon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carole Soldon

=====
From: Carole Watson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carole Watson

=====

From: Carol Fleenor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Fleenor

=====

From: Carol Gilchrist
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I support an open internet and hope that you will retain net neutrality. My main concern is that if large corporations like Verizon and AT&T are able to pay more for access to faster speeds then only large corporations will have access to faster speeds and all others will be forced to go through one of these gatekeeper corporations at considerably higher cost than we are now paying. The second problem I see is with slowing down or blocking information. This has great implications for free speech, and at its worst, censoring speech. This is a slippery slope I don't think we should travel. Net neutrality will keep the internet open for all without any prioritizing of information, allowing for dissent and important, but not necessarily ideas popular, ideas to be voiced. This is at the crux of our founding fathers psychology, and we need to continue to protect it.

Carol Gilchrist

48071

=====

From: carol gorske
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carol gorske

=====

From: Carol Hadaway
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Hadaway

=====

From: carol hadley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I remember when local candidates could not come into my work place to ask for votes nor could an employers suggest whom to vote for. But now corporations are people.

My question is what type of ID did it use? Did it have a birth certificate, social security number, divers license?

If a corporation can vote so can my house, car garage maybe my dog at least it's alive.

Do the right thing

carol hadley

44102

=====

From: Carol Herm
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Herm

=====

From: Carol Hill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Hill

=====

From: Carol Hilton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Tim Berner-Lee one of two founders of the WWW has never sought a private patent or collected financially for his work.

(He advocates the idea that net neutrality is a kind of human network right: "Threats to the Internet, such as companies or governments that interfere with or snoop on Internet traffic, compromise basic human network rights." [46]wikipedia)

Berner-Lee believed the WWW/internet should be "free for all" in the interest of sharing information, education, and human development.

I urge you to follow in his tradition of protecting openness and information exchange with equal access and use for all.

Carol Hilton

=====
From: Carol Hopwood Sapp
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Hopwood Sapp

41074

=====
From: Carol Horst
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Horst

=====
From: carolina leyva
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carolina leyva

=====

From: Carolina Mendoza Serrano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carolina Mendoza Serrano

62020

=====
From: Caroline Colwill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Mr. Wheeler,

I am a student. I depend on the internet for my school work, and for communicating with my professors. We need net neutrality to continue with this. I go to a state school, with very low tuition. They certainly wouldn't be able to pay for high speed internet access. I cannot afford it if they raise tuition just to cover the internet. I need net neutrality. It should be declared a public utility so that big telecom cannot charge more money for use of the internet.

In addition, I read independent news sites. That is mostly where I get my news from. This wonderful resource would not be available to me if net neutrality is not preserved.

Please, please preserve net neutrality. It means a lot to me, and a lot to many other people.

Caroline Colwill

19312

=====
From: Caroline Elam
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

You have the ability to change the status quo and putting the breaks on large corporations trying to "take over the world". Please write regulations to establish net neutrality and block mergers that inhibit competition; i.e. Comcast/Time Warner

Caroline Elam

95066

=====
From: Caroline Emmert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Caroline Emmert

=====
From: CAROLINE LANE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am writing to urge you to deny the merger of Time Warner and Comcast. I have been subscriber to Time Warner and found my internet service was regularly compromised. it does not deserve to become a larger organization.

Although I live in New York City now, I have lived in a small, rural community in the past. Such places often have only one option for getting internet connections. In this day and age, it is an essential utility and the FCC can easily make sure that large companies are not able to pay more to get faster service. Protect the average citizen, not large companies that already exercise too much power.

CAROLINE LANE

11367

=====
From: Caroline Lawrence
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Caroline Lawrence

=====
From: Caroline Scullin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am disgusted that this is even an issue in a country I was told my whole life was about freedom and equality. Stop pandering for corporations you at one time worked for!! Quit messing with our lives!

Caroline Scullin

19380

=====
From: Carolisea Ross
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolisea Ross

=====
From: Carol Kastendieck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Kastendieck

11201

=====
From: Carol Kaufman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Kaufman

46151

=====
From: Carol Kite
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Kite

=====
From: Carol Klingsmith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Klingsmith

64658

=====
From: Carol LA BRECQUE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol LA BRECQUE

=====
From: Carol Lewicke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Lewicke

=====
From: carol lewis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carol lewis

=====
From: Carol Long
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Long

=====
From: Carol Martinosky
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Martinosky

=====
From: Carol McCann
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol McCann

From: Carol McDowell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol McDowell

=====

From: Carol Misoni
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Misoni

=====

From: Carol Mooney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is vital to the life of a free America. Giving one more advantage to big companies is a crime and should be dealt with as such. To put restrictions on the net is unconscionable. Please do the right thing!

Carol Mooney

97005

=====

From: Carol Niemi

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

To truly expand broadband and increase competition:

1. Use Title II authority to promote broadband expansion and to prevent Big Telecom from creating fast and slow lanes on the internet.

2. Reject the Comcast Time Warner merger. If you want to promote competition, you don't allow 2 of the 4 national broadband providers to merge.

Carol Niemi

77054

=====
From: Carol Parrish-Harra

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

to whom it may concern and I think it concerns all of us...perhaps not just the United States. Remember the internet and it being freely available helped to let people of different countries to reach out and discover freedom...Let us help to keep it free so this can be a tool for the rebuilding of the middle class of all countries. The newspapers are about gone, the televisions are run by controlling interests, and the internet now belongs to the people. Let us keep it that way. Sincerely, Carol E. Parrish Harra, Tahlequah, Ok. 74464

Carol Parrish-Harra

74464

=====
From: Carol Perolio

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Perolio

=====
From: Carol Phillips
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Phillips

=====
From: CAROL POWERS
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CAROL POWERS

=====
From: Carol Puzz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Puz

=====
From: Carol Rannow
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet needs to remain neutral. Without an even playing field the internet will fail. It should be treated as a utility and kept available to all. We don't need a caste system on the internet. Every one has become dependent on the internet, we need to improve it for all not just for some.

Time warner & Comcast Should NOT combine. We don't have enough competition as it is. Otherwise I would have kept telecable and chose another provider. There isn't enough choices to keep the prices affordable to all. I dropped it and will not go back. It's too expensive and doesn't allow enough options. To combine the two companies will reduce the competition. That has to be stopped.

Carol Rannow

53403

=====
From: Carol Rice
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

You have the power to help preserve our right to the internet...our right to freely communicate, to learn, to prosper. I plead with you to keep the internet neutral, safe from the money grabbing service providers.

Carol Rice

78213

=====
From: Carol Ruch
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Ruch

=====
From: carol ruth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

carol ruth

94305

=====
From: Carol Rutledge
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Rutledge

80013

=====
From: Carol Seekins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Seekins

99688

=====
From: Carol Slife
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carol Slife

=====

From: Carol Smerling
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Smerling

33433

=====

From: Carol Solecki
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I thought the internet was a public utility. Everyone should have equal access! Small businesses depend on good access to all information.

Carol Solecki

60172

=====

From: Carol Stoodly
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Mr. Wheeler, It is quite obvious, as sooo many corporate mergers are designed to end competition and raise the expense to the consumer. It has never cost consumers less. If Comcast and Time-Warner are willing to pay for the use of public properties to carry their cables without raising cost to consumers, then they wouldn't be considered a public utility. Since we all know that they are not willing to PAY, then these companies SHOULD be considered a PUBLIC UTILITY.

Carol Stoody

48001

=====
From: carol stott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carol stott

=====
From: Carol Wenz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Wenz

10010

=====
From: carol wild
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: FCC Should Hold Hearings Across the Country on Net Neutrality

To the FCC Commissioners

It has been more than five years since all five FCC commissioners left Washington, D.C., in an official capacity to hear how the agency's policies affect real people. The public is invested in the future of the Open Internet where there is equal access for all and no discrimination. The American public wants to have a voice in this debate. The public has provided more than one million comments, a record number of public comments, on the Open Internet rulemaking and prior to the rulemaking more than 03 million took action for Net Neutrality. The FCC was unable to handle all the phone calls it received from the public and the comments on the rulemaking crashed the FCC's system. Reclassification of the Internet so it is a public utility where there can be no discrimination is an issue where the public wants to be heard.

Give the public a real opportunity to meet with you face to face. Please schedule meetings in communities throughout the country before you vote on this plan.

--

carol wild xxxxx@xxxxx.xxx

=====
From: Carol Wyndham
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carol Wyndham

3458

=====
From: Carolyn Bergeron
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Bergeron

=====
From: Carolyn Brayshaw
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Brayshaw

From: Carolyn Brown
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Brown

From: Carolyn Clay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Clay

From: Carolynda Roose
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolynda Roose

=====
From: Carolyn Delatte
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Delatte

=====
From: Carolyn Dunn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

If we lose net neutrality - you will unleash an evil genie into the governmental, business, and political world - and this would make a few internet companies become so influential that they will be like a tail that wags the dog. History taught us to fight Trust - we cannot forget how the Anti trust laws improved America - do not go backwards.

Carolyn Dunn

40241

=====
From: Carolyn Gallagher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Gallagher

=====
From: Carolyn Gibbons
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Gibbons

=====
From: carolyn gist
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

With advancing technology, rights of the individual are more threatened than ever. Please do not put corporate interests above those of the people who ultimately pay for technology. Keep net neutral and away from corporate greed.No Content Found -- Please specify some content carolyn gist

23103

=====
From: Carol Yngve
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Stop this merger because if you don't they will take the internet from us. It needs to remain neutral. Comcast cannot run its business with consumers as it is fairly. We will be subject to increased payments for something they have no business claiming.

Carol Yngve

33186

=====
From: Carolyn Hall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Hall

=====
From: Carolyn Hamilton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Hamilton

=====
From: Carolyn Hanlon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net neutrality is very important to those of us who are not extremely wealthy (as in part of the 01%.) We have rights even though the wealthy and high percentage donors (the 01%) think we don't matter as much as they do. My accessing the internet should be as important as the wealthy people's access. Thank you for your consideration.

Carolyn Hanlon

44601

=====
From: Carolyn Henderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Henderson

=====
From: carolyn J Inman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

There comes a time in all of our lives when we have to "man- up" and stand for what is right! and I think "this is your time!" Are you not concerned about a "pay to Play" arrangement with Big telecom calling the shots?
preserve net neutrality!
Carolyn Inman

carolyn J Inman

37918

=====
From: Carolyn Keaney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Keaney

=====
From: Carolyn Mone
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carolyn Mone

94062

=====
From: Carolyn Morton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Morton

=====
From: Carolyn Page
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Page

=====

From: Carolyn Peterson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Peterson

=====

From: Carolyn Sanders
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I do not like Big Telecom asking for more money from our cable companies. Every year the cost keeps getting higher and higher even though we purchase just the very basic cable service. I oppose the Comcast/Time Warner merger, as TW is our cable supplier. As senior citizens living on a fixed income, we can't keep paying for higher fees each year.

The Internet helps me keep in touch with our granddaughter and great-grandbabies in Australia since we can no longer travel to such a distant country. Please keep net neutrality. Thank you.

Carolyn Sanders

53216

=====

From: Carolyn Seibold
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet thrives on availability. People of all economic levels benefit from it. Big-money corporations must not be allowed any kind of monopoly. The FCC is supposed to protect access for everyone, not sell out to the highest bidders.

Carolyn Seibold

40524

=====
From: Carolyn Strong
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Strong

=====
From: Carolyn Trovao
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carolyn Trovao

93722

=====
From: Carolyn Tygart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Tygart

=====

From: carolyn vanzlow
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carolyn vanzlow

=====

From: Carolyn Wright
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carolyn Wright

=====

From: Carrie Cunningham
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carrie Cunningham

=====
From: Carrie Domiano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carrie Domiano

=====
From: Carrie Gaitan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carrie Gaitan

=====
From: Carrie L. Cox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carrie L. Cox

=====
From: carrie mason
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carrie mason

=====
From: carrie miller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carrie miller

=====
From: Carrol Fowler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Carrol Fowler

23837

=====
From: carrol fowler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

carrol fowler

65669

=====
From: CARROLL CRIST
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CARROLL CRIST

=====
From: Carroll Neal
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carroll Neal

=====
From: carroll thurston
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, carroll thurston

=====
From: Carroll Towner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carroll Towner

=====
From: Carson Dean
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carson Dean

=====

From: Carson Hardy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Carson Hardy

=====

From: Carter Krevanko
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Net neutrality

Hello, this email is directed to whom ever reads it at the FCC

I am emailing you to let you know that what you are doing is wrong. You should feel sickened for being a part of this. You should hate yourself. I'm sure you're just "following orders" or "doing your job" but that's crap. You know deep down that this is wrong yet you go along with it anyways. Don't hide behind bullshit excuses. Don't sit back and aide the companies that are ruining this country. Stand the fuck up and be a man. Do something you can be proud of and be a useful part of this free nation or get the fuck out of it. Seriously get the fuck out of America. Hell I'm sure you have a rain Forrest to facilitate logging somewhere. You're no better than the person who let's rape happen or sells the date rape drug. You are facilitating and enabling the rape of the American people. Does it feel good? Thank you for your time and I'd love to hear from you.

Best wishes
Carter Krevanko
503-926-3122

=====

From: Caryl McAllister
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -

If the internet is not open, I will be disadvantaged because I don't have tons of money to pay for fast access. Why allow big corporations to make money at the expense of all the rest of us? Please vote to protect an open internet, available to all.

Caryl McAllister

53018

=====
From: Case Niehof
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Case Niehof

=====
From: casey fink
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, casey fink

=====
From: casey football
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, casey football

=====
From: Casey Villaverde
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Casey Villaverde

=====
From: casia Richardson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, casia Richardson

=====
From: Caslie Kirk
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Caslie Kirk

=====
From: Cassandra Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cassandra Johnson

=====
From: Cassandra Lamb
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cassandra Lamb

=====
From: Cassandra long
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cassandra long

=====
From: Cassandra Scanlon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cassandra Scanlon

60440

=====
From: Cassandra Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cassandra Smith

=====
From: Cassandra Woodley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cassandra Woodley

=====
From: Cassidy Hauer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cassidy Hauer

=====
From: Cassiopeia Meyer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cassiopeia Meyer

=====
From: Cassondra Jacobs
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Although Washington is saying the economy has improved, there are still millions out of work, who are struggling to survive. This just one more stumbling block in front of the food table, the utility bill, housing and what about gas for cars of those still looking for work.

GIVE US A BREAK! These companies are breaking our backs.

Cassondra Jacobs

46254

=====
From: Catalina Graziano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net neutrality is a vital part of using the internet- not just to support the economy through online retailers, but for students and scientists who need access to independent scientific journals. Not every piece of scientific literature is published by a big company, and as opposed to those big companies many of the articles and reports available though the independent sites are 100% free. Access to this is vital for researchers who don't get a lot of funding or are not affiliated with a university that is.

Making these sites slower will restrict access and slow down the scientific community.

Catalina Graziano

33040

=====
From: Catherine Basile
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Catherine Basile

44223

=====
From: catherine batcheller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Batcheller

=====
From: Catherine Bowerman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please protect net neutrality!

Catherine Bowerman

POX 1C0

=====
From: Catherine Cappello
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Cappello

=====
From: Catherine Cirocco
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Mr. Wheeler,

As an educator, I am very concerned with the possibility that the large telecommunication companies are trying to change the internet to favor those who can afford to pay high fees for preferred usage of the internet. It is now a public service available to all users regardless of their social and economic status. IT NEEDS TO STAY THAT WAY. Please consider the wishes of a majority of the American people who overwhelmingly want to maintain Net Neutrality. Thank You.
Catherine Cirocco

Catherine Cirocco

32159

=====
From: Catherine Clement
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a business owner who depends on a free and open internet, Net neutrality is important to me not only for my business, but also for me to stay informed and participate as an American and global citizen.

I urge you to support the reclassification of internet to a public telecommunications utility.

Sincerely,
Catherine Clement, LPC, SPHR

PO Box 1450
Kilauea, HI 96754

Catherine Clement

96754

=====
From: Catherine Concannon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Catherine Concannon

01721

From: Catherine Dash
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Catherine Dash

46613

=====
From: Catherine Escalante
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Don't be afraid. Speak out in favor of net neutrality.

Catherine Escalante

98465

=====
From: Catherine Gorman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Gorman

=====
From: catherine haney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, catherine haney

=====
From: Catherine Hayes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Hayes

=====
From: Catherine Healy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Healy

=====
From: catherine kamas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

catherine kamas

92683

=====
From: Catherine Klingel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Klingel

=====
From: Catherine Moore
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Moore

=====
From: Catherine Roberts
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please protect free access to information via an open internet. Senior citizens, the unemployed, and the youth of our nation must often find up-to-date information at a public library or a coffee shop. Corporations should not be allowed to control nor limit access. Every person of voting age, and those who will be voting in the future need the information necessary to make informed decisions. The founders of our nation believed this, and so do I, a teacher in the public schools of NM and TX for over 20 years.

Catherine Roberts

87507

=====
From: Catherine Rodriguez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
The internet belongs to everyone. Whether we live in a tent on the / Serengeti or in a tenement in the Bronx, we should be able to connect with each other. That connection is for all of us, not for just a select few.

Catherine Rodriguez

85080

=====
From: Catherine Ryan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Our tax dollars paid for the development of the internet. Since then we have paid dearly to companies line Comcast, Time Warner Cable and Verizon for access over the years, beginning when access and speed were agonizingly slow and coverage was spotty at best. Now that speeds are acceptably fast, no one person or organization should be privileged over any other for speed.

We have decried internet blockage in countries without the freedoms we enjoy in the US due to our rights under the First Amendment. These rights would be abridged if companies are allowed to block or prioritize content. Do not let this happen.

Finally, competition should be encouraged. The proposed merger of Comcast and Time Warner Cable should be denied, as it will move us farther along toward a monopoly. If there were more competition, neither one would still be in business based on customer satisfaction with their services.

Please preserve net neutrality and deny the Comcast/TWC merger.

Catherine Ryan

13076

=====
From: Catherine Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please opt for an open internet, free from cop rotate control. We do not need more censorship, nor does the public need another place where they can be squeezed for more money for a service. As a senior citizen, on a fixed budget, I would like the same opportunities to use the web as it has so far always been.

Catherine Smith

22407

=====
From: Catherine Snodgrass
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Snodgrass

=====
From: Catherine Thogmorton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please prove to us that there are still things that can't be bought. The Internet was created to share ideas and information, allowing people to choose what they want to see and what they do not. It was not meant to be a conduit for the very wealthy corporations to send their diet of pre-chosen food to cram down our throats.

Please don't politicize the web. It would be just one more step to taking away our democracy and our ability to think for ourselves. What a travesty that would be.

Cathy Thogmorton

Catherine Thogmorton

65248

=====
From: Catherine Thompson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The cornerstone of democracy is equal access to information. Allowing private for profit companies to control the speed at which information is provided undermines democracy. Net neutrality is essential to our very way of life and our core values as a nation.

Catherine Thompson

97201

=====
From: Catherine Todd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am concerned about the first amendment implications of prioritizing, blocking, or slowing down access to information on the internet. Keep the net neutral and free!

Catherine Todd

27565

=====
From: Catherine Ware
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Catherine Ware

=====
From: Catherine Zeiser
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Catherine Zeiser

12545

=====
From: Cathie Donahue
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Protect open internet now and forever, don't commercialize the internet.

Open internet is good for small business and citizens for democracy.

Cathie Donahue

95117

=====
From: Cathy Blakley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net neutrality is very important to me. I am a small business owner trying to expand my business through the internet. It is tough enough to compete with the "big boys" in a world economy and survive. An open and unblocked internet represents the last real venue for Free Speech for all businesses, both small and large and for individuals. I implore you to leave the internet open and available to all on an equal basis. It is the only path that will allow new businesses to grow and small businesses to flourish. The Internet was founded for free and unrestrained exchange of information. It should remain that way. Corporations control too much in the market place, in our government and in our personal lives. Our country was founded and constantly tells the world that freedom and competition are the way, but in the USA corporations are taking over everything including our government and destroying the "American Way". Protect the Constitution, our freedom of speech and the American Way by protecting Net Neutrality. Our men and women have fought and died all over the world to protect our freedoms, Net Neutrality (Freedom of Speech) is one of them. You should protect it as hard as they have.

Cathy Blakley

27105

=====
From: Cathy Bowman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cathy Bowman

=====
From: Cathy Burns-McDonald
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

To FCC Chairman Wheeler-

Please protect and preserve net neutrality. In doing so you will protect Democracy in the United States of America. Giving an unfair advantage to those who can pay more will marginalize most Americans - the people of " We the people...". Please do not take away the American people's access to information and a voice in our Democracy. Thank you for your attention.

-Cathy Burns-McDonald

Cathy Burns-McDonald

10463

=====
From: cathy cook
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cathy cook

=====
From: Cathy Cretser
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am a retired teacher (math, calculus, . . .). As an educator, I know that all children (and adults) deserve equal access to the internet. In today's high tech world, everybody needs and deserves quality access and speed on the internet.

I live 10 miles from the nearest town. For many years, I did not have any access to high speed internet. I had to wait until I went to work to be able to efficiently use a computer. By taking away equal access you would be essentially putting me back to that same situation . . . poor quality access.

Make the internet fair and impartial. Keep it the same for ALL users.

Cathy Cretser

95688

=====
From: Cathy Dadds
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

money should not buy the right to have equal access to the internet.

Cathy Dadds

08059

=====
From: cathy dear
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cathy dear

=====
From: cathy dostal
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

cathy dostal

52241

=====
From: Cathy Guilford
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cathy Guilford

=====
From: Cathy Neher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cathy Neher

=====
From: Cathy Rowe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I'm a 60 year old, disabled woman who lives alone. I have no transportation & rely heavily on the Internet for nearly all my needs. It's how I pay my bills & order things I need that I can't get to the stores to purchase. It's how I get information of the world around me, & stay connected with friends & family. I'm living on the lower end of the poverty level, barely able to pay my bills & doing without many of life's necessities. To take the availability of the Internet away from me would degrade my life even further.

- To those who have no concern for the disabled or elderly, how about the children? The Internet has become the 'information highway' they depend upon for their studies & research for credited school projects which can often be as much as 25% of their grade for that semester. Taking away the Internet as we know it today would put the already seriously disadvantaged at greater peril.

- Please don't jeopardize the the poor to middle income for the sake of large corporations by handing the Internet over to them. This is America, please keep it free.

Cathy Rowe

21921

=====
From: cathy rowe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cathy rowe

=====
From: Cathy Scott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The net should be fair to all... free!!!!

Cathy Scott

98112

=====
From: Cathy Steen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cathy Steen

=====
From: Cathy Upton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cathy Upton

=====
From: Cathy Urrata
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cathy Urrata

=====
From: catillion booker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, catillion booker

=====
From: catina minor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, catina minor

=====
From: Cat Jefferson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

If Net Neutrality is not kept, it is going to make it not worth having internet service. I pay for high speed internet speeds from my service provider. If Net Neutrality is not kept as it is, the money I pay for speed will be akin to throwing my money into the trash can. Think about it. If my provider is allowed to throttle down the loading speeds or the streaming speeds of the sites I choose to visit and use, why should I have to pay for speed I will no longer be getting? I depend on the internet for 99% of my communications needs, business needs and entertainment desires. This proposal not only is bad for internet companies but it is bad for we, the individuals who pay our ISPs for speed. Please do not that happen.

I also believe that this, if it is approved, violates first amendment rights. I do not believe that my ISP should have the right to block my access or slow speeds to a point that I can't access the information I need or want, simply because someone else can't or won't pay to have their information or service available.

Cat Jefferson

92120

=====
From: Ca[t Paul
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ca[t Paul

=====
From: Cawthon Hester
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cawthon Hester

=====
From: Cay Shreckengost
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cay Shreckengost

=====
From: Cecil Adams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cecil Adams

=====
From: Cecil Brett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cecil Brett

=====
From: Cecile Ferrell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cecile Ferrell

99901

=====
From: Cecile Skaggs
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cecile Skaggs

=====
From: Cecil Gabriel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cecil Gabriel

97230

=====
From: Cecil Hodgson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cecil Hodgson

=====
From: Cecilia A. Berry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cecilia A. Berry

14420

=====
From: Cecilia Lieder
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net Neutrality is vitally important to me as a free citizen of the country that initiated modern democracy. Ending net neutrality is not merely an attempt to rake in more profits. It is specifically targeted towards limiting the uses that the greatest number of people on the planet - the 99% - can use to rebel against illegal, unfair, or totalitarian practices by their governments and the corporations who are increasingly controlling them. That's why this becomes really personal for me. Our voting process and our media are already being completely sabotaged by Big Money and voter fraud with the help of our Supreme Court, no less and our options for other kinds of power (earning a decent wage, for instance) have been just about snuffed out just like the unions. Education that might enable us to enter the higher levels of the workforce has morphed into an enormous debt which we must spend our entire working lives paying off (tying us to the jobs we may or may not be able to find), and... well, the list goes on. Net Neutrality has enabled us to gather forces and information and yes, to rebel. Effectively. That's why it's being targeted for extinction. Please - if you believe in the principles of democracy and our citizen's rights in the Constitution, stop this travesty of our rights NOW, AND PERMANENTLY: regulate it as a public utility.

Cecilia Lieder

55805

=====
From: cecilia ramirez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cecilia ramirez

=====
From: Cecil Rich
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cecil Rich

=====
From: Cecily Kumor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cecily Kumor

=====
From: Cecyl Favarote
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cecyl Favarote

=====
From: Cecyl Ivie
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a 77 year old woman with an extemely limited budget. I have bad arthritis in hips and knees and am on second floor. It is a lifeline to me to be able to have free internet in order to get the help I need when I need it. Walking and carrying supplies are very difficult for me. At least, with free internet, I am able to survive. PLEASE leave the INTERNET FREE. It means life or death to some people, especially Seniors!

Cecyl Ivie

20036

=====
From: celeste ortiz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, celeste ortiz

=====
From: Celeste Unfred
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Celeste Unfred

=====
From: Celia Okelley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I depend on the internet to make my living. I am an artist doing business through the internet. I have a small website, but I started a shop on Etsy, a large art and craft hosting website. It is huge, so to be seen I need the internet to load quickly. If it is too slow customers may give up before even seeing my shop or my work, or give up on trying to buy anything. I need this market and I need it to work for me just as much as a huge company with lots of money needs it to work for them. Do not slow down this avenue for marketing my work and making a living just because I don't have the big bucks to control the internet speed for myself and others. Keep the internet neutral for all, big and small, rich and poor.

Thanks,
Celia O'Kelley
CeliaOKelleyJewelry (my shop on Etsy, so you can see what I make)

Celia Okelley

35401

=====
From: Celine Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Tom, your avoidance of comments is not making us feel warm and fuzzy about your stance on this issue. Are you just putting us off to avoid more protests before you dump on us?

Thank you for giving us some help here.

Celine Davis

97224

=====
From: Centro REDES - Unidad Asociada al CONICET
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: PreservaciÃ³n de la memoria audiovisual - CapacitaciÃ³n a distancia

HYPERLINK "<http://goo.gl/cnctGZ>"Centro REDES
Unidad Asociada al CONICET

HYPERLINK "<http://goo.gl/McEUmE>"
Curso de capacitaciÃ³n en preservaciÃ³n de la memoria audiovisual

Una propuesta para el anÃ¡lisis de las elaboraciones temÃ¡ticas de las obras audiovisuales con el propÃ³sito de clasificaciÃ³n y preservaciÃ³n de contenidos.

HYPERLINK "<http://goo.gl/MzrC6x>"
CURSOS VIRTUALES
para toda IberoamÃ©rica
Â

ABIERTA LA INSCRIPCIÃ\223N 2014

HYPERLINK "<http://goo.gl/MzrC6x>"ConsultÃ¡ nuestra AGENDA DE CURSOS

EstadÃ-stica - CTS - EducaciÃ³n - Sociedad - FormaciÃ³n para la difusiÃ³n de contenidos cientÃ-ficos

HYPERLINK "<http://goo.gl/McEUmE>"INICIO DEL CURSOÂ
HYPERLINK "<http://goo.gl/McEUmE>"
9 DEÂ SEPTIEMBREÂ DE 2014

HYPERLINK "<http://goo.gl/McEUmE>"Â <<< Clases teÃ³ricas y prÃ¡cticas >>>
Seguinos en HYPERLINK "<https://www.facebook.com/pages/Cursos-Redes/224851350946514>"
FacebookHYPERLINK "<https://twitter.com/RedesCursos>"
Twitter<https://twitter.com/RedesCursos>

Â <https://twitter.com/RedesCursos> Inscribite HYPERLINK "<http://goo.gl/McEUmE>" aquÃ- o envianos tu consulta a HYPERLINK "mailto: xxxx@xxxx.xxx"Â xxxx@xxxx.xxx

MÃs informaciÃ³n y contacto para los cursos del Centro REDES: HYPERLINK "mailto: xxxx@xxxx.xxx" xxxx@xxxx.xxx

Lunes a viernes de 10 a 16 hs. - Mansilla 2698 piso 02Â° - CABA

Para dejar de recibir estos correos escribinosÂ al mail de cursosÂ con el subjet:
desuscribime
Â Â

=====

From: c g
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Use Title II authority to promote broadband expansion and to prevent Big Telecom from creating fast and slow lanes on the internet.

Reject the Comcast Time Warner merger. If you want to promote competition, you donâ\200\231t allow 02 of the 04 national broadband providers to merge.

c g

92122

=====
From: C. Giffuni
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

C. Giffuni

10016

=====
From: C. Gribble
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

C. Gribble

53207

=====
From: Chad Ashburn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chad Ashburn

=====
From: Chad Cooper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chad Cooper

=====
From: chad cox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chad cox

=====
From: Chad Doolittle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chad Doolittle

=====

From: Chad Jackson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chad Jackson

=====

From: Chad Landry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chad Landry

=====

From: Chad Schultz

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chad Schultz

=====
From: chaitanya kumar tumuluri
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chaitanya kumar tumuluri

=====
From: chaka Bates
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chaka Bates

=====

From: Chamein Canton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The First Amendment gives us the right to FREE SPEECH. People are free to express through speaking or writing. However, no one has the right to yell fire in a movie theater.

The Internet, while not new, is a different forum for speech and commerce. It's a truly level playing field with net neutrality. I am concerned that the big boys, who already have enough money and clout, want to put a price to play a/k/a speak in the virtual net world. Well, there was this President, who was a Republican, but by today's standards would likely be a Democrat and Liberal and a Progressive, President Theodore Roosevelt. He was presented with the same type of situation in the form of Standard Oil and John D Rockefeller, at one time the richest man in America. He bought his competition out to hold a monopoly on oil/kerosene. The Court deemed it unconstitutional and he was forced to release his stranglehold. More recently there was Ma Bell, which has proliferated into many different telephone and telecommunications companies.

The bottom line is if you take net neutrality away in an economy where deep pockets are allowed to donate enormous sums of money anonymously to their guy or gal (in their party) to win elections and do their bidding, it will cause the average Joe or Jane to revolt against them. We paid a lot to have Internet service along with television and phone already. What reason could they possibly have to push this through except unmitigated greed.

Keep the net neutral. This isn't the Wild West in the 1800's. It's the Twenty-first century. When it's high noon, I along with many others expect the FCC to act in accordance with the people's will.

Chamein Canton

11701

=====
From: Chamontae Perez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chamontae Perez

=====

From: Chanda Casares
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chanda Casares

=====
From: Chandler Rowe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chandler Rowe

=====
From: CHANDOS CALDWELL
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Internet belongs to the people, as it was designed to be. The FCC has the authority to maintain it so, as a function of the 1934 Telecommunications Act. While corporations can, all too often, buy corruption of agencies in the interest of their profitability, the FCC is designated to keep net neutrality and to protect this people's valuable resource.

CHANDOS CALDWELL

08816

=====

From: Chan Lam
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Don't let the rich and big business control the internet.

Chan Lam

29464

=====
From: chantalle cooper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chantalle cooper

=====
From: chanta smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chanta smith

=====
From: chaquita scott

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chaquita scott

=====

From: C Harding
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is not a luxury service, everyone needs equal access at equal quality. Other nations, nations like Portugal whose economy is far less well off than ours (as weak as ours might be) have internet cheaper and better than ANYTHING in the US right now. Every first world nation has internet options cheaper and faster than what we have. This is unacceptable. ISPs need to improve their networks and don't want to invest in doing so. The hope by throttling traffic and playing favorites they can pass costs onto consumers. They are insanely profitable, they have the means to improve and should so our internet is no longer in the middle of the pack.

We control our water, gas and electric...we know we can't play favorites with those, those are things required to live in a civilized country for all people. The internet is now a part of that list of utilities.

C Harding

85331

=====

From: Charissa Murray
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear FCC Chairmen,

I urge you to protect Net Neutrality. I am a certified health coach who runs health and wellness programs on-line. Blogging is a big part of my marketing. Clients find me through internet searches on health topics of concern. I can't afford to pay for my business to receive priority in internet searches. I am sure there are many businesses in the same boat. Without Net Neutrality, there is no even playing field. Changing the rules will unfairly affect entrepreneurial endeavors in favor of the wealthy.

As a sole proprietor, my business would suffer greatly if big companies can buy their way to the top of internet searches. I purchase lots of goods on-line. I already notice paid advertisements getting top billing when I search.

Again, I urge you to do the right thing for all citizens of this great country, not the ones who are lobbying with big wallets for preferential treatment.

Sincerely,

Charissa Murray, BA, CHC

Charissa Murray

7470

=====
From: Charity Cariquitan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charity Cariquitan

=====
From: Charity Moschopoulos
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

How many times do we need to let you know that we want the Net to remain neutral?? We do!

Charity Moschopoulos

22003

=====
From: Charity Wilfred
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charity Wilfred

=====

From: Charlene Charlene
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlene Charlene

=====

From: Charlene Davila
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlene Davila

=====

From: charlene estrada
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charlene estrada

=====
From: Charlene Finch
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlene Finch

=====
From: charlene nash
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

it is time an agency stood up for the public good. charging more for certain content or slowing speeds for researchers needing many websites isn't helping the consumer. why in this country is government also selling out to the highest bidder against the people who actually pay their salaries? I guess because big business pays more.

charlene nash

37401

=====
From: Charlene Robinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlene Robinson

=====
From: Charlene Simard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlene Simard

=====
From: Charles A Baird Sr
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles A Baird Sr

From: Charles Abbitt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Abbitt

=====

From: Charles Abbott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Abbott

01604

=====

From: Charles Aiken
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Aiken

=====

From: charles anderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

charles anderson

78666

=====
From: Charles and June Dunn

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles and June Dunn

19607

=====
From: Charles and Kathleen Brotherton

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles and Kathleen Brotherton

=====
From: Charles and Wynona Carter

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles and Wynona Carter

=====

From: Charles A. Shibilia
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles A. Shibilia

=====

From: Charles Ayers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Ayers

=====

From: Charles Bateman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net Neutrality is important. Equal access to the net should not end. It is a public service or should be.

Charles Bateman

14850

=====
From: Charles Bates
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Bates

=====
From: Charles Beason
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Beason

=====
From: Charles Bennis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Bennis

=====

From: Charles Borg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Borg

33414

=====

From: Charles Bowen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Bowen

=====

From: Charles Boyington
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Boyington

37206

=====
From: Charles Brammer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Brammer

33764

=====
From: Charles Brobst
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a YouTube viewer and online gamer who depends on the internet to stay in touch with news and family. Net Neutrality is enshrined within our Constitution as free speech and a free press. Allowing corporations to control the content or speed of our internet will hamper my God giving rights as an American to be informed and to express my opinion, such as I am now by petitioning the government against grievances. I am also concerned about the increase in costs. I now pay over $64 a month just for internet, and a Time Warner/Comcast merger will only increase that. Additionally customer service is already almost non-existent, I had to take a day off from work to replace THEIR modem after THEIR modem had failed, they refused to come to my home and even then they only gave me an old one. Moreover, internet speed has progressively slowed over the years in spite of improved computers and browsers. Internet has become the Free Speech of the 21st century. Service providers should be regulated as the utilities that they are. I have no more competitive choice in my ISP than I do in my water, sewer, garbage pickup or electricity provider. It's our right as Americans to have modern facilities.

Charles Brobst

13905

=====
From: Charles Burgner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Stop the games. Net Neutrality for ALL !!!

Charles Burgner

52807

=====
From: Charles Burrell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Burrell

=====
From: charles butler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles butler

=====
From: Charles Cady
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Cady

=====

From: Charles Casper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Casper

13160

=====

From: Charles Casper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Casper

20817

=====

From: Charles Charles
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Charles

=====
From: Charles Clawson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Clawson

=====
From: Charles Cook
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Please don't restrict my internet.

Charles Cook

78639

=====
From: Charles Cook
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Cook

=====

From: Charles Coyner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Coyner

=====

From: Charles C Whiteaker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles C Whiteaker

=====

From: Charles Dailey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Can the little guy get a break? I'm tired of feeling raped by big business's and politicians allowing it to happen

Charles Dailey

43227

=====

From: charles davidson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

If you are trying to create competition as a means of providing universal internet coverage, IMHO you are going against the existing structure which in essence gives a monopolistic advantage to the current few providers.

Creating a fast more expensive internet channel will, i believe have deleterious effects on internet creativity, usage, and provider and user costs. At a ime when the internet is becoming a necessity for businesses and individuals, you will retard its utility. So, plesae call it what it is, a public utility, and regulate it like the telephone lines were where everyone had universal single price coverage, i.e., gave it Title II common carrier status. Or, you will be remembered in a way opposite to Al Gore, i.e., the people and specifally Mr. Wheeler, as the people and the man who destroyed the universal tool that the economy and users need.

charles davidson

07748

=====
From: Charles Dawson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Dawson

=====
From: Charles Denton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Denton

=====
From: Charles Dickey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I run a small online business. Right now the only reason I can compete against bigger business than mine is because we are all equal on the internet. If I had to pay more money than I do now just to compete, I would probably go out of business. Having equality on the internet is the very foundation of our modern economy. This is where the innovators can market and test new ideas to create new businesses without being stifled by the large corporations who often try to stifle innovation to protect their older businesses. A multi tiered internet would be a threat to our entire economy as so many millions of Americans derive income through various means by using the internet.

In addition the internet is where there is a free exchange of ideas, news and information. which are critical to the survival of our democracy. To allow those with the most money to control the information would be a huge threat to this country.

Charles Dickey

78723

=====
From: Charles Donnelly
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Donnelly

=====
From: Charles Dorsey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please use Title II common carrier status to protect net neutrality and make the internet a public utility available to all. Please deny the proposed mega-merger of Comcast and Time Warner. The recent outage at Time Warner Cable deprived millions of service. A merger of the two cable giants would create a heavier burden on the pocket books of the consumer. The price of cable service would rise to unbelievable heights if you approve the Comcast and Time Warner Cable merger. It is time the FCC stands up for the consumer by doing the right thing. Create unbiased net neutrality and block the merger proposal.

Charles Dorsey

91505

=====
From: charles E. king
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

charles E. king

15901

=====
From: Charles Ewing
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Ewing

=====
From: Charles Farney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Farney

=====
From: Charles Firth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Firth

=====
From: Charles Fletcher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Fletcher

=====
From: Charles Frasher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Frasher

=====
From: Charles Freeman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Freeman

=====
From: Charles French
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet should be a public utility. No organization or person should be sble to block or impede the flow of information. If powerful organizations or persons are allowed to dominate the internet then only information they approve of will be allowed to be seen. The Net should be a neutral zone where all information and opinions are allowed to be heard and judged by the public.

Charles French

73443

=====
From: Charles Gaches
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Gaches

73010

=====
From: Charles Gaffney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Gaffney

=====
From: Charles Garske
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Garske

=====
From: Charles Gilbert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Gilbert

=====
From: Charles Graham
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Graham

=====
From: Charles Gray
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Gray

=====
From: charles guard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles guard

=====
From: Charles Halterman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Halterman

=====
From: CHARLES HANEY
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CHARLES HANEY

=====
From: Charles Happel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Happel

46224

=====

From: Charles Harris

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Harris

28152

=====

From: Charles Harrison

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Harrison

=====

From: charles hawthorne

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles hawthorne

=====

From: Charles Hickey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Foun

hello I'm just a concerced citizen that uses the internet on a daily basis . I am happy the way it is . Please leave the internet be as it is now . Big corparations have money and think of only how much more can they make , this is the wrong attitude . Keep it free and the same for everyone .

Thank you Charles Hickeyd -- Please specify some content

Charles Hickey

01420

=====

From: Charles Hoisington
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

NI depend on the internet to seek help for medical issues and many other things.

It is important that the net be available for all. Restricting it in order to make more profits for the big companies is a reverse Robin Hood. Such regulation must be avoided.

Charles Hoisington

43214

=====

From: Charles Howe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Keep the internet free. Leave it alone.

Charles Howe

=====
From: Charles Hunter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Hunter

=====
From: Charles Iwanusa
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is the greatest advancement in communication in history to date. It should not become a vehicle for profit-taking by major corporations. It should not become a two-tiered system for those who can afford to pay for high speed access and those who cannot. It holds the promise to provide equal opportunity education to every citizen in our society - the same promise that television had at its emergence in the 1950s. Unfortunately, the corporate takeover of television and the subsequent profit-taking has made it a banal wasteland, robbing it of its true potential and promise.

Let's not go down the same path with the internet. As a culture, we deserve better.

Charles Iwanusa

48503

=====
From: charles jenkins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

charles jenkins

=====

From: Charles Karam
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Karam

=====

From: Charles Keating
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

An internet that is not accessible to all in a neutral manner and speed is one that does not support core democracy.

Charles Keating

33761

=====

From: Charles Keller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Keller

=====
From: Charles Kennedy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Kennedy

=====
From: Charles K Hof
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Some times profit should not be the sole reason to do something. For a few the loss of is financially beneficial but in the process harm the many. I think it is time for the FCC to Do The Right Thing, lay down the law that the internet is a utility and not a luxury.

Charles K Hof

97217

=====
From: Charles Kitchens
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Kitchens

=====
From: charles Kuhlman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles Kuhlman

=====
From: Charles Kusler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Kusler

=====
From: Charles LaVenture
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles LaVenture

70119

=====
From: Charles Lehman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am concerned that big cable companies will limit the fastest speeds to the companies that pay the most money to the cable companies. All Internet users should have equal access without regard to how much they pay.

Charles Lehman

99204

=====
From: Charles Levy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net neutrality is the new frontier of democracy. It is critical to maintain equal access to equal services for all.

Charles Levy

32607

=====
From: Charles Levy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Levy

60619

=====
From: Charles Lucas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The security of the internet is not important enough to give up our Constitutional rights. The internet is an open media and as such it would be impossible to secure without interfering with all the aspects that make fluid and a free media.

The internet should be owned and controlled by it's consumers only. Illegal activity and spying are easy enough to handle when the right people are involved. The internet will remain solvent, active and neutral if we leave it alone. Yes there are some issues that must be addressed ; such as illegal or morally wrong things like child porn and better means of proof of age. The users should police the net and complain to companies that are doing offensive or illegal things. As an example if you see that a company is selling assault rifles you should have a number to call to get the issue taken care of .

Charles Lucas

14898

=====
From: Charles Luce
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Luce

96778

=====
From: Charles Lussier
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Lussier

=====
From: Charles & Marsha Eisenhuth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles & Marsha Eisenhuth

=====

From: Charles Marshall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Marshall

=====

From: charles martin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

charles martin

34698

=====

From: Charles Masterson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some contentment . Hey Tom did you not get the message? We want net neutrality we do not want telecom to control the net. We the people have had free internet for all these years and suddenly big old Telecom comes along and wants it all of a sudden so it can charge us for using it please stop this take over speak up for us. Are you scared of them or do you want us to just think you are with us. Work with us herÃ". Ok FCC we want net neutrality. We are emploring you mr Wheeling to keen our internet free. Please save our internet.

Charles Masterson

40037

=====
From: Charles Masterson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content net neutrality. Please give us net neutrality we sure do not need AT&T, Comcast, Verizon, and Time Warner taking over the internet. We the people want it kept free as it is now we don't want or need to have it like everything else controlled by big business. Is nothing sacred anymore let the FCC know that I want it left free.

Charles Masterson

40037

=====
From: charles mccullion
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: FCC Should Hold Hearings Across the Country on Net Neutrality

To the FCC Commissioners

It has been more than five years since all five FCC commissioners left Washington, D.C., in an official capacity to hear how the agencyâ\200\231s policies affect real people. The public is invested in the future of the Open Internet where there is equal access for all and no discrimination. The American public wants to have a voice in this debate. The public has provided more than one million comments, a record number of public comments, on the Open Internet rulemaking and prior to the rulemaking more than 03 million took action for Net Neutrality. The FCC was unable to handle all the phone calls it received from the public and the comments on the rulemaking crashed the FCC's system. Reclassification of the Internet so it is a public utility where there can be no discrimination is an issue where the public wants to be heard.

Give the public a real opportunity to meet with you face to face. Please schedule meetings in communities throughout the country before you vote on this plan.

--
charles mccullion
xxxx@xxxx.xxx

=====
From: Charles McLean
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles McLean

=====
From: Charles McPhate
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles McPhate

=====
From: Charles McWilliams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles McWilliams

=====
From: Charles Meeks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I like the way things are now, do not change it.

Charles Meeks

38018

=====
From: charles metz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles metz

=====
From: Charles Molnar
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Molnar

=====
From: Charles Morgan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Morgan

71251

=====
From: Charles Page
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

You cannot take away Net Neutrality! This would be so wrong on many different levels. FCC do not let these big corporations take away your ability to see right from wrong. Please?

Charles Page

94945

=====
From: Charles Peay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Peay

=====
From: CHARLES PEDROTTA
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CHARLES PEDROTTA

=====
From: Charles Pendleton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I have always thought an even playing field is vital to the health of capitalism. Without it, competition is lost and citizen's suffer diminishments in efficiency and increases in cost. A wealth of innovation has been generated by the internet, and this country needs all the jobs that new businesses offer. Please keep the status quo.

Charles Pendleton

06412

=====
From: charles pereira jr.
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles pereira jr.

=====
From: Charles Pierce
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
FASCISM OR COMPETITION FOR THE PEOPLE.

THAT QUESTION WAS ANSWERED IN WWII WITH MANY DEATHS OF AMERICANS.

LAWS HAVE BEEN WRITTEN AGAINST MONOPOLIES, YET YOU APPEAR TO BE THINKING OF ALLOWING
TWO CURRENT MONOPOLIES TO FORM AN EVEN LARGER MONOPOLY. SHOULD YOU ALLOW THIS WE ARE READY TO SEEK PROOF YOU ARE TAKING MONEY WHICH SHOULD RESERVE SOME PRISON TIME FOR YOU.

ASK 1000 PEOPLE IN MY COUNTY. THEY WILL GIVE YOU AN IMMEDIATE ANSWER; AND IT WILL BE AGAINST SUCH A MERGER. TIME WARNER CURRENTLY WANTS OVER $200 A MONTH FROM ME. TIER
IV WITH 18 YEARS OF CREDITED SPECIAL ED. TEACHING IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS GIVES ME $88 A MONTH...NOT A TYPO. TIME WARNERS SERVICES ARE SPOTTY. THEIR EQUIPMENT IS JUNK (05 SET TOP BOXES IN A LITTLE OVER A YEAR.) TURN IT IN AND THEY GIVE IT TO THE NEXT SCAMMED CUSTOMER.

DON'T YOU HAVE ANY VALUES?

Charles Pierce

13825

=====
From: Charles Pietri
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge
of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re
enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,
I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf
for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government
didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Pietri

=====
From: Charles Plumery
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge
of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re
enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,
I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf
for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government
didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Plumery

=====
From: Charles Porter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I'm an investor. I depend on being able to make fast and efficient trades for my retirement income. I don't want to wake up some morning at 09:25 EST and find out that I have to wait for my portfolio while someone downloads a movie. The Internet should already work better than it does and it darn well should work the same for everybody.

Charles Porter

28540

=====
From: charles powell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles powell

=====
From: Charles Powell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: Do Not Regulate the Internet

This would be Â just one more step to follow other dictatorial countries.Â
Â
CP

On Friday, September 05, 2014 10:25 PM, OpenInternet < xxxx@xxxx.xxx> wrote:

Thank you, we have received your comments and will review them.

=====
From: Charles Price
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net neutrality helps insure we stay on SLIGHTLY even footing with those other people -- corporations -- and have an equal chance to benefit from the Internet in a equal manner getting access to equal information.

It is a huge issue valuable to insure our continuing freedom as a democratic people.

Charles Price

96025

=====
From: Charles Price
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Price

=====
From: Charles 'Ray' Cram Sr.
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles 'Ray' Cram Sr.

=====
From: Charles Reavis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Reavis

13744

=====
From: Charles Robbins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Robbins

=====
From: Charles Robinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Robinson

71119

From: charles rohr
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles rohr

=====
From: charles Rose
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles Rose

=====
From: Charles Ryle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Ryle

=====
From: Charles Saltzman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Saltzman

=====
From: Charles Schien
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charles Schien

72904

=====
From: Charles Schneider
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Schneider

=====

From: charles searles
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles searles

=====

From: charles shearer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles shearer

=====

From: Charles Shotwell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Shotwell

=====

From: Charles Sisson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Sisson

=====

From: CHARLES SMITH
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CHARLES SMITH

=====

From: Charles Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Smith

=====
From: charles sperling
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

charles sperling

11354

=====
From: charles stewart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles stewart

=====
From: Charles Stogner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Stogner

=====

From: Charles & Susan Garmhausen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles & Susan Garmhausen

=====

From: Charles Swisher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

You must keep the internet open and free to all. Do not let the big telecom companies rule the roost. Think about THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE!

Sincerely,

Charles Swisher
Lauderhill, FL

Charles Swisher

33319

=====

From: Charles Talbert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Talbert

=====

From: Charles Taylor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Taylor

=====

From: charles T. cavanaugh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles T. cavanaugh

=====

From: Charles Thibodeaux
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Thibodeaux

=====
From: Charles Torkko
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Torkko

=====
From: Charles Vail
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Vail

=====
From: charles waite
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles waite

=====
From: Charles Waite
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Waite

=====
From: charles waskey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles waskey

=====
From: Charles W. Dingus
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles W. Dingus

=====

From: Charles Weitz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Weitz

=====

From: charles wensman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

As a former lobbyist, do you think Comcast should be able to extort higher fees from Netflix?

Charles Wensman
Minneapolis Minnesota

charles wensman

55406

=====

From: Charles Wheeler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Wheeler

=====

From: Charles Wilcox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Wilcox

=====

From: Charles Wilfong
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charles Wilfong

=====

From: Charles Wolfe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -
Maintain Net Neutrality as it is right now, don't change anything.

Charles Wolfe

21716

=====
From: charles young
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charles young

=====
From: Charley Miller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Please maintain net neutrality for all citizens. Do not allow monied interest to gain control of net speed and access. Be a trust buster and stop the Time Warner - Comcast monopoly.

Charley Miller

92647

=====
From: Charlie Burns
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charlie Burns

06850

=====
From: Charlie Conover
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Chairman Wheeler,

I have been encouraged to write this message of citizen's protest and user's anxiety to express, in "unique" and "original" terms, why the issue of real net neutrality is significant to ME, how the FCC's full-throated assertion of its proper authority under Title II and its rejection of the Comcast/Time Warner merger are matters of great personal concern for ME. I would be happy to do so, and hope that you will have received (and read carefully) many thousand such emails. For contrast and variety's sake, however, I'd like instead to suggest why these questions might well (and ought to) personally matter to YOU. I don't for a moment imagine that what follows will sound unfamiliar, and I intend no condescension; but all too often, perception is reality, and always actions speak louder than words.

Your considerable experience in telecommunications with the NCTA and the CTIA was no doubt among the the most important reasons that President Obama nominated you for the position to which you were confirmed (on my birthday) last year. It is, therefore, precisely BECAUSE you were for so many years an influential lobbyist for the industry you are now charged to regulate that you MUST rise above its desires and commercial self-interest. Having once been its voice, you now must make clear that you are no longer its creature. Only forceful and independent action in service of the common good can demonstrate the merits of your leadership and the wisdom of the President's choice.

Thank you for your attention.

Charlie Conover

23322

=====
From: Charlie Piozet
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlie Piozet

=====
From: Charlie Pool
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlie Pool

=====
From: charlie tesch
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Remember government "of the people, by the people, and for the people?" That absolutely depends on open communication among the people. That's why the First Amendment was first: the independent press was the main form of communication at that time and unrestricted information flow was considered the most important PREREQUISITE for a democratic society.

Now it is the Internet that plays that role and the same principle applies. Keeping the Internet unobstructed is vital to keeping this great experiment in community governance alive.

Don't sell out Thomas Jefferson and all the others who created this marvelous system so that a miniscule minority can substitute themselves for the King George that we rebelled against so long ago.

charlie tesch

02144

=====
From: Charline B
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charline B

07430

=====
From: charlotte Reazin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charlotte Reazin

=====
From: Charlotte Amspacher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlotte Amspacher

=====
From: Charlotte Doyle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charlotte Doyle

=====
From: Charlotte Hammons
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlotte Hammons

=====
From: Charlotte Hunter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Charlotte Hunter

06268

=====
From: charlotte Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, charlotte Johnson

=====
From: Charlotte Lister
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No The internet was developed by the US as arpanet. As such it should be for the people of the US. This attempt to end net neutrality is a power grab. Do not allow this.

Charlotte Lister

03036

=====
From: Charlotte Raugh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlotte Raugh

=====
From: Charlotte Reagan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Charlotte Reagan

=====
From: Charlotte Shnaider
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet is a public utility and needs to be available to everyone.

Charlotte Shnaider

24401

=====
From: Charlotte Sines
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net Neutrality is vital to maintain the Free Speech that our country is famous for. The people should have the right to look at any content they want without restrictions of any kind. Big telecom companies should never be able to restrict, in any way, the Internet and our ability to access it. The people's right to free speech and unrestricted access to the Internet should not have to take second place to any companies ability to make larger profits off the public. They are making record profits now and they are being greedy and this will backfire on them.

I use the Internet to access news and find out what is going on in the world. An informed people is vital to the advancement of a country and to make sure its leaders are serving the people and not just themselves. If telecom companies are able to block content to certain information it could lead to abuses of all types. The public would be left out and transparency would be non-existent. I am not being melodramatic. Look at what is happening now in different countries. America is the land of the free and that needs to include our ability to access the Internet without restrictions.

Charlotte Sines

80907

=====
From: Charmaine Foltz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

This is too important and Japan and Europe are striding far ahead of the US. Keep Net Neutrality AND build more infrastructure instead of selling off what exists.

Charmaine Foltz

20910

=====
From: Chase Hutchinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chase Hutchinson

83340

=====
From: Chase Stewart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chase Stewart

=====
From: Chasity Ahlqvist
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chasity Ahlqvist

=====

From: chasity fisher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chasity fisher

=====

From: Chas.& Judy Earmheart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chas.& Judy Earmheart

=====

From: Chauncey Crowell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chauncey Crowell

=====
From: C. Heimerdinger
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, C. Heimerdinger

=====
From: Chelsea Carlson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chelsea Carlson

=====
From: Chelsea Hamilton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chelsea Hamilton

=====
From: chelsea nolan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chelsea nolan

=====
From: Chelsea Potts
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chelsea Potts

=====
From: Chelsea raash
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chelsea raash

=====
From: Chelsi Volpe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chelsi Volpe

=====
From: Chemen Ochoa
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chemen Ochoa

87508

=====
From: CHERI BROWN
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CHERI BROWN

=====
From: Cheri cope
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheri cope

=====
From: Cheri Cruickshank
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheri Cruickshank

=====
From: Cheri Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cheri Davis

60640

=====
From: Cherie Hamilton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cherie Hamilton

=====
From: Cherie Riebow
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cherie Riebow

=====
From: Cheri Gaspero
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

If you're going to talk the talk, then you better WALK THE WALK!! You cannot talk about a free marketplace and competitiveness therein, then allow the merger of Comcast and Time Warner that creates a bigger monopoly in broadband. And you cannot talk about a free marketplace and competitiveness therein, then destroy net neutrality!!!

Cheri Gaspero

60449

=====
From: Cheri Henderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net Neutrality - the Internet as we know it - has been highly productive. This should be obvious. True competition in broadcasting - my favorite - through streaming and original web shows. Web comics, online book publishing, music released through the Internet - all very important to me. Now crowd funding which is very exciting. Of course the entrenched entertainment/publishing industries want to shut this all down and get control again. Comcast & TimeWarner already control entirely too much of what the average person sees and hears. A merger furthers the monopoly they have on the communications business in America. Already we as a nation are far down the list in broadband speed, w/some of the highest costs for least efficiency. These telecom giants want to do to the Internet what was done to cable - destroy its innovative appeal in order to control the profits for them.

The Internet already is a public utility. We are seeing municipalities (like Chattanooga) create fast broadband (fighting legal battles with telecommunications corporations) for their communities with wonderful results for the people and the businesses in their areas. The FCC needs to protect the Internet from monopolies, allowing true competition to flourish.

Please protect real Net Neutrality for the people of this country.

Cheri Henderson

28802

=====
From: cheri Keltner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cheri Keltner

=====
From: Cheri Spence
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheri Spence

=====
From: Cher Louise
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Mr Wheeler,
What is it that you do not 'get' about net neutrality?
Is it the possible in the private sector that you may not get if you do the right thing???
NO fast lane for Big Money, ok?
Just do the right thing for a change and be a real hero, AND PREVENT CABLE COMPANY FUKKERY.

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cher Louise

95008

=====
From: Cherod Lewis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cherod Lewis

=====
From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: RE: Do Not Regulate the Internet

---- OpenInternet < xxxx@xxxx.xxx> wrote:
> Thank you, we have received your comments and will review them.

I didn't write to you.

Kim

=====
From: Cherrie Nielsen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cherrie Nielsen

=====
From: Cherrill Keith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cherrill Keith

=====

From: Cheryl Albert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

As Sept.15th approaches, I hope that you have decided to side with 'us' real honest working people who depend on NET NEUTRALITY. Corporations are NOT people & have no right dictating terms for real people. Stand up for us.
As an Educator & Arts Volunteer we need our internet to be working for 'us', teachers, students & our communities.
Thanks you for considering my request to "Do the right thing" & keep the internet free from the big $$$.

Cheryl Albert

95019

=====
From: Cheryl Banks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I would appreciate that my Net neutrality be protected. I am an ordinary Elder citizen who would be impacted if the corporations are allowed to go ahead with this heinous idea.

Cheryl Banks

98106

=====
From: Cheryl Bekemeier
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Bekemeier

=====

From: Cheryl Biale
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Why do you continue to ignore the will of Americans. Isn't your job to protect our rights re communications?

I get all my news via the internet and I keep in touch with my family with email. I also sign up for services through the internet and find out what's available and happening in my community for seniors. As a low-income senior, I can barely afford my Comcast bill now. If this merger happens and we lose net neutrality, I will probably lose my access to services that keep my life happy and healthy and I am not alone.

The internet should be treated as a public utility since it is essential to many Americans. Please use the authority you have to make this happen. What are you afraid of?

Cheryl Biale

98512

=====
From: cheryl bull
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cheryl bull

=====
From: Cheryl Bullock
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am writing this as I am Very concerned about the prioritizing of access to the Internet. Private companies should NOT be in charge of what or how fast information spreads on the Internet. Already our ancient form of getting newsNewspapers are already pretty much monopolized by money. Allowing how fast or who gets online corporation is not to far off from dictating who gets to be heard. That is Wrong on so many levels. We the people if this country are owed Net neutrality. If not how can we ever hope to claim this a free country. Only free to those with money!

Make the right decision!
Cheryl Bullock
3536 Via Lato
Lompoc, CA

Cheryl Bullock

93436

=====
From: Cheryl Campbell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Campbell

=====
From: Cheryl Casper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Casper

=====
From: Cheryl Coleman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Coleman

=====
From: Cheryl DeWitt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman,
This is the most important decision you will make in your life, I hope you will do what is right for the ordinary citizens and not corporate America. For once, I would like for someone to stand up for us. I am retired, live only on social security because I lost everything in the economic downturn. I live in Ecuador because I can't afford to live in my county anymore. One thing that keeps me connected to the county I love is the Internet. I won't be able to pay some large corporation to have a high speed Internet connection. It is so important to the "world" that we keep net neutrality for the little guys. It appears to me to be greed over something that should not be owned by anyone. It is similar to charging someone to look at a great view of the Rocky Mountains, or a beautiful ocean view...somethings just should not be for sale, but for the benefit of all no matter how much money you have in your pocket. Please allow the little guy to win, for once, and life will be better for a great many people rather than a few.
Best of luck in your decision.
Respectfully,

Cheryl DeWitt

78258

=====
From: Cheryl Dixon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cheryl Dixon

75231

From: Cheryl Elsass
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cheryl Elsass

44907

=====
From: Cheryl Frantz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Frantz

=====
From: Cheryl Kallenbach
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

We live in a very rural isolated area. The internet is the only contact we have with the outside world other than a once monthly trip to town. It is how we maintain contact with friends and family, it how we find answers to problems we dealing with, it's how we do a major part of our shopping. Allowing Big Telecom to determine what I can and cannot not access is not acceptable. The internet is one of the necessities of living where we do.

We do still live in democracy, you know. It hasn't become a plutocracy - - - YET. Maintaining net neutrality is one of the ways that will be prevented.

Thank you, Larry and Cheryl Kallenbach

Cheryl Kallenbach

83555

=====
From: Cheryl Kauffman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Kauffman

=====
From: Cheryl Keith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Greed is at the heart of the cable companies' efforts to wipe out net neutrality. Pandering to their greed is NOT in the national interest of this country. If the FCC were so short-sighted as to allow what these commercial interests are asking for, this country would be severely handicapped in the technological arena on the international playing field.

The same greedy entities have fought to keep municipalities and other local entities from filling the void in service where they choose not to invest. We supposedly FAVOR competition as a matter of public policy. A faster internet is available at a significantly lower consumer cost in OTHER countries that can't claim the level of national wealth that America does. The providers of those services can get customers and be successful despite their enhanced service levels. Let the open internet force open competition for Americans.

Cheryl Keith

95670

=====
From: Cheryl Krattiger
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please support net neutrality by regulating the internet. We have all benefited from Net Neutrality since the internet's inception. I'm very concerned about corporate America taking over my life and freedom to surf the internet and see anything I want. This would filter information accessible to me. Would the next step be charging me to see a second and third tier of information. I think "pay to play" will not benefit business or individual users of the internet. Without regulation we lose the checks and balances so import to our democracy, by giving unfair advantage to those with deep pockets, leaving ordinary citizens out of the loop. Not fair; not democratic; not effective. PLEASE, regulate the internet as a public utility and preserve net neutrality.

Cheryl Krattiger

85024

=====
From: Cheryl Laskasky
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Why is it only those with money have a voice any more? This country seems to be sliding ever more closely into the world of "pay to play" and if you don't have enough "pay" then you don't get to play. Average citizens/small businesses are left out and big corporations win. Should those with money be able to slow down or block or prioritize access to information on the internet? Everyone should have equal access to the internet. It should be a public utility!

Please support net neutrality!

Cheryl Laskasky

60101

=====
From: Cheryl McBee
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl McBee

=====

From: cheryl patton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cheryl patton

=====

From: Cheryl Resto
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Resto

=====

From: Cheryl Rice
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Rice

=====
From: Cheryl Rico
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Rico

=====
From: cheryl rico
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: Do Not Regulate the Internet

This is wrong

On Fri, Sep 05, 2014 at 06:49 AM, OpenInternet <HYPERLINK "mailto: xxxx@xxxx.xxx"> wrote:

Thank you, we have received your comments and will review them.

=====
From: Cheryl Sak
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Allowing money to control internet access is a ludicrous idea. The money in politics and politically-oriented media (like Fox and MSNBC) has already caused a polarized America, this would make it worse. Prioritization of content access will result in propaganda and/or censorship, and I feel strongly that you have the power to prevent this from happening. Thank you!

Cheryl Sak

14051
=====

From: Cheryl Settle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Settle

=====

From: Cheryl Sharpe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please make the internet a public utility! We need to try to keep a level playing field for online business. Big corporate money would cripple and kill small business. It would also decide what information I receive first to any query I make on the internet. My assumption is that information would be presented in a way most beneficial to big corporations. Money should not be the most important filter for search results, the closest match should no matter source. I want to be able to continue to rely on a free and open internet.

Cheryl Sharpe

01070

=====

From: Cheryl Shuder
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Shuder

=====
From: Cheryl Shumaker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Chairman Wheeler

Please don't allow big companies to rule who gets speedier internet access. Net neutrality should be the rule of the land!

Thank you,
Cheryl shumaker

Cheryl Shumaker

44278

=====
From: cheryl spiegel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cheryl spiegel

=====
From: Cheryl Tanguay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Tanguay

=====
From: Cheryl Volesky
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Volesky

=====
From: Cheryl Weiss
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

If Chairman Wheeler rejects net neutrality and approves the Comcast Time Warner merger, then the entire nation will know he is just a shill for big business and the interests of the 01%. However, if he fosters broadband expansion and rejects the merger, he will be a hero in the eyes of millions of citizens. I guess the choice is simple - his ego or his soul.

Cheryl Weiss

38930

=====
From: cheryl whittaker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I've written so often because this is such an important issue. Please, please please don't let this country regress to the days when huge industries controlled the masses through limiting access to life's necessities (yes, the Internet is a necessity in this century).

cheryl whittaker

19348

=====
From: Cheryl Zieringer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cheryl Zieringer

=====
From: Chester Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chester Smith

36856

=====
From: Chezmaurice Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chezmaurice Davis

=====
From: chezni vanga
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chezni vanga

=====
From: Chico Knox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chico Knox

=====
From: Chilton Gregory
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chilton Gregory

87106
=====

From: Chinetta Donaldson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chinetta Donaldson

=====
From: Chintan Shah
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chintan Shah

=====
From: Chip Lis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chip Lis

=====

From: Chloanne Heitz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chloanne Heitz

=====

From: Chloe Forrest
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chloe Forrest

=====

From: Chong Vang
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chong Vang

=====
From: chris allen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris allen

=====
From: Chris B
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Open Internet

As a small business owner of a business that converts home movies to DVD, we host videos on the website. <http://vhsrescue.com>

If the internet doesn't stay open, families that convert their tapes to the cloud storage system on my site, will have long wait times. It will become a displeasing service when they try to access their home videos, and might not want to use the cloud. I do not have enough money to pay for a faster internet connection to ISPs for my site. My business will suffer, my clients will suffer, and the quality of life of consumers around the US will suffer because of slow internet.

The internet is working perfectly good as it is, and I believe nothing needs to be modified. In my opinion, the only rule that should be implemented is that internet speeds should be consistent across sites.

Best Regards,

Chris 818-835-5337

=====
From: Chris Biron
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Biron

=====
From: Chris Caron
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I see a class action suit coming down the pike from all users who will have their Internet slowed by this action. You know and I know Internet "last mile" will be the biggest hit by this new "scheme" by Big Broadband to skim more money out of its customers. Money... It so important that Big Broad gets more while the working man/woman gets the shaft.

Do be a jerk, look out for the little guy... That is your job.

Chris Caron

60131

=====
From: chris cox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris cox

=====
From: chris dickinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

chris dickinson

64055

=====
From: Chris Dixon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Dixon

=====
From: chris engemann
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris engemann

=====
From: chris gabbard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris gabbard

=====
From: Chris Garland
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please remember that you work for the PEOPLE not the big corporations. Chairman Wheeler, net neutrality is important for the PEOPLE!

Chris Garland

19962

=====
From: Chris gorman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris gorman

=====
From: chris greene
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

For the people by the people

chris greene

22408

=====
From: chris grigassy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

FCC should assert authority it already has under Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 to regulate the internet as a public utility. In order to preserve net neutrality, the FCC needs to ban Big Telecom from creating these so-called fast-lanes which only large companies could afford. Also, reject the Comcast Time Warner merger. If you want to promote competition, you don't allow 02 of the 04 national broadband providers to merge. Thank you, as I as a semi-retired individual, personally get my news and do citizen activism online!
Chris Grigassy 78741

chris grigassy

78741

=====
From: Chris Heffner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Heffner

=====
From: Chris Hill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Hill

=====
From: chris horwitz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear FCC.

I have written previously on my experiences with obtaining internet connections in my home and business. In both cases my web services were subverted - I believe intentionally - when a newer and more expensive connection technology became available. No coincidence here! The customer service was abysmal and my speeds ranged from unavailable to uncertain to slow.

Permitting fast and slow lanes in the internet would only multiply the opportunities for abuse, and make it hard for ordinary users to claim damage. What possible excuse for allowing fast and slow lanes could there be? Certainly hub equipment is expensive but is regularly replaced even in the absence of multiple speed lanes.

The proposed multiple speed lanes in the web has little to recommend it for customers and much to recommend it for suppliers; reason enough to act as a proper regulator and prohibit this pernicious idea. How on earth did it ever get such traction? Why do consumers have to work so hard to make their own regulator do the right thing? Why is the US so backward in internet provision compared to every other OECD country? I lay the blame on your own FCC, a backward-thinking 'regulator' unconcerned with helping the general population do better, and too concerned with the businesses that lobby it for special treatment. Rewarding such rent-seeking should have no place in the FCC's thinking but it clearly does.

Kindly do better by living up to the reason for regulation in the first place; protection of the consumer against practices that do not serve the common good. Fast and slow internet lanes don't meet that standard. Chris Horwitz, CEO, Electrogrip.

chris horwitz

15217

=====
From: chris howald
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris howald

=====

From: Chris Hulford
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I would attempt to create an analogy to explain why this is completely idiotic but I'm pretty sure this wont even be read. I think that net neutrality should stay in force. It keeps businesses from extracting more money from customers. It keeps SOME of the greed in check.

Chris Hulford

94558

=====

From: Chris Hunter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chris Hunter

71202

=====

From: chris ingersoll
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris ingersoll

=====
From: Chris Jennings
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Jennings

=====
From: Chris Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear chairman Wheeler,

To protect the freedom of information and expression, we must keep the internet free from interference from the corporate world. To prevent a tiered system of haves and have nots, of corporate censorship and control. We must make the internet a public utility. The internet was developed by public money and should belong to the public. To insure the free flow of information and ideas we must make the internet a public utility. Please protect our democracy, make the internet a public utility.

Chris Johnson

Chris Johnson

98225

=====
From: Chris Judge
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Judge

=====

From: chris king
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris king

=====

From: chris lancashire
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris lancashire

=====

From: Chris Marshall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Marshall

=====

From: Chris McClelland
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris McClelland

=====

From: Chris McDonald
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chris McDonald

50201

=====

From: Chris McGratty
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -

Why do we want to give corporations the ability to delegate who gets more attention or has faster connection speeds based on money, power and influence?

Have you not figured it out yet or perhaps you're part of the problem.

The internet must be allowed to function equally with NO rules/laws put in place that give an unfair bias to those with the most money to throw around.

The public is awake and will not stand for this anymore. Do the right thing and go against what all the lobbyists are telling you. You are a pawn only if you allow yourself to be.

Chris McGratty

28205

=====
From: Chris mims
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris mims

=====
From: Chris Northcott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

Please express your intentions regarding net neutrality publicly. You work for the people and we have a right to know how this issue is going to be addressed.

Sincerely,

Chris Northcott
Alameda, CA

Chris Northcott

94501

=====
From: Chris Paterson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I stand with the millions of Americans who need net neutrality. American has enough example of the poor and middle class being treated unfairly without this also happening to the Internet.

I hope you will do the right thing and go down in history as someone who faced up to big business and big money.

Thank You,
Chris Paterson
05073

Chris Paterson

05073

=====
From: Chris Peck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

To Chairman Wheeler and the FCC Panel,

As you consider the very important issue of true net neutrality please take a close look at the people who depend on the equal access to the Internet. I am a disabled grandmother, supporting myself and my middle school aged grandson. I utilize the net to perform medical billing, interfacing with insurance companies to submit and receive information as well as writing a blog and providing material to a food website. It also provides me a way to have a social life I would be unable to maintain because of my health. My grandson is taking AP classes online which will enable him to graduate with an International Bacculate diploma and open higher educational opportunities.

We are not sitting around gaming and looking at kitten pictures (well, not often) but rather to contribute to society. If we are forced to pay more for access we will be unable to do so. You would be furthering the interests and financial benefit of wealthy mega corporations at the expense of individuals such as us.

We are already at a disadvantage since the tel coms and cable companies have engineered a situation preventing any meaningful competition so prices remain equally high and there is no incentive for them to improve service no matter how much the consumer pays. Merging Time Warner and Comcast will simply exacerbate an already ugly situation.

Americans are already paying higher fees for slower Internet access than Europeans.

Even President Obama, who appointed you to a position of trust, is in favor of net neutrality. I urge you to do the right thing.

Sincerely,
Christine Peckelis

Chris Peck

11561
=====

From: Chris Rankin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Rankin

=====

From: Chris Richardson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Richardson

=====

From: chris rosenthal
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

we have a right to net neutrality. my business depends upon it. i own a retreat center. people find us on the internet. my business will greatly suffer if we lose net neutrality. and i'm not the only one.

chris rosenthal

13757

=====

From: Chris Ryan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Ryan

=====

From: Chris Sanchez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Sanchez

=====

From: Chris Scott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Right now, gathering information through internet access is one of the few equalizing powers available to the common man, woman, and child. Net INEQUALITY will once again push lower socioeconomic citizens further down the ladder, suppress their access to knowledge, and therefore limit their already limited power. Please make sure our access to the net remains equal. Sincerely, Chris Scott

Chris Scott

93458

=====

From: Chris Senior
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Senior

=====

From: Chris Spiro
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Spiro

=====

From: Chris Spitler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chris Spitler

91107

=====

From: Chris Staudt

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Staudt

=====

From: chris stephenson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

chris stephenson

85019

=====

From: chris stewart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris stewart

=====

From: Chris StJohn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chris StJohn

86333

=====
From: Chris Stone
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Stone

=====
From: chris swinehart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris swinehart

=====
From: Chrissy Cremer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chrissy Cremer

=====
From: Christabelle Boyette
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christabelle Boyette

=====
From: Christa Hulsey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christa Hulsey

=====
From: christa koot
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christa koot

=====
From: Christa Kurvits
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christa Kurvits

24016

=====
From: Christiana Terborg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christiana Terborg

=====
From: Christian banda
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christian banda

=====
From: Christian Carlson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christian Carlson

=====
From: Christi Andrzejewski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christi Andrzejewski

=====
From: Christi Andrzejewski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: Do Not Regulate the Internet

IÂ¹m sorry, I did not ever send anything to you?

Christi Andrzejewski
Marketing Coordinator
O: 708.681.1300
M: 630.319.1324

On 09/05/14, 01:45 PM, "OpenInternet" <xxxx@xxxx.xxx> wrote:

>Thank you, we have received your comments and will review them.

=====
From: CHRISTIAN GARCIA
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CHRISTIAN GARCIA

=====
From: Christian Kunig
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am completely confused. The unwillingness of the FCC to protect the internet and to effectively disregard the will of the vast majority of the American people almost appears to have to do with money from corporate interests! But I just KNOW that couldn't be it! I mean, imagine if it were to become widely known that that was the actual reason! That would be so unethical and outrageous, and everyone would be up in arms! Why can't I understand what the problem really is?? Judge Judy always says, "if it doesn't make sense, it's probably not true." See why I'm so confused?

Christian Kunig

19977

=====
From: Christian Miller

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christian Miller

32703

=====
From: Christian rojas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christian rojas

=====
From: Christian Wood
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christian Wood

=====
From: christie jones
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christie jones

=====

From: Christie Lipinski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christie Lipinski

87004

=====

From: Christie Rodriguez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christie Rodriguez

=====

From: christina anderson nicholls
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christina anderson nicholls

=====
From: Christina barela
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina barela

=====
From: Christina Barton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Barton

=====
From: christina brite
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Brite

=====

From: Christina Burton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christina Burton

92308

=====

From: Christina Campbell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: FCC Should Hold Hearings Across the Country on Net Neutrality

To the FCC Commissioners

It has been more than five years since all five FCC commissioners left Washington, D.C., in an official capacity to hear how the agency's policies affect real people. The public is invested in the future of the Open Internet where there is equal access for all and no discrimination. The American public wants to have a voice in this debate. The public has provided more than one million comments, a record number of public comments, on the Open Internet rulemaking and prior to the rulemaking more than 03 million took action for Net Neutrality. The FCC was unable to handle all the phone calls it received from the public and the comments on the rulemaking crashed the FCC's system. Reclassification of the Internet so it is a public utility where there can be no discrimination is an issue where the public wants to be heard.

Give the public a real opportunity to meet with you face to face. Please schedule meetings in communities throughout the country before you vote on this plan.

--
Christina Campbell
xxxx@xxxx.xxx

=====

From: Christina Chambers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Chambers

=====

From: Christina Cox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Cox

=====

From: Christina Di Marco
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please save our Net Neutrality, and make it a priority! Why should moneyed interests have the power to weaken our freedoms of the internet while extracting more of our money? The net is like the earth - it supports the weight of us all and gives this freely. Money will never say it has enough...
Thank you for your consideration and voting to protect an open internet.
Sincerely, Christina Di Marco

Christina Di Marco

12533

=====

From: christina dube
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christina dube

=====

From: Christina Fedak
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Fedak

=====

From: Christina Frederick
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Frederick

=====
From: Christina Freeman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christina Freeman

94589

=====
From: Christina gatlin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christina gatlin

80220

=====
From: Christina Goemaat
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Goemaat

=====
From: christina Gonzalez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christina Gonzalez

=====

From: Christina Henning
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Henning

=====

From: christina jeanfreau
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christina jeanfreau

=====

From: Christina Krauz

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am a senior citizen concerned about having free access to the world wide web. I do not have a television and have not had one for more than 15 years. I use a land line telephone and my computer to stay intouch with family, friends, and the government. Have the same access to my government officials and my political groups is my main interest. I have seen what has happened to television cable stations and do not want that warped world on the internet. Please protect my interests to have unfettered and non screened information.

Christina Krauz

55604

From: Christina Marechal

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Marechal

From: Christina Mulneix

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

It is very important for everyone to have equal high speed access to the internet. At this point, in time anything less is greed driven. The internet was intended to be an educational tool when released to the public. It may not, entirely, be educational but it does a lot of good to a lot of people. Limits from greedy companies will harmful to the general population.

Christina Mulneix

26416

From: christina ramoth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christina ramoth

=====

From: Christina Regenhard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please save the internet as we know it. Please don't allow Big Telecom to extract more money from companies that operate on the internet and allow Internet Service Providers to make deals that would prioritize content consumers can access.

Christina Regenhard

10470

=====

From: christina Rodriguez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christina Rodriguez

=====

From: christina schlabach
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christina schlabach

=====
From: Christina smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina smith

=====
From: Christina Timmerman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Timmerman

=====

From: Christina Wooten
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christina Wooten

=====

From: Christine Arendas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Arendas

=====

From: Christine Baker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

What part of this do you not understand? The Internet has now become a VITAL part of people's lives. Those who cannot afford Internet access are at a SERIOUS disadvantage in many, many ways. And yet you seem to have no problem allowing only the rich to have access to high-speed Internet access and/or allowing ISP providers to decide what consumers can and cannot access.

Mark my words -- killing net neutrality to kowtow to special interests will only add to the tinderbox that is the American middle and lower classes. Each and every day it seems we are being told that if you fall below a certain income level, you no longer matter. Take a lesson from history and look at how the French Revolution happened!

Christine Baker

20111

=====
From: Christine Buckley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

There are too many multi-tiered systems imbedded in American institutions: justice, civil rights, jobs, housing, politics...and they all favor the wealthy. "Pay-to-play" is major step in transforming the Unites States of America to the "United States of America, Inc."!

Christine Buckley

46240

=====
From: Christine Childs
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Childs

=====
From: Christine Cothron
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Cothron

=====
From: christine edwards
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christine edwards

=====
From: Christine favila
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine favila

=====
From: Christine Fluck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Fluck

=====
From: Christine Jason
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Jason

=====
From: Christine MacMurray
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am terrified at the prospect of net neutrality being compromised. People and companies with money and power would be able to control the internet. It reminds me of the power held by oil companies, and how they have totally destroyed huge areas of land and millions of innocent, defenseless animals because they have the power to drill where they shouldn't be drilling. Please do not compromise net neutrality.

Christine MacMurray

07424

=====
From: Christine Majul
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

We need to have net neutrality in order to have true competition in the market place as if the big telecom industries have total control of content and speeds, it will make this country less competitive.

Christine Majul

98546

=====
From: Christine Sepulveda
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christine Sepulveda

92802

=====
From: christine singh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christine singh

=====
From: Christine Taylor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christine Taylor

06447

From: Christine Wall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Maintain net neutrality, there should be no argument here.
Christine Wall

Christine Wall

29582

=====
From: Christine Weaver
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Weaver

=====
From: Christine Welk
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Welk

=====
From: Christine Whetstone

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Whetstone

=====

From: Christine Williamson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I make a measly income working on line from my home to suplyment my SS. The net is already too slow and too expensive. If I have to pay more because of the merger or a pay to play internet arrangement, it will not be profitable to continue to work. It is outrageous the the "greedy bastards" should be making more money while I have to get my beans and rice from the food bank.

Christine Williamson

93436

=====

From: Christine Worpel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christine Worpel

=====

From: Christi Park
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christi Park

=====
From: Christopher Benedict
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Benedict

=====
From: christopher braun
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christopher braun

=====

From: Christopher Brooks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Brooks

=====

From: christopher cantwell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

net neutrality!! it didn't take long after the Supreme Court decision for my small business website to be blocked by ATT for its customer's. Small businesses must have equal access to the web, destruction of net neutrality will by definition lead to the destruction of innovation in our economy!!! Monopoly forces cannot be allowed to prevail here, as it is detrimental to our economy and successful small businesses are an essential part of what our country is all about. Thank for your consideration, Christopher W Cantwell christopher cantwell

93644

=====

From: Christopher Comer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Comer

=====
From: Christopher Drake
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Drake

=====
From: Christopher Ellmers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christopher Ellmers

23168

=====
From: Christopher Escarcega
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler -

I am a former IT professional. 15 years ago, I worked in QA/QC on some of the first firewalls and internet security appliances aimed at the small and mid-sized business market. Now, I work for non-profit organization that depends on a free and open internet for many of our most critical communications. Prioritized content enriches cable carriers at the expense of smaller organizations and private citizens that cannot afford to pay for top tier bandwidth access. This represents a fundamental threat not only to smaller businesses and organizations, but also to the open exchange of ideas that has made the Internet a truly revolutionary communications tool.

I urge you to reject corporate control of the Internet. Please protect net neutrality.

Sincerely,

Christopher Escarcega
Oakland, CA

Christopher Escarcega

94608

=====
From: Christopher Fuqua
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net neutrality is vital to equal opportunity, business and personal. We do not need another "cable" system that smothers competition and delivers substandard service. It is time to regulate the internet for what it is, a utility like electricity and water, with unhindered equal access. Do the right thing. Maintain net neutrality.

Christopher Fuqua

88011

=====
From: Christopher Gates
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I believe it is essential to protect a truly Open Internet to preserve the ability for smaller companies to prosper and to to preserve our right to use the internet as a bastion of ideas that make our Democracy function unhindered by overburdensome corporate influence. The truth is, if this passes, you may see more places like Chatanooga, TN using their public utilities to expand fast internet and say goodbye to the large corporate dynasties that are trying to control this legislation for their benefit. And if these corporations keep crying to regulators and legislatures to prevent this from happening, there will be more and more interest in breaking up those monopolies to provide truly high speed internet. If you do not preserve a truly open internet in its present form, there will be more impetus for the Chattanooga model to be replicated and we will all have lost our freedom. You will be killing the proverbial goose that laid the golden egg.

Christopher Gates

33139

=====
From: christopher giordano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christopher giordano

=====
From: Christopher Grannis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The founders of our country put in place a post office for the purpose of information dissemination. Thy did this because they believe an informed public is essential to a democracy. In the internet age we need net neutrality for the free exchange of ideas and information. Our democracy depends on it. Please do not give big corporations power to be gatekeepers of information.

Christopher Grannis

Christopher Grannis

98229

=====
From: CHRISTOPHER HACK
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I cannot believe that FCC would even consider making the Internet fast for those that can pay for it and slow for those that can't! How totally un-American! The Internet belongs to the people, NOT corporations. Taking away Net Neutrality would be the worst possible thing you could do. Please leave the Internet the way it is...equal for all who utilize it. Don't make the American people suffer so that corporations can take over the Internet. Please keep the Internet the way it is and keep it equal for all parties that use the web. I'm not one of those people who writes letters to officials but in this instance I was compelled to. The Internet is far too important a resource for the American people to let corporations charge fees to customers, depending on the speed they want their content delivered. Many people can't afford to pay fees, such as are being proposed. THIS IS A TERRIBLE IDEA!!!
KEEP THE INTERNET SPEED NEUTRAL AND EQUAL FOR ALL WHO USE IT, IT IS THE ONLY FAIR THING TO DO!

CHRISTOPHER HACK

92102

=====
From: Christopher Hartung
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christopher Hartung

95831

=====
From: Christopher Hathaway
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Wheeler, you are not getting it. Corportatist telecommunications behemoths should not decide what we see or hear on the Internet. We will be monitoring your activities. I also urge you to resign.

Christopher Hathaway

77450

=====
From: Christopher Hickman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Hickman

=====
From: Christopher Ingles

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Ingles

=====

From: christopher jones
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

christopher jones

10009

=====

From: Christopher Jones
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christopher Jones

38108

=====

From: christopher kemp
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christopher kemp

=====

From: Christopher Langiotti
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Internet has become an integral part of our society. Please keep it fair and equal for everyone!!

Christopher Langiotti

18970

=====

From: Christopher Latson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christopher Latson

27511

=====

From: Christopher Manza
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Manza

=====
From: Christopher McMillen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher McMillen

=====
From: Christopher Montalbano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Montalbano

=====
From: Christopher Olsen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Internet is, and MUST be considered a public utility. It IS literally today's public utility. What if we allowed water utilities the ability to charge more money for better, faster, prioritized access to water?? Or electricity???

It would not be allowed... not be tolerated.

You must not allow, must not tolerate Telecom companies doing that to our internet service either.

PLEASE preserve TRUE net neutrality and reclassify the internet as a public utility.

Christopher Olsen

53527

=====
From: Christopher Pastorella
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christopher Pastorella

2130

=====
From: Christopher Pierce
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Pierce

=====
From: Christopher Raphael
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please do not change the rules regarding internet neutrality. I already pay for my IPS service at a speed I can afford. Changing the rules will only cost me more money and pad the cash registers of your former associates in the cable and wireless industry. And no, nobody believes that "it won't force Comcast, Charter AT&T, et al, to increase their prices (and cause the only actually trickle down economics to work) because if is only about more money for the cable and wireless industry (which will be passed on to me even though I can not use the high-speed lane).

Interesting how close these two words are, cable and cabal?
Best of luck in your next job,

Christopher Raphael

49453

=====
From: Christopher Riff
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Christopher Riff

60657

=====
From: Christopher Rogers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Rogers

=====
From: Christopher Skivers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Chairman Wheeler,

It's definitely not fair to let big business, infringe on our rights.
Would it be fair to, as an example, let big business and the rich, to be able to spend more money for say, electricity, and now they can have hotter water, better cool air in the summer and warmer heat in the winter?
All of the ways the public count on the net.
As I do, because I don't drive, I NEED the net to pay my bills. Stay in contact with my family and even coordinate my medical issues with my doctor.
Chairman Wheeler if you don't keep net neutrality it will divide the classes even more. The rich don't give two chits if the lower financial and social classes have the ability to afford the net. But then again, a lot of the "elite" don't even care if Americans even have water, (not saying all).
Mr. Chairman we all need the net. Please don't let the rich and powerful take this away from the lower 70%.

Sincerely,
Christopher Skivers
698 Archwood Street
Gaston, SC 29053
(803)586-5045

Christopher Skivers

29053

=====
From: Christopher Trujillo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Trujillo

=====
From: christopher turner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christopher turner

=====
From: Christopher Wallis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Wallis

=====
From: Christopher Weare
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear FCC,

I am a policy scholar who studied telecommunications regulation early in my career and worked in Congress on the 1996 Telecommunications Act.

While I understand the arguments for allowing quality-based pricing for internet service, this solution leads to a major problem. Quality-based pricing creates both the incentives and ability of vertically integrated telecommunications firms to discriminate against rivals in upstream markets. The history of the FCC demonstrates conclusively that the agency is ill equipped to monitor and regulate such monopolistic practices, which will inevitably lead to reduced incentive to create new services on the Internet.

The history of innovation that has been unleashed by the open Internet is unparalleled since the major innovations of the industrial revolution (e.g. electricity, rail transport, etc.). It would be fool hardy for the FCC to risk this mighty engine of innovation and economic growth by reducing the incentives for entrepreneurs to create new and innovative internet-based services.

Christopher Weare

95811

=====
From: Christopher Williams

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Williams

=====

From: Christopher Zeh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is everything to me. It is a open forum for disseminating knowledge and getting questions answered like a great lecture hall with a private tutor. It is my telephone when I need to contact somebody and my post office when I need to send mail. It is my bank that allows me to manage my finance and pay my bills. It is my source of news and entertainment. It IS a public utility and should be regulated as such using FCC's authority under Title II of the Telecommunications Act. The internet is also the engine that drives our economy and provides a low-cost means of entry into the public sphere, allowing the best ideas to rise to the forefront and improve upon themselves while the less worthy ones adapt or die out. It is critical to protect this level playing field by asserting net neutrality once and for all and not allowing yesterday's entrenched products, mindsets, and ideas to quash tomorrow's. I have personally witnessed 'mysterious' network connectivity issues and slowdowns when Netflix is in tough negotiations with my ISP. There won't be any fast lanes: just a slow lane and (if you are lucky and rich enough) a lane as fast as all traffic enjoys now.

Christopher Zeh

22152

=====

From: Christopher Zinke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christopher Zinke

=====
From: Christy Bergner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

SAVE THE INTERNET! STOP THE MERGER!

Christy Bergner

77027

=====
From: Christy Carrier
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christy Carrier

=====
From: Christy Ebeling
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christy Ebeling

=====
From: christy eubanks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christy eubanks

=====
From: christy lowry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christy lowry

=====
From: Christy Miller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christy Miller

=====
From: Christy Pease
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christy Pease

=====
From: christy Perry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, christy Perry

=====
From: Christy Reyes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christy Reyes

=====
From: Christy Rowell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Christy Rowell

=====
From: CHRIS UNDERHILL
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CHRIS UNDERHILL

=====
From: chris vennard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Vennard

=====

From: Chris Walker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chris Walker

=====

From: Chris Warner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chris Warner

94933

=====

From: chris wehner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chris wehner

=====
From: Chrystal Solomon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chrystal Solomon

=====
From: Chuck Brotman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Don't give the communications mega corporations any more power than they already have over our right to free speech and a fair ads open internet!!!

Chuck Brotman

27613

=====
From: Chuck Burket
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Burket

=====
From: Chuck Bush
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Bush

=====
From: Chuck Byrd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Byrd

=====
From: chuck chuck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chuck chuck

=====
From: Chuck Dafoe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Dafoe

=====
From: Chuck Egerer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Egerer

=====
From: Chuck Frashr
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chuck Frashr

=====
 From: Chuck Graver
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
 No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chuck Graver

08088

=====
 From: chuck Kuester
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, chuck Kuester

=====
 From: Chuck Polley
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Polley

=====
From: Chuck Savage
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Savage

=====
From: Chuck Thuot
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chuck Thuot

98008

=====
From: Chuck Walg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Walg

=====

From: Chuck Warczakoski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Chuck Warczakoski

=====

From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: RE: Do Not Regulate the Internet

I apologize for this automatic reply to your email.

To control spam, I now allow incoming messages only from senders I have approved beforehand.

If you would like to be added to my list of approved senders, please fill out the short request form (see link below). Once I approve you, I will receive your original message in my inbox. You do not need to resend your message. I apologize for this one-time inconvenience.

Click the link below to fill out the request:

<https://webmail.pas.earthlink.net/wam/addme?a=xxxx@xxxx.xxx&id=11e4-34fa-e34b2ce4-a41e-00212810e052>

=====

From: ciara halfast
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, ciara halfast

=====
From: Ciaran Watson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Ciaran Watson

=====
From: Cidney Hochman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Way back in grade school I learned that monopolies are bad. Teddy Roosevelt fought very hard to prevent them and won.

What every happened to those common sense federal laws?

Cidney Hochman

33484

=====
From: Cigy Cyriac
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

The FCC should assert authority it already has under Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 to regulate the internet as a public utility. This is the only way to prevent ISPs from controlling content speed and blocking websites.

Cigy Cyriac

84020

=====
From: Cilia Alvarado
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cilia Alvarado

=====
From: cinda sarb
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

cinda sarb

88355

=====
From: Cindie Olson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Mr Wheeler,
I have written you before and your response sounded like you were all for Net Neutrality. If you truly are, then please support protecting the open internet for everyone! You have the means, just do it!

Cindie Olson

54880

=====

From: Cindy Aber
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cindy Aber

30030

=====
From: Cindy Chessher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cindy Chessher

=====
From: cindy cotton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Letting go of the FCC rules around media ownership, keeping narrow groups from controlling large segments of the media, was/is one of the greatest threats to democracy. This is not a republican vs. democrat problem. It is a democracy vs. money problem. Net neutrality is the last bastion for honest debate and without bias.

cindy cotton

2026

=====
From: CINDY ELMORE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please quit giving EVERYTHING to corporations. Please don't sell out the American people!

CINDY ELMORE

28590

=====
From: Cindy Ginther
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cindy Ginther

=====
From: cindy heller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cindy heller

=====
From: cindy kavanaugh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cindy kavanaugh

=====
From: Cindy Lopez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cindy Lopez

=====
From: cindy marsh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cindy marsh

=====
From: Cindy Merva'
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cindy Merva'

=====
From: Cindy Nevins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler:

I am a very concerned citizen and big user of the internet. I feel that as a first amendment right, we must maintain complete and "real" net neutrality so that we have unencumbered access to information on the internet.

We as a people have already lost many personal freedoms....access to all information as we see fit is a high priority to me.

I speak for many when I say, corporations already have too too too much power. Please help the people.

Cindy Nevins and family
Colorado

Cindy Nevins

80515

=====
From: Cindy Pealo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cindy Pealo

=====
From: Cindy Ranuio
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

We do not want a monopoly, we do not want big money and corporations telling us what we can and cannot see, we do want the internet to be free and open to everyone. This is the only way we will be able to counter the oppressive governments, the terrorists, the dictators, the oligarchies. A free internet will allow our children and our next generation of thinkers and inventors to find the information they need to become those great people. We are telling you we want net neutrality, please listen to us. We The People Are Speaking!

Cindy Ranuio

97004

=====
From: Cindy Rice
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cindy Rice

=====
From: Cindy Skarda
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cindy Skarda

=====
From: Cindy Sundberg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Internet Equality. Why should we expect equality for all on the internet when we no longer live in a country that honors equality? Why would you not line your pockets like all the other politicians in this country? Why should you care that the majority of the people can not afford to play any longer? Why should you not lead this country into a world of have and have not even further? Why not let the corporations dictate how to run America?

You shouldn't, because this is America. But you probably will, because, heck, that's Capitalism for you. And all our leaders are blinded by the light that promises wealth unto themselves. Are you like all the others?

Please prove you are not. Stand up for those of us who can barely scrape enough together each month to stay in touch with family, work, and our country via the corporate communications systems sold to the public. What ever happened to the public good? I guess it costs too much with too little monetary profit for the few..

Cindy Sundberg

55344

=====
From: ciro buttacavoli
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, ciro buttacavoli

=====
From: CJ Bain

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please do your job -- protect the internet for the PEOPLE you should be serving. Selling out net neutrality will have the effect of limiting opportunity and further devaluing the individual in a society that is already dominated by corporate culture, values and decisions. The value of a neutral, accessible internet is worth far, far more than the profits it may be sold for.

Please allow democracy on the internet to continue.

thank you,
CJ Bain

CJ Bain

32658

=====
From: CJ Campagna

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CJ Campagna

=====
From: cj niederstadt

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cj niederstadt

=====

From: cj Oliver
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

This could be the last chance to save us from being a terribly divided country. Divided as to the haves vs the have nots. And there will be more have nots. When schools are lousy, politicians are self centered and venial, and jobs are not enough to live on for those without a good start in life, the opportunities offered by the internet are often the closest things to boot straps that people may use to pull themselves up. DON'T burn the boots. Use a little common sense and put greed and personal benefit on the part of those who would limit this in their rightful place.

cj Oliver

31024

=====

From: CJ Taylor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I recently moved and I'm paying twice as much for 01/04 the internet access. The big providers already have too much power over our pocketbooks!

Keep the internet open. The FCC should be protecting citizens access not the profits of the telecom industry.

CJ Taylor

19968

=====

From: cj Tolentino
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cj Tolentino

=====
From: cj visser
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cj visser

=====
From: Claire Russell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Claire Russell

53066

=====
From: clair genung
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clair genung

=====
From: C. Lambert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Save the internet.

C. Lambert

02642

=====
From: Clara Avenali
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clara Avenali

=====
From: Clara Else
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please keep the channels of communication as open as possible. The internet is the only way that our voices can be heard, that we can effectively gather to address important civic issues, and that we can learn quickly about critical events.

When it costs more to access, those with less money will be muffled or muted. The wealthiest already have many ways to make bigger profits and speak so all will hear.

Democracy requires speech, and a price-neutral internet helps to offset the loss of access to other media that has silenced too many.

Thank you.

Clara Else

95446

=====
From: Clara Randall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clara Randall

=====
From: Clara Schoppe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clara Schoppe

=====
From: Clara Zschaler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is necessary now that most all financial and daily necessities require the use of the internet. Recognizing availability hinges on equal opportunity to access the web it would be appropriate to reclassify as a public utility. History of privatization of basic necessities (water, electricity, sanitation, health care and education) tend toward two tier systems. The consequence being that society negates population of lesser financial means.

Respectfully submitted

Clara Zschaler

Clara Zschaler

87701

=====
From: Clare Cornell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content Do you really think this is going to be forgotten because you don't mention it in speeches. Time Warner and Comcast are already censoring things like the ads about exxon-mobil. Do you think they should have more power to influence what people think? Not having net neutrality will give them just that: more power to censor, to charge whatever they want and provide poor service.

Clare Cornell

02536

=====
From: Clarence Bell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Clarence Bell

40211

=====
From: Clarence Briggs
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Leav the Internet alone!

Clarence Briggs

76012

=====
From: Clarence Brooks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarence Brooks

=====
From: Clarence Kratz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarence Kratz

=====
From: Clarence Morse
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarence Morse

=====
From: Clarence Nash Jr
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarence Nash Jr

=====
From: Clarence Spink
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarence Spink

=====
From: Clarence Tate
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarence Tate

=====
From: clarice elliott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clarice elliott

=====
From: clarisbel rubio
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clarisbel rubio

=====
From: Clarissa dendy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarissa dendy

=====
From: Clarissa Gray
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarissa Gray

=====
From: Clarissa Stemple
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clarissa Stemple

=====
From: Clark Babin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clark Babin

=====
From: Clark Hampton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clark Hampton

=====
From: CLARK NICHOLAS
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CLARK NICHOLAS

=====
From: Clark Shay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clark Shay

=====
From: Claude (aka Tweetybird) Andrews
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
I have already commented..... Chairman Wheeler, kept it OUT of private hands.....

---Tweetybird (aka Claude Andrews--a very active registered voter and a very "verbal" person)

Claude (aka Tweetybird) Andrews
28512

=====
From: Claude (aka Tweetybird) Andrews
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please keep the 'net neutral. So many of my students at Cherry Point (MCAS) work "full-time" with their military commitment do not have the time (due to their work and family obligations) nor financial resources (if they have to pay more to work "on-line" due to the cost-factor to get quicker service or what would eventually be equivalent to "dial-up" service-- in reality, some are already even on food stamps) due to the shenanigans in Washington, DC. Chairman Wheeler has in the past to NOT go with "double tracking" but to keep the 'net neutral. Please honor that commitment.

---Tweetybird (aka Claude Andrews--a very active voter as well as a very "verbal" person)

Claude (aka Tweetybird) Andrews
28512

=====
From: Claudean Mathis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Claudean Mathis

77087

=====
From: Claude Claude
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Claude Claude

=====
From: Claude Lackey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Claude Lackey

=====
From: claude otey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Claude Otey

=====
From: Claude Strife
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Claude Strife

=====
From: Claudia & Dale Pfenning
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Experience and current history has taught us that bigger is truly not better. Everything suffers as companies, corporations become giants. Comcast is already too big. Many of the employees don't even know what they are doing or what they are selling and they end up lying or misrepresenting so you get something other than you were told and it is contractual with no going back. When issues of service have reared up, and I called Comcast. Twice in the last few months employees have actually hung up on me. Two times I was promised a call back at a certain time, once by a man the other time a woman and I sat and waited for over an hour while my husband said they are not going to call back. Later on another employee told me they have no system for call backs and never would. Now, does this sound like an entity that should grow. Their prices are already sky high, and their service poor, because they are already too big and too much of a monopoly. We should be able to learn from the past. Remember the breaking up of the AT&T bells? Do not allow this purchase to go through.

Claudia & Dale Pfenning

97217
=====

From: Claudia Dicosola
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Claudia Dicosola

85308

=====
From: claudia enriquez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, claudia enriquez

=====
From: Claudia Kilgore-Gusarson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Claudia Kilgore-Gusarson

=====
From: Claudia Lozano

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Claudia Lozano

33009

=====
From: Claudia Schoonmaker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Claudia Schoonmaker

=====
From: claudia serrato
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, claudia serrato

=====
From: claudio padilla
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, claudio padilla

=====
From: Claus Rohlf
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

As the minister of a United Methodist Church in a small community where financial resources are limited, the free-access web, with speed offered to all, I have seen the significant benefits of the current web access. This saves us valuable time and donated funds. We can communicate with the congregation daily and save significant labor costs. This savings is redirected to assist persons in town who need help with their basic needs: food, shelter, utilities and medical care. Please keep Internet access free and available to all persons.

Claus Rohlf

81301

=====
From: Clay Adams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Clay Adams

14020

=====
From: clay carr
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clay carr

=====
From: Clay G. Colson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

A free Internet is a free world, reclassify the Internet as a utility.

Clay G. Colson

34638

=====
From: clay perkinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clay perkinson

=====
From: Clayton Chan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I see you've finally discovered that our internet speed lags way behind the rest of the developed world, and you realized that it's time for the government to do something about it, Mr. Wheeler.

However, if you think for one nanosecond that the solution to our crummy internet is allowing big companies to make speeds slower for the rest of us while only speeding up the internet for people who have to pay for premium access, you'd best rid yourself of any such thought immediately.

We already gave $200 billion in tax credits and fees to these telcoms to build faster internet. They TOOK OUR MONEY AND GAVE US NOTHING. It's your job to hold them accountable. Start doing it.

Clayton Chan

92620

=====
From: Clayton Conway
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Make all internet providers common carriers. You might think this does not matter in the big picture of things.
You would be wrong. More importantly for yourself you will be made to account to your children and God.

When that day comes is when you will understand just how important it is. Do not worry. God will forgive you.
He is a merciful God. However, what you will understand is that you and the angels will not forget.

Clayton Conway

98101

=====
From: Clayton elzinga
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Seriously, we don't need to tell YOU why net neutrality is the only choice. You know it's true.

It's the heart of our democracy.

In this sad time, where we allow unlimited spending in our elections, we cannot also allow those richest people and their corporate fronts to decide the content of our national and global dialogs.

Corporations get free speech while throttling everyone else's?

Have some foresight. Keep it neutral.

Clayton elzinga

=====
From: clayton flaming
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clayton flaming

=====
From: C. Lee Taylor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Keep the internet neutral!

Dear FCC
Kindly keep the internet neutral. Y'all know what I mean. Let it serve the public rather than our nearsighted corporate overlords. Thanks a mil
C. Lee Taylor one of four voting family members who knows our tax dollars underwrote the creation of world wide web and demand a return on our wildly successful investment with net neutrality.

--

If we do act, in however small a way, we don't have to wait for some grand Utopian future. The future is an infinite succession of presents, and to live now as we think human beings should live, in defiance of all that is bad around us, is itself a marvelous victory. Howard Zinn

=====
From: clenard walker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clennard walker

=====

From: Cleo Neary
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cleo Neary

=====

From: Cleva Guy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cleva Guy

55405

=====

From: Cleveland Hope
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cleveland Hope

=====
From: cliff Alexander
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cliff Alexander

=====
From: Clifford Anderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Clifford Anderson

95864

=====
From: Clifford Flath
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please do not let the fat cat money grubbers control the internet.

Clifford Flath

62062

=====

From: Clifford Jacoby
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clifford Jacoby

=====
From: Clifford Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I use the internet for many purposes. One is for research into obscure ideas. These sites don't make any money and can't pay the extortion prices that intercom companies will charge. Ubuntu is another example. They, and companies like them, don't have money for bribes. Once in the slow lane, these sites will wither and die. Who wants to wait for 05 minutes for a web page to load? Who will use 04 Square if the person has left before you know where they were? The internet should be for everyone, no matter how small, no matter how obscure, it shouldn't matter if it's free. Don't allow a slow lane that will kill a major portion of the net.

Clifford Johnson

55403

=====
From: Clifford Liehe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler:

Please preserve true net neutrality and use Title II authority to promote broadband expansion and to prevent large telecom corporations from creating fast and slow lanes on the internet. Please preserve true competition and reject the Comcast Time Warner merger.

Thank you.

Clifford Liehe

=====

From: Clifford Nettles
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clifford Nettles

=====

From: Clifford Paiva
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clifford Paiva

=====

From: clifford seyler
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Mr. Chairman,

Please see the internet as a valuable space whose band belongs to the people and not the highest bidder. I have used the internet almost since the beginning and have finally reached parity with city folk who got high speed access first. It is not fair for my traffic to be relegated to the slow lane because I don't have the big bucks. Its unamerican in a country where our American rights are rapidly disappearing at the hands of those wonderful "citizens" the corporation. Maintain the net.

For neutrality, I am
Cliff Seyler

clifford seyler

37388

=====
From: Clifford Slayman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

DEMOCRACY depends on the free exchange of ideas, AND on the public's ability to minimize private greed. Both ideas, of course are antithetical to the interests of large corporations and their WAY-overpaid management. So NATURALLY those corporations want complete control of the internet, where democracy reigns (so far) and we talk about the greedmeisters. But WE the PEOPLE would be utterly STUPID to let the corporations actually take over the internet. And WE the PEOPLE would be best served by PUBLIC BROADBAND throughout the United States.

Clifford Slayman

06517

=====
From: Clifford Weixel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a retired man who uses the internet daily to keep updated. A neutral internet is important to me.

Clifford Weixel

58401

=====
From: Cliff Pendergraft
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cliff Pendergraft

=====
From: Cliff Rasco
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cliff Rasco

=====
From: Cliff Titus
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cliff Titus

=====
From: Clifton Evans
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content This is insane WE shouldn't even have to fight this fight. The internet belongs to everybody and should be open and equal for everyone that choses to log on, its whats known as a "NO BRAINER". Why should the US stand down while the rest of the world speeds by.

Clifton Evans

48137

=====
From: clifton lawson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clifton lawson

=====
From: Clifton Wayne
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Greetings Chairman Wheeler,

I have been using the internet since the early 80's, back in the early days of CompuServe, The Source and AOL.

Being a 68 year old "Techie" I've always looked forward to the advances made in Communications and especially regarding the internet.

However, private interests are trying to monopolize the internet for their own greed and profits.

This shouldn't be allowed to happen but the average citizen doesn't have the power to prevent it. They are using their power to keep us from having a first class internet and that's just not right.

That's why we have to rely on you Mr. Wheeler to prevent this and look out for the public's interest.

Thank you for taking the time to consider this appeal for what's right and fair for Americans and for America.

Clifton Wayne

Clifton Wayne

33511
=====

From: Clint Davis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The world wide web belongs to the people of the world, NOT to a handful of greedy corporations. HANDS OFF!!!!!!!!!!!!

Clint Davis

33040

=====
From: clint Fann
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clint Fann

=====
From: Clinton Cherry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clinton Cherry

=====
From: Clinton Piel

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

DO NOT pretend that you are too stupid to know why I want net neutrality! If you mess with MY internet speed, and accessibility, Don't get within earshot of me, ever, as I will be happy to inform you, verbally, of your imbecility.

We are often reminded to 'be nice' when offering objections, but you don't deserve civility, if you are actually thinking of purposefully taking away ANY of my abilities to use the Internet DON'T be the stupid one!

Clinton Piel

80631

=====
From: Clinton Sennett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Fuck you greedy nastard

Clinton Sennett

59457

=====
From: clinton Sennett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, clinton Sennett

=====
From: Clint Spaeth

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clint Spaeth

=====

From: clint whaley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -

No Content Found -- Please specify some content Net Neutrality: How did we get here and where do we go now FCC Chair Wheeler's convoluted path to net neutrality clint whaley

44408

=====

From: C Livingston
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, C Livingston

=====

From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: RE: Do Not Regulate the Internet

I apologize for this automatic reply to your email.

To control spam, I now allow incoming messages only from senders I have approved beforehand.

If you would like to be added to my list of approved senders, please fill out the short request form (see link below). Once I approve you, I will receive your original message in my inbox. You do not need to resend your message. I apologize for this one-time inconvenience.

Click the link below to fill out the request:

<https://webmail.pas.earthlink.net/wam/addme?a=xxxx@xxxx.xxx&id=11e4-34c1-63e3efce-91a4-0021281418e4>

=====
From: Clovis Williams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clovis Williams

=====
From: Cloyd Beasley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Elimination of Net Neutrality is very scary. it seems that our country has evolved into a society where those with the most money win whatever they want by using their money to influence representatives and to pay lobbyists who influence the rulemakers. Is the most important use of the internet to increase income of large corporations? As one who helped organize and set up the first high-speed communications network (between Oak Ridge and Livermore National Laboratories), I understand the advantage of high-speed data. But just to count money, what a waste of resources! Any number of other entities could make much better use of the entire internet to the great benefit of most people in the US - all natural and physical sciences scientific research, educational development, medical records, including vast changes in better and cheaper insurance administration, security information. Weigh uses like this to such arguments as "We want to stream movies and games faster," or with attitudes like, "We are the most important because we make the most money, and we want more of it!"

Cloyd Beasley

=====
From: Cloyd Timothy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cloyd Timothy

=====
From: Clyde Edward Hupton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Clyde Edward Hupton

11980

=====
From: Clyde Hand
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clyde Hand

=====
From: Clyde Harris
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clyde Harris

=====
From: Clyde Laursen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Clyde Laursen

=====
From: C Mac
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, C Mac

=====
From: C Neelsen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, C Neelsen

=====
From: Cody Cowdin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners -

Do NOTHING to restrict each and every American citizen's access to the internet. Do EVERYTHING to defend and uphold Net Neutrality.

Thank You!

Cody Cowdin

53029

=====
From: Cody Minton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cody Minton

=====
From: Colby Sievert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Colby Sievert

=====
From: Cole Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cole Johnson

=====
From: Colette Clarke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Chairman Wheeler:

I have a chronic illness. I will never get well and I use the Internet to order medicines, get information about research on my illness, stay in touch with people from my priest to friends as isolation causes my mind and body to lose health and, most importantly, I use the Internet to stay in touch with my doctor who is in a different city. I often must order food, too, via the net. It is my lifeline.

Please keep true Net Neutrality so I and the many others like me can try to live the best lives possible. Already we pay so much for all else. Why are corporations' interests more important than mine?

They aren't.

Thank you.

Colette Clarke Torres

Colette Clarke

78729

=====
From: Colette Corwin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Colette Corwin

53711

=====
From: colette love-battista
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

FREEDOM LIBERTY & JUSTICE FOR ALL!

colette love-battista

87112

=====
From: colette mcniff
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, colette mcNiff

=====

From: colette walczak
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality helps to level the playing field of information access and dissemination. It also provides a more level field of commerce. The tax payers, most of whom are the 99.09%, paid for the development of the internet and net neutrality should remain to benefit the majority of people.

colette walczak

90405

=====

From: Colin Mansfield
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

I have written to you before hoping to persuade you to not allow a two-tier operating environment for the internet -- one that would charge more to providers for service based on content. I noticed that in your latest announcements you have said little about preserving "net neutrality" even though you have previously Intimated you are for a free and open internet as it was intended to be. This is a case where the needs of the many MUST outweigh the greed of a few.

Please don't let a few companies dictate the terms of access and rule that the internet should remain free and open to all.

Colin Mansfield

55118

=====

From: Colin Ramsay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

It is imperative that you move to declare broadband as a public utility, and keep it open and fair.

You and the major ISP'S should all be embarrassed by the excellent example of Chattanooga, Tennessee, which has developed and installed 100MGB service to their city, this when these major ISP's in this country are making a big deal of providing 4MGB service as a big deal.

Chairman Wheeler, you have the chance to be a game changer, let's start by declaring broadband as a public utility.

Thank you,

Colin Ramsay

Colin Ramsay

95472

=====
From: colleen cobb
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, colleen cobb

=====
From: Colleen Conifer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
FCC Chairman Wheeler:

As we near the Sept. 15th date for the commission's decision on what has come to be known as "net neutrality", I wish to remind you that this decision will impact all Americans who use the internet and that is a huge number. We use the internet for business, information, personal messages, and entertainment. It impacts every aspect of our lives and your decision will go down in history as either supporting the people of this country or supporting the business interests of the few who seek to profit at our expense. There is no hiding this obvious truth and you will be held to account for your decision as will the Obama administration.

Sincerely,
Colleen Conifer

Colleen Conifer

=====
From: Colleen Eden
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Comcast / time warner merger will be a disaster for the American people. I hope you can see this.

Colleen Eden

33040

=====
From: Colleen Evans
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge
of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re
enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,
I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf
for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government
didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Colleen Evans

=====
From: Colleen Grimm
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Hello,

I live in the country in WI and have difficulty getting access to affordable internet, let alone fast speed. Net Neutrality is very important to me to communicate for my business as well as personal. The internet is everywhere and almost impossible to do business or freely communicate without. Even now I am struggling to do business in a timely manner because of my access and location. It should be treated like a necessity, a utility, for all because it is and will be even more so in the near future.

Please protect the open internet!

Thank you,
Colleen Grimm

Colleen Grimm

54014

=====
From: Colleen Manuelito
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Colleen Manuelito

=====
From: Colleen Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Colleen Smith

=====
From: Colleen White
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Colleen White

=====
From: Collettec Boyd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Collettec Boyd

=====
From: xxxxx@xxxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Re: RE: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

I apologize for this automatic reply to your email.

To control spam, I now allow incoming messages only from senders I have approved beforehand.

If you would like to be added to my list of approved senders, please fill out the short request form (see link below). Once I approve you, I will receive your original message in my inbox. You do not need to resend your message. I apologize for this one-time inconvenience.

Click the link below to fill out the request:

<https://webmail.pas.earthlink.net/wam/addme?a=xxxxx@xxxxx.xxx&id=11e4-34f7-ef132494-b32f-002128146556>

=====
From: Conner Fay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Conner Fay

=====

From: conner page
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, conner page

=====

From: Conn Huffaker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Conn Huffaker

53558

=====

From: Connie Cepeda
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie Cepeda

=====
From: Connie Crew
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

You need to protect net neutrality. It's your duty to your country, the internet is the only place where we can get real news! The corporations have bought all the radio and television stations, as well as the newspapers. Those were supposed to belong to the people and we got sold out, please do not sell us out again!

Connie Crew

48912

=====
From: Connie Deweber
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Connie Deweber

76230

=====
From: Connie Ehrhardt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie Ehrhardt

=====
From: Connie Fuller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie Fuller

=====
From: Connie Hamilton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie Hamilton

=====
From: Connie Kane
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

LISTEN, OPEN INTERNET FREE WITHOUT CORPORATE CONTROL IS NECESSARY FOR THOSE OF US (AND THAT IS NUMEROUS) WHO CANNOT AFFORD THE HIGHER CHARGES OF THE RICH AND FAMOUS. PLEASE CONSIDER THE WORKING CLASS WHEN YOU ARE MAKING YOUR DECISION. NOT JUST CORPORATIONS.

THIS SHOULD NOT EVEN BE AN ISSUE. LET YOUR CONCERN FOR PEOPLE WHO CANNOT AFFORD THE HIGHER COSTS BE YOUR GUIDE. CORPORATE HAS MORE MONEY AND POWER THAN IS FEASIBLE FOR ANY HUMANS.

Connie Kane

80011

=====
From: Connie LaVigne
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie LaVigne

=====
From: Connie Neagle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie Neagle

=====
From: Connie Novak
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
We need the Internet to stay open equally for all. Our democracy is based on equality

-- every man and every woman gets a vote so that the people decide. If you favor big corporations, you do away with democracy. That's not smart for the future if our society. Think about it and do the right thing!

Connie Novak

07093

=====
From: connie owen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, connie owen

=====
From: Connie Radtke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net Neutrality is critical for many reasons but the most critical that comes to mind now as school is just starting is educational. Access to good quality internet resources is critical to provide equitable access for learning.

Connie Radtke

54942

=====
From: Connie Raskow
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie Raskow

=====
From: Connie Schmidt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Our antitrust laws are not being enforced. If you take away net neutrality, people wishing to start new businesses will not be able to compete. Since new businesses eventually either fail or grow into bigger businesses, they should be given the ability to compete with gigantic corporations at some level. Certainly, the lack of enforcement of the antitrust laws put start up businesses at a disadvantage from the beginning. Making them compete for internet speed will be a death nail for some people who might otherwise take the risk of starting a business.

Connie Schmidt

66502

=====
From: Connie Sosnoff
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please preserve net neutrality. Don't be a tool for big business to yet again make a ton of money and force small users off the Internet. You are supposed to be a public servant for the people, not for the richest 01%.

Connie Sosnoff

30355

=====
From: Connie Thomas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality is important to me because I no longer trust big business to do anything good in the service of the people. I do not want a system where some content is accessed quickly, while other content is slowed down. Internet service in America is already too slow and too expensive as compared to many European countries. Don't make it worse! Don't let the corporations control content accessibility.

Connie Thomas

93510

=====
From: Connie Wilson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie Wilson

=====
From: Connie Winkles
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Connie Winkles

=====
From: connor todd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, connor todd

=====
From: Conrad and Leslie Gaunt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Conrad and Leslie Gaunt

93610

=====
From: Conrad Friend Overboe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Conrad Friend Overboe

=====
From: Conrad Murphy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

We as a country cannot afford to have a situation where the smallest player in a particular business cannot afford to compete with big corporations on the most basic level as internet services. There must be some kind of basic level play field for people to start from. Big corporations already have plenty of advantages over the small guys as it is. There literally hundreds of arguments and reasons that support my position so I urge you to do the right thing and keep the internet open for all the people.

Thanks for considering my opinion
Conrad Murphy

Conrad Murphy

87059

=====
From: Conrad Plonski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Keep large companies from taking over the net and bleeding the rest of us or service.
Conrad Plonski

38852

=====
From: Constance Baughan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Constance Baughan

=====
From: constance chouteau
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, constance chouteau

=====
From: constance lee
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: FCC Should Hold Hearings Across the Country on Net Neutrality

To the FCC Commissioners

It has been more than five years since all five FCC commissioners left Washington, D.C., in an official capacity to hear how the agencyâ\200\231s policies affect real people. The public is invested in the future of the Open Internet where there is equal access for all and no discrimination. The American public wants to have a voice in this debate. The public has provided more than one million comments, a record number of public comments, on the Open Internet rulemaking and prior to the rulemaking more than 03 million took action for Net Neutrality. The FCC was unable to handle all the phone calls it received from the public and the comments on the rulemaking crashed the FCC's system. Reclassification of the Internet so it is a public utility where there can be no discrimination is an issue where the public wants to be heard.

Give the public a real opportunity to meet with you face to face. Please schedule meetings in communities throughout the country before you vote on this plan.

--
constance lee
xxxx@xxxx.xxx

=====
From: Constance Ward
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

To Whom It May Concern;

I, now find myself to be a retired Sr. Citizen who uses the internet frequently to research information about health care products and companies and their products, and with my Kaiser physicians to help facilitate proper care and maintenance for myself. If a "price" is placed on this right to information is done, my access to help to stay healthy and educated will be lost for me. On my fixed income, I cannot afford to pay more for this privilege. Please do not allow this to takeover and keep the internet "neutral".

Sincerely,
Constance

Constance Ward

=====
From: Constance Williams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please allow us our own place in the world where we can access news and other media where we are not owned by corporations and their outrageous pursuit of money by any means. Please preserve net neutrality. Please allow us this one freedom.

Constance Williams

31029

=====
From: Constantine Bogios
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet is not broken do not ruin it. A level playing feild is what brings out the best, please leave us with a level playing field

Constantine Bogios

94597

=====
From: Coralie Carraway
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Coralie Carraway

95602

=====
From: Cora Rush
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cora Rush

=====
From: Corbett Kroehler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I'm a Netflix customer who still rents DVDs by mail. One major reason is that my ISP doesn't give me ANYWHERE NEAR the bandwidth I am supposed to receive for $50 a month. Net Neutrality is essential to the future of the Internet. Push yourself. Enact true Net Neutrality and make it stick!

Corbett Kroehler

32839

=====
From: Corbyn Stincelli
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I don't want to call dingo

Corbyn Stincelli

84062

=====
From: Corde Rea
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear members pf Congress,

By all means we need an OPEN Internet!!!
This is supposed to be the home of the FREE.
Let's keep it that way! And isn't that a staple of a democraacy?

Money can buy many things, but it should not be allowed to buy Freedom!

Thank y ou for helping preserve an OPEN Internet!!

Sr. Corse Rea, OSF

Corde Rea

53235

=====
From: Corey Bugg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Corey Bugg

=====
From: corey mckibben
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, corey mckibben

=====
From: Corey Waggoner

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please preserve net neutrality!

Corey Waggoner

98040

=====
From: Corey Wilkes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Corey Wilkes

=====
From: Corey Ziemniak
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I have been enjoying an open and unfettered internet since my college days in the mid-90s. One of the beautiful, if then unforeseen benefits to such access was the comraderie that disparate people who would otherwise not know each other found, a new community that arose from the internet. We take this community for granted now, but if the restrictions on site administrators were imposed then that are being proposed now, we would never have developed the community that we all share today.

The internet is in every way like a physical community. The fact that it is also a content provider should not diminish this fact. If we prioritize content over the opportunity for communal experience, we have the potential to break every tenet of the first amendment. The internet is a place that allows for a unique expression of speech, religion, and press, and also provides a forum for assembly. Restricting access to any aspect of the internet, or unnecessarily burdening some site providers over others impedes our very right to speak freely and openly. The internet is our last best hope to know our voices will be heard, and be heard equally, regardless of our backgrounds and financial means. Please do not take that right away from us.

Corey Ziemniak

90046

=====
From: Cori Bishop
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cori Bishop

08203

=====
From: Cori McALLISTER
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please ensure net neutrality

Please use Title II authority to promote broadband expansion and to prevent Big Telecom from creating fast and slow lanes on the internet.
Reject the Comcast Time Warner merger. If you want to promote competition, you donâ\200\231t allow 02 of the 04 national broadband providers to merge.

Make the right decisions to protect the average consumer.

Thank you.
Cori McAllister
Oregon

Cori McALLISTER

97138

=====
From: corina Lozano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, corina Lozano

=====
From: Corinna Cruver
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Corinna Cruver

=====
From: Corinne Italiano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Corinne Italiano

11563

=====
From: Cornelia De Young
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cornelia De Young

=====

From: Cornelia Zuidema
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cornelia Zuidema

=====

From: Correne Barrus
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Correne Barrus

=====

From: Corrina Kibart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like

many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Corrina Kibart

=====
From: corry payne
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, corry payne

=====
From: Cortnie Villezcas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cortnie Villezcas

=====
From: Corwin and Cherry Kingston
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Corwin and Cherry Kingston

=====
From: cory carlson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cory carlson

=====
From: cory powers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cory powers

=====
From: CORY WILKES
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CORY WILKES

=====
From: Courtney KanzigChristie
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Courtney KanzigChristie

=====
From: Courtney Castillo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Courtney Castillo

=====
From: courtney darnell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, courtney darnell

=====
From: Courtney Fink
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Courtney Fink

=====
From: Courtney Kenter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Courtney Kenter

=====
From: Courtney Marin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Courtney Marin

=====

From: Courtney Walker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Courtney Walker

=====

From: courtney Washington
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, courtney Washington

=====

From: courtne Gregory
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, courtnie Gregory

=====
From: Craig Ball
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Comcast - Time Warner merger

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I urge you to reject this merger as it has no benefit to the consumer and, in fact, will probably result in less choice, higher prices, etc. Comcast has shown thru their actions that they have no regard for their customers.

Thanks

Craig Ball

Craig Ball

49093

=====
From: Craig Ball
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Chairman Wheeler,

I am writing to urge you to preserve net neutrality. The loss of that neutrality would simply lead to worse service to the consumer and bigger profit for cable company. I would also request that the FCC come up with ways to encourage more broadband competition rather than the monopoly that we currently have.

Thank you for your consideration,

Craig Ball

Craig Ball

49093

=====

From: Craig Blum
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Blum

=====

From: Craig Bullock
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Bullock

=====

From: Craig Byrd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

In Paddy Chayefsky's brilliant screenplay for "Network," one character stops a merger between the network for whom he works and another corporation. When the head of the network discusses his actions he is told, and I am paraphrasing here, that he had "stopped one merger. But this is not a world of countries and people, but a world of corporations." I bring this up because should net neutrality come to an end these words will once again be proven true. The internet needs to be free, open and available for all to use equally. Any path that gives priority to the highest bidder fails to do that.

I strongly encourage you to make a decision of the people, by the people and for the people.

Craig Byrd

90026

=====
From: Craig Coelho
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Coelho

=====
From: Craig Emerick
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please assure an open internet and to not approve the anti-competition proposed merger of Comcast and Time Warner. Protect the consumer, not big money!

Craig Emerick

97330

=====
From: Craig Grant
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

i depend on the internet to find information to help me make wise decisions to help me get by in our increasingly complex world. Currently I can find easily find and view many different viewpoints on a given subject to help me understand the situation I am trying to deal with. This has ranged from my personal health care to political questions.

I fear that if the large telecoms are given control over the speed that different sites information is streamed, will have the effect of limiting what I can easily view to be just the information they want me to see. I do not trust them as the Telecoms have already proven to be extremely greedy and self serving. If the Nazi party would pay them the most, I would expect that the first and fastest returns I got would be sites that were espousing the Nazi philosophy!

Net Neutrality is important! We cannot allow Telecom companies to be gatekeepers of the Internet!

Craig Grant

85335

=====
From: Craig Hawker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Hawker

=====
From: craig lehigh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, craig lehigh

=====
From: Craig Linder
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I simply want to urge you to preserve net neutrality. This is essential for maintenance of the internet as a vital public resource where all have equal access and equal ability to promulgate their ideas and opinions. The time has come to recognize that in the modern world the internet is a vital public utility and should be regulated as one.

Sincerely,

Randy Linder

Craig Linder

78703

=====
From: Craig Lindsay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Lindsay

=====
From: Craig Officer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content Please protect the individuals not the corporations

Craig Officer

60649

=====
From: Craig Paton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

There is not enough competition in the current cable tv / isp arena. Please don't allow the Comcast - TimeWarner merger. Preserve "'net' neutrality". Limit the ability of those who produce content for cable tv to also own the cable conduits used to deliver the product to the consumer. Protect "over the air" free tv.

Craig Paton

02170

=====
From: Craig Pellerin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Pellerin

=====
From: CRAIG Pence
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CRAIG Pence

=====
From: Craig Poindexter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Poindexter

=====
From: Craig Rollo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Rollo

=====
From: craig ryan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am concerned about the first amendment implications of prioritizing, blocking, or slowing down access to information on the internet. I also do not want Big Telecom to extract more money from companies that operate on the internet and allowing Internet Service Providers to make deals that would prioritize content consumers can access. This is simply not fair and it should NOT be legal. Thank you.

craig ryan

91505

=====
From: Craig Schmidt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Schmidt

=====
From: Craig Shisler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Craig Shisler

45419

=====
From: craig singleton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

How can people who claim that America is a place of equality as well fair for it's citizens go against Net Neutrality? We all pay our hard earned money for these services so why would there be a mandatory lower level of access or speed for us while corporations bypass. You're just allowing this nonsense to go on. It's unfair and un-American.

craig singleton

30329
=====

From: Craig Slocum
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please maintain the internet as a public utility and preserve net neutrality.
Corporations already have too much control over people's lives.

Craig Slocum

60465

=====
From: Craig Walser
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Craig Walser

=====
From: Craig Webster
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Craig Webster

1506

=====
From: Craig Weitzmon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I was a Wide open West customer. Switched to Comcast for price. What I got was terrible customer service. Sitting on phone for long periods of time with no resolution of problems. Luckily have options where I live. I went back to WOW. Please don't give Comcast the keys to the Bank. They sure don't care for their customers at all, just MONEY

Craig Weitzmon

60563

=====
From: Crastal Crockett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crastal Crockett

=====
From: Creighton Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

An Open Internet is essential to the continued existence of the United States of America in the vision of our Founding Fathers. I believe Benjamin Franklin, the founder of the Postal Service, would be emphatically in support of an Open Internet, as would a majority of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Please support Net Neutrality. Sincerely, Creighton Smith

Creighton Smith

33956

=====
From: CR Howell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Chairman Wheeler,

Your June visit to Albuquerque was an opportunity to teach my child about how dialogue is possible between the youth of our community and the people that have been tasked with insuring fair national solutions for the common good. I also wanted her to know that it was important to protect the internet for the future.

The internet must remain neutral. It will not if corporations (only beholden to their stockholders) are made the gatekeepers. It is simply not in their interest. We will lose the diverse and innovative dialogue that happens daily. Our country will suffer because of it.

The only true and right way is for the FCC to assert the authority it already has under Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 and regulate the internet as a public utility. It still would remain economically robust for corporations. It would allow me, as a small business owner, to freely provide new technologies for my clients - both non-profits and for-profits as well. My child would be capable of accessing all of the content available across the planet when researching a subject so that she truly has an informed global outlook. And of course, it would allow the disenfranchised, that you met in Albuquerque and Acoma, to have access to the same content at the same speed.

We are begging you, at this moment in time, please protect the internet. Make it a public utility for all.

Thank you for your time.

R. Howell

CR Howell

87120

=====
From: Cris bacon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cris bacon

=====
From: Crislerry padron
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crislerry padron

=====
From: cristian dorsey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, cristian dorsey

=====
From: Cristina Laughbon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cristina Laughbon

From: Cristina Martinez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cristina Martinez

=====

From: Cruz Cruz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cruz Cruz

=====

From: Cruz Garcia
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cruz Garcia

=====

From: Crystal Austin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal Austin

=====

From: Crystal bautista
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal bautista

=====

From: Crystal Brown
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal Brown

=====
From: Crystal Bryant
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal Bryant

=====
From: Crystal carreras
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal carreras

=====
From: Crystal Conklin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Crystal Conklin

97015

=====

From: Crystal crenshaw
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal crenshaw

=====
From: Crystal Deen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please listen to the American People. The Big Telecom companies should not be able to control the internet. We need Net Neutrality. I am a retired HP Manager. I depend on the internet to provide ALL information I am looking for. I do not want some corporation controlling what I can access. This is not fair for start-up companies who need to be seen to survive. Allowing corporations to make websites pay for faster access is NOT fair. Allowing any corporation to prioritize, block or slow down access to the internet is a violation of the first amendment. Please keep the internet open for everyone!!

Crystal Deen

85204

=====
From: crystal hill
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, crystal hill

=====
From: Crystal Horton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal Horton

=====
From: crystal kendricks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, crystal kendricks

=====
From: crystal laforest
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, crystal laforest

=====
From: crystal lowe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, crystal lowe

=====
From: crystal marchant
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, crystal marchant

=====
From: Crystal Molina
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal Molina

=====
From: Crystal Petty
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal Petty

=====
From: Crystal Steele
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal Steele

=====
From: C SANDERS
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

C SANDERS

L327PQ

=====
From: C.S. Hernandez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

In the interest to save Net Neutrality, I am writing you. I do not believe it to be fair to prioritize, block, or slow down access to information on the internet. Why should companies pay for their data to download faster online? Why should customers pay more for their favorite sites to load faster? In asking for companies and customers to pay more for access that has been free since the internet's inception denies users of their right to the first amendment.

The internet is fine as it is; it should be considered a public utility. People can find free online classes to improve upon their education or just for the want to learn something new; if the internet is regulated with a pay-to-play arrangement with Big Telecom, this ability for free education disintegrates. The internet has allowed us as a society to secure free information; information that allows us to know about the surrounding world.

For me, net neutrality is important because it is a way to find music, to participate in culture, to find ways to help out my community, and is a way to stay connected with family and friends who live abroad. The access to the different programs or websites that allow me to partake in any of these activities without having to pay for their speed is vital.

Thank you for your time,

C.S. Hernandez

C.S. Hernandez

90057

=====
From: CT Bross
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please! Defend and protect Net Neutrality. My life, and my family's health depends on it - and always has!

CT Bross

94597

=====

From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Open Internet Reply Comment

Name: James Delancy
Email: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Address: 28 Rankin Rapids Rd.
Zip: 04774

Dear Chairman Wheeler, please don't break the Internet. Don't abandon the "Hands off the Net" approach begun under President Clinton, which unleashed staggering innovation. That bipartisan approach made possible the $01.03 trillion dollars of private investment that built today's broadband networks. Imposing Title II would hurt all Americans by slowing broadband deployment and creating a cloud of uncertainty over all Internet services.

Title II's draconian rules were designed in the 1930s for AT&T's government-created monopoly. They're a poor fit for the Internet. FCC Chairmen Bill Kennard (D, 1997-2001) and Michael Powell (R, 2001-2005) knew that. So they wisely drew a clear, bright line between Title II and the Internet. We don't buy claims that the FCC can maintain this firewall if it re-opens Title II. Nor do we trust that the FCC can quickly whittle Title II into something resembling today's bipartisan "Hands off the Net" approach. You can't have just enough Title II any more than you can be slightly pregnant.

Title II would hurt startups most: they can't cope with regulation as easily as big companies. Title II would protect incumbent broadband companies from new entrants like Google Fiber. Title II would hurt the underserved by slowing deployment and upgrades in minority and rural communities. And Title II would vastly increase the FCC's powers over the Internet. Remember, you won't be Chairman forever, and the powers you claim over the Internet today could be used to control it in ways you don't intend.

Yet, as you've noted, Title II wouldn't even allow the FCC to do what its proponents demand: ban "fast lanes."

We urge you to carefully focus regulation on real problems, what Chairman Kennard called "vigilant restraint." But remember Kennard's digital mantra, too: "First, do no harm." If you conclude that existing laws aren't adequate to protect consumers, you should ask Congress for legislation that clearly specifies the boundaries of the FCC's authority. No government agency should be trusted with a blank check to regulate the Internet at whim whether that's Title II or the vast powers the FCC has claimed under Section 706 to do anything it thinks will promote broadband.

Most of all, we want continually better, faster broadband and more competition. Instead of imposing Title II, we urge you to identify regulatory barriers at all levels of government that could be removed to help existing companies keep upgrading their networks, but also help Google Fiber, wireless providers and other private companies to compete.

Competition, not endless litigation and political bickering over Title II, should be your legacy.

=====
From: Curt Hesselink Hesselink
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Curt Hesselink
Hesselink

=====
From: Curtice Thompson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Curtice Thompson

=====
From: curtis daniels
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, curtis daniels

=====

From: Curtis Dotson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Curtis Dotson

=====

From: Curtis Dujour
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Curtis Dujour

=====

From: Curtis Eckstein
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I live in a area where my only access to the internet is to use "dial-up", spend a ridiculous amount of money for a satellite connection, or drive at least 05 miles to a place where I can catch a public connection with questionable security. Without net neutrality I would loose the only affordable internet connection available to me.

Curtis Eckstein

54311

=====

From: CURTIS FAIR
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CURTIS FAIR

=====

From: CURTIS HANKS
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, CURTIS HANKS

=====

From: Curtis Ruud
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: net neutrality

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

MY goodness; do we as a nation really have to allow the wealthy and powerful to connive and end up in control of everything. There is nothing wrong with the way the internet works now.

Curtis Ruud

58761

=====

From: Curtis Schad
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is the greatest demoralizer ever. Everyone is equal on the internet.
Don't let us be sold out.

Curtis Schad

64131

=====
From: Curtiss Easter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Curtiss Easter

=====
From: Curtis Skurka
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Curtis Skurka

02816

=====
From: Curtis Turner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Curtis Turner

=====
From: Curtis Ward
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Curtis Ward

=====
From: c weiss
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Growing up in a family of 11 TV and Radio was only way of escape and if was not free would not have had the few hours of escape. It is now that with computers and access to the web.

I use the web for business and is bad enough to see the bars go up and down with access knowing they are testing the waters of limiting access.

c weiss

22030

=====
From: Cy Gilson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cy Gilson

=====

From: Cyniece Cruz Soto
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cyniece Cruz Soto

=====

From: Cynthavia Holland
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthavia Holland

=====

From: Cynthia Anderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Anderson

=====

From: Cynthia Ballard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Ballard

=====

From: Cynthia Bettencourt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Chairman Wheeler:

Right now the internet is classified as a Title I communications service. This is called an information service. That's like television, something being broadcast at you. That's not the best classification of the internet, which is why we need the FCC to reclassify broadband services as Title II communications. Title II classification is where information is going both ways and both parties are contributing equally. The FCC would then have the power to regulate net neutrality. Which would be good.

As you are aware, the FCC has tried protecting net neutrality twice before, and been defeated by Big Telecom in court both times. In order to legally prevent Big Telecom from destroying net neutrality once again, the FCC should assert authority it already has under Title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934 to regulate the internet as a public utility. This legal argument offers the most protection for real net neutrality to prevent ISPs from controlling content speed and blocking websites.

Net neutrality has been the default state of the internet since its internet service providers load all websites at the same speed. Now, Big Telecom wants to change the rules so they can extract more money from websites by making them pay to be served to customers at faster speeds.

In order to preserve net neutrality, the FCC needs to ban Big Telecom from creating these so-called "fast-lanes" which only large companies could afford. Start-ups and independent sites would be left behind and crushed.

I am an RN who does a large part of my work over the internet. As students, educators, business owners, tele-health users, or any other persons that depend on the internet, I am concerned about the first amendment implications of prioritizing, blocking, or slowing down access to information on the internet! I am adamantly against allowing Big Telecom to extract more money from companies that operate on the internet and allowing Internet Service Providers to make deals that would prioritize content consumers can access, I should be able to choose what content I wish to access when and where and how I wish to access it!!

Thank you for your time and consideration. I hope you will do the right thing and protect the PEOPLE rather than the RICH CORPORATIONS in this very important matter.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Bettencourt, RN, BSN

Cynthia Bettencourt

96760

=====
From: Cynthia Brower
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Brower

=====
From: Cynthia Cook
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cynthia Cook

54165

=====
From: Cynthia Cox
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Cox

=====
From: cynthia davidson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

cynthia davidson

11746

=====
From: cynthia disanto
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

no big takeover, independence for all!

cynthia disanto

34952

=====
From: Cynthia Fowler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

We must classify internet providers the same way we do telephone companies They are common carriers. They need regulation because they do not own the internet- it is the "COMMONS" meaning belonging to the people. We need government to step in and allow an even playing field for a small business owner vs a mega multi national corporation. We don't want a country full of nothing but toll roads- we need roads for all that are maintained for the use of everyone- not just the wealthy.

Cynthia Fowler

90802

=====
From: Cynthia Hart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cynthia Hart

13158

=====
From: Cynthia Manno
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Manno

From: Cynthia McGunigle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia McGunigle

=====

From: Cynthia Parker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cynthia Parker

85248

=====

From: Cynthia Parrish
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Cynthia Parrish

90034

=====

From: Cynthia Robicheaux
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Robicheaux

=====
From: Cynthia Semenuk
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Hey! It's not enough that you've censored radio so much that I can't tell what's playing- it's also censoring art , which I don't appreciate. You controlling/sensoring the Internet is too much. When will our freedom of speech be unlimited or uncensored again? Only if you stop interfering in this for of communication. Cut it out!

Thanks,
Cynthia Semenuk

Cynthia Semenuk

08060

=====
From: Cynthia Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I think it is incredibly important to keep internet freedom--by that I mean: let's NOT let the corporations have a information superhighway while the rest of us plod along on a gravel pot-holed byway. And by the way, the Comcast-Time Warner merger is also reprehensible. It's clear that vast amounts of corporate money are being used to sway the FCC. Preserver net neutrality. Yes I know what that means. It means equal access to the same internet speeds for for everyone--any blogger can get their info delivered at the same speed as a Rupert Murdoch corporation. This is not a republican-democratic thing, a liberal-conservative thing. It's a big money vs. the rest of us thing. And believe me, we the people get it.

Cynthia Smith

97520

From: Cynthia Taber
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Taber

=====
From: cynthia t hunt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The net should NOT be gobbled up for corporate ownership/profit!

Don't disgrace the FED legacy by selling out...

cynthia t hunt

37179

=====
From: cynthia timmerman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

You have told me in your last letter that you favor net neutrality. Please use the authority you already have and regulate the internet as a public utility. The internet was intended to be available to anyone who wanted to use it. Please do not let it become a tool of a few rich and powerful people who intend to monopolize it for their own personal gain.

Thank You.

Cynthia Timmerman

cynthia timmerman

00851

=====

From: Cynthia Vera
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Vera

=====

From: Cynthia Whertley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Didn't you say you supported net neutrality? - What's happened? Cynthia Whertley

Cynthia Whertley

95248

=====

From: Cynthia Zientara
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cynthia Zientara

=====

From: Cyprian Pesce
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet belongs to the PEOPLE...free and clear!
We want REAL net neutrality, no BS lip service, double speak, or political flim-flam talky crap...hands off!
Yours,
C. Pesce

Cyprian Pesce

11235

=====
From: cyril ntukogu
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

no one appointed big telecom the gatekeepers.they should just thank us for the infra structure we have provided for them to ply their trade.if they interfere they should be thrown off the web and prosecuted . period!

cyril ntukogu

43110

=====
From: Cyrl Rice
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,
I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf
for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Cyrl Rice

=====
From: Cyrstal Rubio
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Crystal Rubio

=====
From: dahlia stein
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dahlia stein

=====
From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Open Internet Reply Comment

Name: jose esparza
Email: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Address: 940 e 42nd pl
Zip: 90011

Dear Chairman Wheeler, please don't break the Internet. Don't abandon the "Hands off the Net" approach begun under President Clinton, which unleashed staggering innovation. That bipartisan approach made possible the $01.03 trillion dollars of private investment that built today's broadband networks. Imposing Title II would hurt all Americans by slowing broadband deployment and creating a cloud of uncertainty over all Internet services.

Title II's draconian rules were designed in the 1930s for AT&T's government-created monopoly. They're a poor fit for the Internet. FCC Chairmen Bill Kennard (D, 1997-2001) and Michael Powell (R, 2001-2005) knew that. So they wisely drew a clear, bright line between Title II and the Internet. We don't buy claims that the FCC can maintain this firewall if it re-opens Title II. Nor do we trust that the FCC can quickly whittle Title II into something resembling todayâ\200\231s bipartisan â\200\234Hands off the Netâ\200\235 approach. You canâ\200\231t have â\200\234just enough Title IIâ\200\235 any more than you can be â\200\234slightly pregnant.â\200\235

Title II would hurt startups most: they canâ\200\231t cope with regulation as easily as big companies. Title II would protect incumbent broadband companies from new entrants like Google Fiber. Title II would hurt the underserved by slowing deployment and upgrades in minority and rural communities. And Title II would vastly increase the FCCâ\200\231s powers over the Internet. Remember, you wonâ\200\231t be Chairman forever, and the powers you claim over the Internet today could be used to control it in ways you donâ\200\231t intend.

Yet, as youâ\200\231ve noted, Title II wouldnâ\200\231t even allow the FCC to do what its proponents demand: ban â\200\234fast lanes.â\200\235

We urge you to carefully focus regulation on real problems, what Chairman Kennard called â\200\234vigilant restraint.â\200\235 But remember Kennardâ\200\231s digital mantra, too: â\200\234First, do no harm.â\200\235 If you conclude that existing laws arenâ\200\231t adequate to protect consumers, you should ask Congress for legislation that clearly specifies the boundaries of the FCCâ\200\231s authority. No government agency should be trusted with a blank check to regulate the Internet at whim â\200\224 whether thatâ\200\231s Title II or the vast powers the FCC has claimed under Section 706 to do anything it thinks will promote broadband.

Most of all, we want continually better, faster broadband and more competition. Instead of imposing Title II, we urge you to identify regulatory barriers at all levels of government that could be removed to help existing companies keep upgrading their networks, but also help Google Fiber, wireless providers and other private companies to compete.

Competition, not endless litigation and political bickering over Title II, should be your legacy.

=====
From: daisy price
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, daisy price

=====
From: dale angle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Conner

=====

From: DALE CONNER
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DALE CONNER

=====

From: Dale DeMarco
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dale DeMarco

16509

=====

From: dale ellsworth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dale ellsworth

=====
From: Dale Fitzgibbons
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a 66 year old emeritus professor of business. When I read about how well other countries provide internet service to their citizens, I become angry. We have some of the most expensive and slowest internet service in the world. How can that be? Because the FCC has not been looking out for the individual user. As with so many of our institutions, politicians, and agencies these days, corporate money has a much louder voice than US citizens (individually or collectively). We have become a country of second-class citizens made subject to the all-powerful corporation.

We are now at another crossroad. You and your commissioners need to stop this effort by the big corporations who want to take something that was free since its inception and keep it in the hands of the US citizenry. The bandwidth we use needs to be keep free of "toll booths" and "pay-to-play" internet arrangements. A free and open internet will support our economic, educational, and entrepreneurial activities.

Dr. Dale Fitzgibbons

Dale Fitzgibbons

61704

=====
From: Dale Frandsen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Frandsen

=====
From: Dale Gerring
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dale Gerring

98056

=====
From: Dale Goodin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Bandwidth is limited here in the U.S. Giving the special interests and super rich corporations extra bandwidth is not in the interests of a free society. We the people want Net Neutrality.

Thank you.

Dale Goodin

80227

=====
From: Dale Gunn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Gunn

From: Dale Hammer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I am a 62 year old man, who. was just recently able to get high speed internet. Until July 2014 I still had dial up internet. My area was not serviced until then. It is unbelievable to me that you would even consider Net Neutrality. I think, in this day and age, high speed internet is a "right that should not be infringed". Many people make extra income using the internet. Many young people who are trying to better themselves via the internet, taking College courses. Trust me on this. The cable companies make plenty of money by the month by just providing the service. Average cost per month, bundled is over $150.00, adding to that figure would price many to not be able to keep their service. Wonder if providers have thought about that? People use the internet to gain knowledge. Providers use it to get rich. Please keep the "Open internet". Stop the corporation greed.
Thank You,
Dale Hammer

Dale Hammer

97601

=====
From: Dale Jarmush
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Jarmush

=====
From: Dale Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dale Johnson

23435

=====
From: Dale Marshall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dale Marshall

97525

=====
From: DALE MILLER
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DALE MILLER

=====
From: Dale Oestmann
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Oestmann

=====

From: Dale Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Smith

=====

From: Dale Thatcher
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Thatcher

=====

From: Dale Van Donselaar
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Van Donselaar

=====
From: dale w
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

This is "true" freedom of speech and freedom of the press. We need to maintain it.

dale w

47711

=====
From: Dale Walker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Walker

=====
From: Dale Weaver
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dale Weaver

=====

From: Dale White
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dale White

14207

=====
From: Daley Holder
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a part-time college student who depends on the internet to access a wide variety of content.

I'm outraged that Big Telecom is being allowed to extract more money from internet-based companies and that ISPs are being allowed to make deals to prioritize accessible content. And the FCC's proposed net neutrality rules could make things even worse, as it would allow Big Telecom to create fast lanes for big corporations and slow lanes for smaller businesses. This pay-to-play arrangement would effectively destroy net neutrality as we know it.

Also, I believe that the FCC's proposed rules would be a violation of the first amendment right to free speech.

Net neutrality is so important to me because it gives us the freedom to access a wide variety of internet content without persecution, prejudice, or discrimination. In fact, it's been part of the internet since it was invented. I urge you to ensure the preservation of net neutrality by reclassifying the internet as a public utility under Title II of the 1934 Telecommunications Act.

Daley Holder

11221

=====
From: dallas faulkner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dallas faulkner

=====
From: DALLAS holguin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DALLAS holguin

=====
From: DALLAS SPRAGUE
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DALLAS SPRAGUE

=====
From: Dalton Gilbert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dalton Gilbert

=====

From: Damaris Guerrero
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Damaris Guerrero

=====

From: damian castillo
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, damian castillo

=====

From: damian Simon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, damian Simon

=====
From: damiawalter walter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, damiawalter walter

=====
From: Damon and Cynthia Williams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Damon and Cynthia Williams

=====
From: Damon Brown
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Damon Brown

90016

=====
From: Damon Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Hello FCC Regulators,
I am a disabled man often house bound with very limited, fixed and shrinking income. Over the last 10 years I have witnessed the cost of all forms of communication, information and entertainment sky rocket. Since for one thing my access to telephone service is through the internet my ability to even call 911 in emergencies is crucial. Sadly the lax regulation of internet mergers has led to monopolies. As these monopolies grow bigger with merger after merger the costs increases more and more quickly.
There are times when I run out of food and have to decide what essential parts of my survival I must sacrifice in order to eat. Allowing monopolies through mergers of cable and internet companies is truly hurting me and I know there are millions of people in my situation or similar situations. Allowing mergers of already gigantic companies is threatening our ability to communicate and survive.
You are an agent of the United States federal government and the government was created to serve the people. Competition is helpful in driving prices down and would help the American people. Monopolies drive prices up and hurt almost everyone in our nation. Your job is to support the general welfare of the hundreds of millions of individual people and not to favor gigantic and wealthy corporations who already have too much money and too much influence.
Stop robbing me of the ability to even call emergency services along with all the other benefits of the internet. Stop favoring the wealthy and influential and do your job serving the best interests of the majority of Americans. We want true competition and choices between many internet companies. We want the freedom of access to information that can be best served by breaking up these monopolies that the FCC and other have already allowed. We say no more mergers. No more monopolies. AT&T, Time Warner, Comcast, and Verizon need to stay separate and even be broken up into many smaller companies in order to keep political agendas and price gouging from continuing.
The monopolies you have already allowed have threatened my very survival. It is time to reverse course.
Thank You

Damon Smith

94523

=====
From: Dana Bellwether
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The Internet has more in common with the phone system than with television, since it largely concerns two-way communication. Even where the communication is in one direction, though, it's worth protecting the Net, the US's last bastion of democracy, from the plutocrats. As George Burns said of the loss of vaudeville, "The kids need a place to be lousy in."

Dana Bellwether

95404

=====
From: Dana Cooper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dana Cooper

=====
From: Dana Croy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Chairman Wheeler,

If Net Neutrality is not preserved then neither will our RIGHTS or FREEDOM be preserved. It will be a slap in the face of our forefathers that fought and gave their lives for this great country and in the face of LIBERTY. Do not do them a disservice. Ultimately it will cause myself and family to simply not use the internet. I grew up without internet and know good and well we do just fine without it!

Dana Croy

56601

=====

From: Dana Friedman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The future of small business economy, education, and basic communication is at risk. Please do not let greedy corporate America which is making plenty of money off the internet already to tax the rest of us for their greed.

The cable companies now collect FUSF, and so do the telecom providers. That should give them all the money they deserve for keeping the internet running smoothly. NO ONE should get to determine the fate of billions of people's lives, millions of small businesses, and the education of our world for the greed of a few evil corporations. That's not democracy, that's dictatorship.

PLEASE don't give in to corporate interests. Declare the internet a public utility. That's what it is already. Please just make it law, and get corporate greed interests out of the internet.

THANK YOU!

Dana Friedman

10002

=====
From: Dana GAINES
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dana GAINES

=====
From: Dana Golden
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

As a underemployed, middle-aged woman returning to school, I need to be able to use the Internet quickly and without restrictions. Only Time Warner is available in my neighborhood, and I can barely afford it. The end of net neutrality and the merger of TWC and Comcast will leave me stranded without a way to research papers, or submit them through the university's plagiarism prevention program. Please think about all American's and stop both these evil ideas. Thank you.

Dana Golden

75234

=====
From: Dana Irwin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Keep free speech free and protected. A wide variety of opinion is what has made the country great. Consolidation of news papers and media has limited access to public expression to a few have polarized this country. Those few who control these outlets have routinely been wrong. Look at Fox News as a shining example of propoganda and the damage their fundamentally skewed untruths have already done to our society. Out right lying about facts and presenting as news is propoganda and damaging.

Arbitrarily allowing successful/profitable monopolies to put services up to the highest bidder and penalize the poorer voice access is not a democracy and not the original intent of the information sharing nature of the internet. That information sharing has been one of the few great equilizers as the wealthy control more and more power as they consolidate wealth. This isn't propoganda it's economic fact.

Controlling media leans the balance of power and access to just a few, a philosophy of oligopoly who believe wealth means intelligence. Again, look at the 2000s economic collapse. Simply not true. The 1890s and 1920s and recent 2000s to today are historical examples of how that is simply erroneous.

Dana Irwin

48375

=====
From: dana mcneal
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dana mcneal

=====
From: Dana Wakiji
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dana Wakiji

48080

=====
From: Dan Beach
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

An open and dependable Internet connection is now as essential as electricity or water. Blocking users, or - worse - allowing Time-Warner and Comcast to merge, is a disaster guaranteed to happen. Please keep the Internet open and available to all, and do not let the conglomerates merge. That would spell disaster.

Dan Beach

32835

=====
From: Dan Berger
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Chairman Wheeler:

Please do not let this one valuable instrument - the Internet - remain equal for all people of the world. We must have net neutrality!

Thank you very much for your consideration.

Dan Berger
Omaha, NE

Dan Berger

68135

=====
From: Dan Boland
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please protect net neutrality. America is competing on a global scale, and this would give American websites a MAJOR disadvantage. Our economy cannot afford not to have net neutrality.

Dan Boland

28202

=====
From: Dan Brennan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dan Brennan

07073

=====
From: Dan Brokke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Brokke

=====
From: Dan Buckles2
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dan Buckles2

94519

=====
From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Open Internet Reply Comment

Name: G. Daniel Burger, Jr.
Email: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Address: 6076 Depot Rd Altamont, NY
Zip: 12009

Dear Chairman Wheeler, please donâ\200\231t break the Internet. Donâ\200\231t abandon the â\200\234Hands off the â\200\230Netâ\200\235 approach begun under President Clinton, which unleashed staggering innovation. That bipartisan approach made possible the $01.03 trillion dollars of private investment that built todayâ\200\231s broadband networks. Imposing Title II would hurt all Americans by slowing broadband deployment and creating a cloud of uncertainty over all Internet services.

Title IIâ\200\231s draconian rules were designed in the 1930s for AT&Tâ\200\231s government-created monopoly. Theyâ\200\231re a poor fit for the Internet. FCC Chairmen Bill Kennard (D, 1997-2001) and Michael Powell (R, 2001-2005) knew that. So they wisely drew a clear, bright line between Title II and the Internet. We donâ\200\231t buy claims that the FCC can maintain this firewall if it re-opens Title II. Nor do we trust that the FCC can quickly whittle Title II into something resembling todayâ\200\231s bipartisan â\200\234Hands off the Netâ\200\235 approach. You canâ\200\231t have â\200\234just enough Title IIâ\200\235 any more than you can be â\200\234slightly pregnant.â\200\235

Title II would hurt startups most: they canâ\200\231t cope with regulation as easily as big companies. Title II would protect incumbent broadband companies from new entrants like Google Fiber. Title II would hurt the underserved by slowing deployment and upgrades in minority and rural communities. And Title II would vastly increase the FCCâ\200\231s powers over the Internet. Remember, you wonâ\200\231t be Chairman forever, and the powers you claim over the Internet today could be used to control it in ways you donâ\200\231t intend.

Yet, as youâ\200\231ve noted, Title II wouldnâ\200\231t even allow the FCC to do what its proponents demand: ban â\200\234fast lanes.â\200\235

We urge you to carefully focus regulation on real problems, what Chairman Kennard called â\200\234vigilant restraint.â\200\235 But remember Kennardâ\200\231s digital mantra, too: â\200\234First, do no harm.â\200\235 If you conclude that existing laws arenâ\200\231t adequate to protect consumers, you should ask Congress for legislation that clearly specifies the boundaries of the FCCâ\200\231s authority. No government agency should be trusted with a blank check to regulate the Internet at whim â\200\224 whether thatâ\200\231s Title II or the vast powers the FCC has claimed under Section 706 to do anything it thinks will promote broadband.

Most of all, we want continually better, faster broadband and more competition. Instead of imposing Title II, we urge you to identify regulatory barriers at all levels of government that could be removed to help existing companies keep upgrading their networks, but also help Google Fiber, wireless providers and other private companies to compete.

Competition, not endless litigation and political bickering over Title II, should be your legacy.

=====
From: Dan Ceppa
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

My understanding is that a free market system requires competition. What happens when you allow two major competitors to merge? If anything, both should be allowed access to the market places that have already been set up as monopolies.

Dan Ceppa

13790

=====
From: Dan Challand
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Challand

=====
From: Dan Cooper
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

FCC please do not allow the Time Warner merger! and please keep the net neutral!!

Dan Cooper

30325

=====
From: Dan Corrado
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Corrado

=====
From: Dan Dalton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Dalton

=====
From: Dan & Deann Kelly
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dan & Deann Kelly

54703

=====
From: Dan Delay
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Delay

=====
From: Dan Dickel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

It is imperative that this national resource be left free to all who use it at any speed without the sale or rental of the broadband space. This is our asset as a nation and belongs to no one group or groups.

Dan Dickel

55360

=====
From: Dan Dougherty
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

You need to stop the corporate take over of our lives. The internet needs to be left alone. If Corporations are allowed to take control of even a small amount data space you will put us on a road to censorship and an even more haves and have-nots world than they have already moved us to. They have manipulated the courts to call them people and money is speech. Don't let them take over the only free information left. Also you have allowed the majority of our media to be controlled by just 03-04 corporations and to completely let them control its last mode of distribution is screwed. You need to go back to pre 1980 FCC regs and not the direction you have taken us.

Dan Dougherty

Dan Dougherty

55458

=====
From: dan dube
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dan dube

=====
From: Dane Bowen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Net neutrality, REAL net neutrality may help save this country from total greed. As it is we won't last much longer with huge monopolies running over regular people.

Dane Bowen

28227

=====
From: Dan Elrod
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Elrod

=====
From: dane rutter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

dane rutter

60130

=====
From: Danette Clarke
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please think of the greater good for the People, not what is best for a corporation.

Danette Clarke

74074

=====
From: dane wilson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

any change in net neutrality would destroy the entire system that the web itself has dictated via innovation inspired by the principle notion that a level playing field benefits everyone.

dane wilson

19147

=====
From: Dan Fanelli
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Fanelli

=====
From: dan florence
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dan florence

=====
From: Dan Friebe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Friebe

=====
From: Dan Gibbons
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Gibbons

=====
From: Dan Hallmark
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dan Hallmark

63385

=====
From: Dan Hayden
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Hayden

=====
From: Dan Henderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The American people can not battle with large corporations in the fight for Net Neutrality any more than we can compete with Billionaire corporations with Citizens United. Please do not take away the average Americans ability to share the internet freely and fairly with the rest of the United States.

Thank You

Dan Henderson

Dan Henderson

65622

=====
From: Dania Smith

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dania Smith

45203

=====
From: Danica Nichols

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danica Nichols

=====
From: Daniela Consilvio

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniela Consilvio

=====

From: Daniel Adams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Adams

=====

From: daniela mercado
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, daniela mercado

=====

From: Daniela Minerbi
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniela Minerbi

96826

=====
From: Daniel Amos
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Amos

=====
From: Daniel Andritsch
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Andritsch

=====
From: Daniel Baisden
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Sir: we all use the internet AS a utility. Please keep it that way, okay?

Daniel Baisden

=====

From: Daniel bAKER
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
 No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniel bAKER

98370

=====

From: Daniel Berglund
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Berglund

=====

From: Daniel Biittner
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Chairman Wheeler it is my fondest hope that you are a real American who believes in what America stands for, not another member of our government who is for sale to the highest bidder. We refer to Mexico's corruption with disdain, but we are even worse. We talk about all the human rights abuse in Russia or China or elsewhere in the world where unarmed citizens are shot down in the streets by police and/or army, but that is getting pretty common in the US too. Please prove to me that some part of our government can still do something for the people, all the people, not just the wealthiest few who can pay their bribes.

Daniel Biittner

55707

=====
From: Daniel Boes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Boes

=====
From: Daniel Cano
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniel Cano

93458

=====
From: Daniel Carroll
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Carroll

=====
From: Daniel Caskey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The cable and telecom monopolies are too big and too powerful. They should not be allowed another avenue of rent seeking. Their service levels are dismal. Their customer satisfaction ratings are zero. Among all other industrialized companies we are the laughing stock. I can't believe we even entertaining a debate considering giving these companies more power. I already pay way too much for access to the internet. Now they want to charge the internet access to me? This is absurd.

In fact, rather than allowing them to siphon off the productivity of the rest of the country these entities should be broken up. Each of these companies geographic reach is far too large. They should be broken up along regional lines. These companies should also be forced to divest themselves of all publishing concerns. They should never be allowed to grow this big again.

The companies that own the content should not also own government enforced monopolies to distribute the content. How is this possible? Who do you people work for? It couldn't be more clear what the correct course of action is. If these companies invested in their networks there would be no need for a fast lane. The recent release by Level3 proves this. They should not be rewarded by causing a problem. There should have been investigations. When a monopoly violates the public trust it should be raked over the coals.

My fear is that you will drag this out until something else distracts the public and cede this additional power to these companies in the dead of night.

The second I have a choice I will switch providers.

Daniel Caskey

91321

=====
From: Daniel Cleveland
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Cleveland

From: Daniel Donnellan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Donnellan

=====

From: Daniel Donnelly Donnelly
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Donnelly Donnelly

=====

From: daniel dorcy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

daniel dorcy

32713

=====

From: Daniel Drais

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Come on, FCC. Do the right thing and assure equal access to all users of this important communications medium. The truth is that the big guys already get a de facto advantage. Please don't give them fast lanes and undermine net neutrality even more.

Sincerely,
Dan Drais
Seattle

Daniel Drais

98103

=====
From: Daniel Drake
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Drake

=====
From: Daniel Duller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

So, do you want me, as a citizen of the once great land to start watching you in your bedroom? Leave my internet alone.

Daniel Duller

61071

=====
From: Daniel Dunlap
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Dunlap

=====

From: Daniel Eastman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniel Eastman

82324

=====

From: Daniel E. Chase
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniel E. Chase

47371

=====

From: Daniel Edelstein
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality! No nonsense.

Daniel Edelstein

=====

From: Daniel Edwards
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Edwards

=====

From: Daniel Ellis
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I belong to a intellectual demographic minority. My only way to find folks in the same demographic is over the internet. I need a free and fast access to information and social media that meets my needs.
 Dan Ellis

Daniel Ellis

22601

=====

From: Daniel Finer
 Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
 Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Chairman Wheeler,
 I urge you to protect net neutrality. For some citizens, an independent internet is as important as running water or a working kitchen -- it has become a daily necessity. My own life isn't quite as net-centered, but I do rely on the internet considerably in my job as a faculty member at Stony Brook University, accessing manuscripts, downloading and uploading documents, responding to and conducting surveys, etc. The sites that are involved in these activities are certainly not the sorts of places that will be able to "pay to play." It is only because of net neutrality that such sites are up and functioning. The net needs to remain open;

please don't let it turn into a shopping mall.

Daniel Finer

11777

=====
From: Daniel Fink
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

The internet is by and for the people of the world, NOT by and for the CORPORATIONS of the world. It is absolute insanity to think that the internet should be a privately held pay to play system, where providers call the shots on the content that consumers can access. In my book, that is known as fascism. If the FCC claims they are unable to stop this, then it is only because our judicial system has been bought and paid for by the corporations that have their greedy agenda to end internet neutrality already in place.

Daniel Fink

44035

=====
From: Daniel Fontenot
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Say Yes to net neutrality.
Do the right thing.

Daniel Fontenot

70056

=====
From: Daniel Fontes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

While I thought that the Stereo AM decision by the FCC was an embarrassing faisco back in the 80s they've REALLY outdone themselves by their willingness to ABANDON the American People in the name of greedy sociopaths who would ENSLAVE them, turning the Internet into a gathering of horrific electronic toll roads that will bankrupt all users except the uber-rich and the trans-national corporations that they own. One more form of SLAVERY for the American People, one that shows what a SCAM the FCC has become in NO LONGER REPRESENTING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE. GET IT RIGHT and stand by AMERICANS not UN-AMERICAN greedy socopaths who HATE our Nation and our democracy!

Daniel Fontes

47905

=====
From: Daniel Frazer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Frazer

=====
From: Daniel Garcia
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Greetings, Please keep the Internet open like it is now. I am living on a very limited income and to have the internet become the Rich corporations in control would be disastrous for the economy and the every day persons! Thank you, Daniel Garcia

Daniel Garcia

77007

=====
From: Daniel Gartner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniel Gartner

85755

=====
From: Daniel Gomez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
Mr. Chairman,

I strongly urge you to deny this merger of Comcast/Time Warner.

Allowing this merger will accelerate a movement to a more restricted/less competitive,internet experience.

It will also make it harder for new content providers establish themselves in this type of environment.

These companies are making plenty of profits right now.

Stop this crazy trend of merger mania!

Sincerely,
Dan Gomez

Daniel Gomez

92805

=====
From: Daniel Holibaugh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniel Holibaugh

44601

=====
From: Daniel Huffines
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge
of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re
enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Huffines

=====
From: Daniel Jacobson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Jacobson

=====
From: Daniel Jaffe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

This is a critical issue. If we lose net neutrality, we will lose a huge part of our democracy. Please, do the right thing!

Daniel Jaffe

02186

=====
From: Daniel Jones
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Jones

=====

From: DANIEL KAISER
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DANIEL KAISER

=====

From: Daniel Kensinger
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Kensinger

=====

From: Daniel klein
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel klein

=====
From: Daniel Koning
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

My internet provider recently prompted me to replace my modem, saying that it was incompatible with the new protocols. However, once I received it, it seems it was a lot slower than my old modem. This despite them saying that they were going to give me the new Blast service, which is more expensive and is supposed to provide me with faster speeds. However, this means that there is just another reason to raise my monthly bill and make more money. The internet has become much more like your own personal cell phone, in which there is an expected level playing field available to all. Please fight for net neutrality to maintain a just internet for all!

Daniel Koning

94542

=====
From: danielle adams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, danielle adams

=====
From: Danielle Carriere
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Carriere

=====

From: Danielle Chambers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Chambers

=====

From: Danielle Deloreto
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Deloreto

=====

From: Danielle Doyon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The Internet is the greatest technological advance of the last 50 years. Do not put it out of reach for those without the means to appease big telecom. Do the right thing: protect net neutrality

Danielle Doyon

98402

=====
From: Danielle Doyon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is the greatest technological advance of the last 50 years. Do not put it out of reach for those without the means to appease Bug Telecom. Do the right thing: protect net neutrality.

Danielle Doyon

98502

=====
From: danielle kohl
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, danielle kohl

=====
From: Danielle McKinley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle McKinley

=====
From: Danielle Metcalf
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Metcalf

=====
From: danielle ostrowski
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, danielle ostrowski

=====
From: Danielle Phillips
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Phillips

=====

From: danielle ratliff
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, danielle ratliff

=====

From: danielle realty
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, danielle realty

=====

From: Danielle Reinhardt
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00

Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Reinhardt

=====

From: Danielle Stanley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Stanley

=====

From: Danielle stater
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle stater

=====

From: Danielle Stuck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Stuck

=====

From: Danielle Tyre
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Tyre

=====

From: danielle wormuth
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, danielle wormuth

=====

From: Danielle Yeater
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle Yeater

=====

From: Danielle young
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danielle young

=====

From: Daniel Lopez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Lopez

=====
From: Daniel Lovejoy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Comcast is rated as the worst internet / cable provider in the country.
We already know that monopolies are NOT in the best interest of the consumer.
Quit proving corporations own the country. Let American's at least pretend that we have some say in what is going on in government - you know "we the people".

Daniel Lovejoy

96750

=====
From: Daniel MacDUFF
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge
of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re
enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,
I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf
for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government
didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel MacDUFF

=====
From: Daniel Mathers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please use the FCC's authority under title II of the Telecommunications Act to regulate the internet as a public utility. The creation of 'fast lanes' by the big ISP's is a short-sighted scam to increase their already substantial revenue streams at the expense of every other stake holder, including their own customers. These companies would not be proposing this if they didn't basically have monopoly status in each market they serve: if people had a choice among ISP's, no one would use a company that provides service that's degraded in the manner that they're proposing.

A tiered internet would stifle American commerce and innovation. The rest of the world is not contemplating a move like the one that is now before the FCC. If we ruin our internet, the US will become an economic backwater, while the rest of the world moves on without us. And it would all be to help Comcast further line their pockets.

Thanks for your attention.

Daniel Mathers

68131

=====
From: Daniel McCullough
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel McCullough

=====
From: Daniel Merrell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Merrell

=====
From: Daniel Miller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniel Miller

26288

=====
From: Daniel Millington
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Give the people what they want! Hands off our internet! DO NOT KOW TOW TO BIG BUSINESS! Voters have faces, Corporations do not!

Daniel Millington

32821

=====
From: Daniel Mooney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Mooney

=====
From: Daniel Moore
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Sirs,

As the last untouched public utility free from regulations, restrictions, and barriers I implore you to keep the net nuetral. With newspapers dieing out, other news sources being consolidated and so called legitimate sources pandering to the dumbled down masses I ask to keep speeds, access and content on the net nuetral now and into the future.

Do the right thing and keep your hands off!

A concerned citizen,

Daniel Moore
303.424.6384

Daniel Moore

80120

=====
From: Daniel Moxley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Moxley

=====
From: Daniel Nguyen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Nguyen

=====
From: Daniel Orren
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Orren

=====
From: Daniel Osborn
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Osborn

=====
From: Daniel Parda
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Parda

=====
From: daniel pearce
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

daniel pearce

15658

=====
From: Daniel Pechacek
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Pechacek

=====
From: Daniel Perry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I have a small bussiness in a rural area of New Mexico. I would like to access the internet neutrally so that I can compete with the big businesses. Please protect internet neutrality. Why are prices for internet so expensive in the United States compared to other countries. Please treat access to the internet the same as a public utility.

Thank you,
Daniel Perry

Daniel Perry

87801

=====
From: Daniel Phifer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Phifer

=====
From: Daniel Pierce
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Pierce

=====
From: Daniel Quat
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daniel Quat

87508

=====
From: Daniel Quesenberry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Quesenberry

From: daniel regan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, daniel regan

From: daniel rhodes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, daniel rhodes

From: Daniel Rodriguez
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Rodriguez

=====
From: Daniel Rumery
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net neutrality is my number one concern when it comes to the internet. I believe we must maintain net neutrality to protect our free speech, foster competition, and keep the internet the way it has been since the beginning for all of us ,not just the big service providers to control.

Daniel Rumery

80863

=====
From: Daniel Sabath
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am writing to voice my strong support for net neutrality. I think the Internet needs to be regulated similarly to telephone infrastructure so that it does not come to be dominated by commercial interests who have shown historically that they do not exist to serve the public, only their shareholders. The Internet is a vital piece of infrastructure that should remain open for all to use in order to maintain the viability of our democracy.

Thank you for your consideration.

Regards,

Daniel E. Sabath
6529 18th Ave NE
Seattle WA 98115

Daniel Sabath

98115
=====

From: Daniel Schroeder
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Schroeder

=====

From: Daniel Schwenker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Schwenker

=====

From: Daniel Sillanpa
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Sillanpa

=====
From: Daniel Slade
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet is a public Utility and shouldn't be able to be purchased by giant media corporations. You and the rest of your colleagues have absolutely no right to destroy net neutrality so you can get bribes in the form of big high-paying jobs for your friends and relatives. That is a form of treason and you should be thrown in prison for it.

Daniel Slade

94102

=====
From: Daniel Sova
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Sova

=====
From: Daniel Stevens
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

KEEP THE INTERNET FREE!!!

Daniel Stevens

87104

=====
From: Daniel Tolar

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Tolar

=====

From: Daniel Tuggle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Tuggle

=====

From: Daniel Ulisses
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Ulisses

=====

From: Daniel Unruh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Unruh

=====

From: Daniel Walsh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Walsh

=====

From: Daniel Wasylkiw
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Wasylkiw

=====

From: daniel watts
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, daniel watts

=====

From: Daniel Whitney
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Whitney

=====

From: DANIEL WILLIAM SULLIVAN
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DANIEL WILLIAM

SULLIVAN

=====
From: Daniel Wise
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daniel Wise

=====
From: Daniel Zhou
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Mr. Wheeler,

Please keep the internet open to all. It is a utility by the public and for the public. Therefore, no one person has a right to own it and prioritize, block, or slow down access to information on the internet that favors any one person above any other person. (A case can be made for the porn industry and adults and kids, but unlike the vast majority of information available on the internet, the porn industry isn't targeted towards kids, is it?)

Thank you for your time,
Daniel

Daniel Zhou

10003

=====
From: Danijela Duvnjak
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danijela Duvnjak

=====
From: Danika Dandridge
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danika Dandridge

=====
From: Dan Ingall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dan Ingall

48849

=====
From: Dan Ireland
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Forget about what side your bread is buttered on - you need to represent the best interests of THE PEOPLE not the plutocrats!

Dan Ireland

55104

=====
From: Dan Jensen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

An open internet is as important as open streets or the ability to access clean water. Giving wealthy company's faster service creates a cast system in America that, and could lead to the revolts seen in other parts of the world. When the middle lass see they are denied the prosperity they have worked so hard to attain is no longer attainable they will react much more strongly than the working poor.

Dan Jensen

55347

=====
From: Dan J. Finkle
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am 60 years old & cannot afford to "debate" a corporate entity. Greed is not the correct way to live life & it is not the capitalist way. It is pure evil and individual people treated equally is the way to proceed. Protect net neutrality for people not corporations.

Dan J. Finkle

94109

=====
From: Dan Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Johnson

=====
From: Dan Joiner
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Tom Wheeler stop your lying. You say you are for net neutrality to those who write you saying we want it too...then you turn around and say getting faster lanes for the rich is OK... you can't have it both ways... Keep the Net Neutral all of us need to have the same access...not the rich in a faster lane controlled by Republicans....

Dan Joiner

10025

=====
From: Dan Krauss
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dan Krauss

12561

=====
From: dan lewis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

dan lewis

32953

=====
From: dan loucks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No plz keep tv free also.

dan loucks

98692

=====
From: Dan McGuire
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am a nurse that relies on the internet for up to date info on changes in healthcare. It is unimaginable that you would allow Big Telecom to extract more money from companies that operate on the internet. And at the same time allow Internet Service Providers to make deals that would prioritize content that consumers can access?

Dan McGuire

44136

=====
From: Danmoi Robinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danmoi Robinson

=====
From: dan moriarty
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf

for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dan moriarty

=====

From: dan morris
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dan morris

=====

From: dan musgrave
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dan musgrave

=====

From: Dan Myers
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dan Myers

90032

=====
From: Dannie Hart
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I am extremely concerned about cable and telecommunications companies attempting to create tiers of service on the Internet. The Internet is as much a public service as telephones, electric service and water. Much of the world uses the Internet for research, and communicating with faraway friends and relatives. Why should some company who has paid my county the most for a license to provide Internet service be allowed to determine which content I can receive, and which content I receive quickly? Is there any provision in your current plan that would mandate that all communications to and from governmental entities, such as the local electric company or my senator's office or the office of the FCC chairman, be included in the "fast channel"? The purpose of the Internet was, is and should be, to serve the needs of the people who use it. Profit to the companies who provide access to it should be a far-distant second or even third tier concern. I personally believe that profits on access to the internet should be capped at a reasonable rate, given that these companies are providing what is basically access to a utility. Thank you for reading this email.

Dannie Hart

32309

=====
From: Dan Nolan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dan Nolan

76112

=====
From: Danny Anderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Anderson

=====
From: Danny Branscum
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Branscum

=====
From: Danny Cochran
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Cochran

=====
From: danny doherty
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, danny doherty

=====

From: Danny Douglas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Douglas

=====

From: Danny Lowry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Lowry

=====

From: Danny Nichols
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Nichols

=====

From: Danny Owens
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Owens

=====

From: Danny Porter
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Why would we want to change what works? Other than for the almighty dollar. It is an outrage to even contemplate allowing huge corporations control access to the internet. Please don't allow this to happen.

Danny Porter

72856

=====

From: Danny Segovia
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Segovia

=====
From: Danny Watson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Please fight for net neutrality.

Danny Watson

81220

=====
From: Danny Williams
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Danny Williams

=====
From: Dan O'Leary
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're

enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan O'Leary

=====
From: danon young
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, danon young

=====
From: Dan Patridge
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Patridge

=====
From: Dan Pellegrino Jr.
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Pellegrino Jr.

=====
From: Dan Petersen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Petersen

=====
From: Dan Pillsbury
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Pillsbury

=====
From: Dan Sayler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Sayler

=====

From: Dan Smith
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Stop the merger of Comcast and Time Warner. Between them they represent the worst service providers in the cable industry. A merger is bad for consumers and will create a super bad corporation.

Dan Smith

45780

=====

From: Dan Stahlman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Stahlman

=====

From: Dan Stanevich
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dan Stanevich

=====

From: Dan Stanger
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Net neutrality has been the default state of the internet since its invention - internet service providers load all websites at the same speed. Now, Big Telecom wants to change the rules so they can extract more money from websites by making them pay to be served to customers at faster speeds.

In order to preserve net neutrality, the FCC needs to ban Big Telecom from creating these so-called "fast-lanes" which only large companies could afford. Start-ups and independent sites like Daily Kos would be left behind and crushed.

Dan Stanger

02459

=====

From: DAN SWEENEY
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DAN SWEENEY

=====

From: Dante Schuler
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dante Schuler

=====

From: Dan Thomsob
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I WANT AN OPEN NET. NO SLOWDOWNS ON SITES OTHERS CONSIDER MERITLESS OR WORTHLESS. I AM MY OWN JUDGE.

Dan Thomsob

32084

=====

From: Darcy Bergh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Darcy Bergh

92102

=====

From: Darin Bordies
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge

of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darin Bordies

=====
From: Darin Eller
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darin Eller

=====
From: Darin Harrison
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darin Harrison

=====
From: DARIN HIEB
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

DARIN HIEB

95630

=====
From: darius hall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, darius hall

=====
From: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Open Internet Reply Comment

Name: Bill Smith
Email: xxxx@xxxx.xxx
Address: 3500 the strand,hermosa beach,ca.
Zip: 90254

Dear Chairman Wheeler, please donâ\200\231t break the Internet. Donâ\200\231t abandon the â\200\234Hands off the â\200\230Netâ\200\235 approach begun under President Clinton, which unleashed staggering innovation. That bipartisan approach made possible the $01.03 trillion dollars of private investment that built todayâ\200\231s broadband networks. Imposing Title II would hurt all Americans by slowing broadband deployment and creating a cloud of uncertainty over all Internet services.

Title IIâ\200\231s draconian rules were designed in the 1930s for AT&Tâ\200\231s government-created monopoly. Theyâ\200\231re a poor fit for the Internet. FCC Chairmen Bill Kennard (D, 1997-2001) and Michael Powell (R, 2001-2005) knew that. So they wisely drew a clear, bright line between Title II and the Internet. We donâ\200\231t buy claims that the FCC can maintain this firewall if it re-opens Title II. Nor do we trust that the FCC can quickly whittle Title II into something resembling todayâ\200\231s bipartisan â\200\234Hands off the Netâ\200\235 approach. You canâ\200\231t have â\200\234just enough Title IIâ\200\235 any more than you can be â\200\234slightly pregnant.â\200\235

Title II would hurt startups most: they canâ\200\231t cope with regulation as easily as big companies. Title II would protect incumbent broadband companies from new entrants like Google Fiber. Title II would hurt the underserved by slowing deployment and upgrades in minority and rural communities. And Title II would vastly increase the FCC's powers over the Internet. Remember, you won't be Chairman forever, and the powers you claim over the Internet today could be used to control it in ways you don't intend.

Yet, as you've noted, Title II wouldn't even allow the FCC to do what its proponents demand: ban fast lanes.

We urge you to carefully focus regulation on real problems, what Chairman Kennard called vigilant restraint. But remember Kennard's digital mantra, too: First, do no harm. If you conclude that existing laws aren't adequate to protect consumers, you should ask Congress for legislation that clearly specifies the boundaries of the FCC's authority. No government agency should be trusted with a blank check to regulate the Internet at whim whether that's Title II or the vast powers the FCC has claimed under Section 706 to do anything it thinks will promote broadband.

Most of all, we want continually better, faster broadband and more competition. Instead of imposing Title II, we urge you to identify regulatory barriers at all levels of government that could be removed to help existing companies keep upgrading their networks, but also help Google Fiber, wireless providers and other private companies to compete.

Competition, not endless litigation and political bickering over Title II, should be your legacy.

=====
From: darla arnold
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, darla arnold

=====
From: Darlan Burns
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darlan Burns

=====

From: Darlanie Singletary
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darlanie Singletary

=====

From: Darla Stokes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

The internet is the great equalizer. We have corporations controlling every other aspect of society; we don't need them to destroy the internet as well.

Darla Stokes

09142

=====

From: Darlean Moffett
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darlean Moffett

=====
From: Darlene Estlow
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darlene Estlow

=====
From: DARLENE HUNTER
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DARLENE HUNTER

=====
From: Darlene Kempf
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darlene Kempf

=====

From: Darlene Klingenberg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darlene Klingenberg

=====

From: Darlene Little
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darlene Little

=====

From: Darlene Schmall
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darlene Schmall

=====

From: darlene wolf
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No more sneaking around by the government is to be tolerated. The public is totally sick of everyone pandering to the big companies and ignoring the good of the people. Now we are going to be under the power of Big Telecom which, for the most part, is indifferent to its customers anyway. Shame on anyone who votes for this.

darlene wolf

34102

=====

From: Daron Spencer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daron Spencer

=====

From: Darrel Darrel
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darrel Darrel

=====
From: Darrel Hestdalen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darrel Hestdalen

=====
From: Darrell Bordelon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darrell Bordelon

=====
From: Darrell Dickinson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Dear Mr. Wheeler,

Democracy is an experiment that is failing because free enterprise is failing. There is little competition in most industries, which are now dominated by only a few mega-multinational corporations. Internet access is dominated by monopolistic corporations like COMCAST who are restrained only by FCC regulations. The mega-corporations want to change the rules that prohibit "fast lanes" for wealthy corporate users while relegating individuals and small companies to "slow lane" service.

Mr. Wheeler, please make sure the FCC protects free enterprise and democracy by maintaining Net Neutrality.

Darrell Dickinson

97068

=====
From: Darrell Dishman
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

DO THE RIGHT THING!

Darrell Dishman

90009

=====
From: Darrell House
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

All internet should be neutral. No one should be allowed to buy priority.

Darrell House

46186

=====
From: Darrell Hymer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Darrell Hymer

45011

=====
From: Darrel Lowe
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darrel Lowe

=====
From: Darrell Park
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

It is truly a low point to have to remind the FCC to remind its leadership to do its job (and then getting an auto reply from Chairman Wheeler that of course Chairman Wheeler agrees with me and loves an open internet). Please do your job and protect net neutrality and ensure that the fair and free flow of ideas and information is protected. I am frankly insulted by the idea that all Americans need to come up with personal stories so that the FCC Chairman will be more likely to maintain democracy on the internet. It feels a lot like Fidel Castro asking people to cite examples of why they need freedom of speech..

Having to write this letter feels very much like having to beg you to do your job. It shouldn't be this way. The FCC was set up to stand up against this kind of nonsense so the rest of us can live our lives and be protected from big companies that would try to have their way at the expense of the average person.

Darrell Park
Founder
Better Than We Found It, PBC

Darrell Park

91030

=====

From: Darrell Shields
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darrell Shields

=====

From: Darrell Victor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Darrell Victor

45419

=====

From: Darrell Weber
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darrell Weber

=====

From: Darren Hesselink

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darren Hesselink

=====

From: darren raiford
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, darren raiford

=====

From: Darren Wietz
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darren Wietz

=====

From: Darriald Morgan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

As the manager of a small Landscape business I use the internet frequently. I am in Anchorage, AK and the home office is in Wasilla, AK. I believe that if this is enacted it would hinder the growth of small businesses, or if we cannot afford to pay for the cost of the "new internet" pay structure we may be restricted from getting the content needed from the internet to run our business effectively. As a father of a 07 year old daughter, that is learning how to use her new computer, I feel this is just wrong on so many levels. My daughter is the future and I want her and all of our future generations to have every opportunity to make this world a better place. The internet gives them new views and ideas, lets them connect to people they would otherwise never have known existed and lets their voice be heard, not just in their home or town, but all over the world. How could my daughter ever experience any of these things if the internet is restrictive and profit is placed ahead of humanity and its basic rights? Please, please, please keep the Net Neutral.

Darriald Morgan

99503

=====
From: darrien watkins
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, darrien watkins

=====
From: Darrin Taylor
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darrin Taylor

=====
From: darryl eric dempsey
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, darryl eric dempsey

=====
From: Darryl McCullough
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darryl McCullough

=====
From: Darryl Mix
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darryl Mix

=====

From: Darryl Murphy
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

I just want to say that enough is enough already!!!!

Slowing down the internet to folks that can hardly afford it now is wrong.

As far as a merger of this magnitude is just wrong.

Darryl Murphy

11722

=====

From: Darryl Roberts
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Please keep the internet neutral.

Darryl Roberts

95448

=====

From: darvon ingram
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control

and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, darvon ingram

=====
From: Darwin and Emily Thomas
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darwin and Emily Thomas

=====
From: Darwin Bell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darwin Bell

=====
From: Darwinn Easley
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded

with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along -- no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Darwinn Easley

=====
From: Darwin Ryan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Darwin Ryan

11782

=====
From: Darwin Stead
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Chairman Wheeler,

Comcast already charges an exorbitant fee for my phone, internet and tv service. Allowing them to throttle the internet speed is analogous to allowing them to offer different versions of phone and tv quality: bad, average or good! This ala carte, nickel and diming consumers to death needs to stop with the peoples' internet. Removing net neutrality takes away freedom for all and turns it over to big business. And that's wrong. Net neutrality for all.

Darwin Stead

98155

=====
From: Daryl Chang
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daryl Chang

=====
From: Daryl Delzer
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daryl Delzer

=====
From: Daryl Elliott
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Daryl Elliott

89134

=====
From: Daryl Schelin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Daryl Schelin

=====
From: Daryl Shute
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
Net Neutrality should not even be questioned or jeopardized in any way. The response to Tom Wheeler's proposal has been overwhelming.

Cable TV is a great template for what will happen: mediocre, manipulated services, exorbitant prices and no customer service.

It is time again for government agencies to work for the betterment of America and her people, not corporations and profit.

This means you!

Daryl Shute
80127

=====
From: dasn harris
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
I am urging you to preserve net neutrality!!!!!!

dasn harris
92024

=====
From: Dauod Monis
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dauod Monis
23228

=====

From: Dave Allen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Allen

=====

From: Dave Baine
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dave Baine

98023

=====

From: DAVE BASSETT
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, DAVE BASSETT

=====

From: Dave Bruker
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net neutrality has been the default state of the internet since its inventionâ\200\224internet service providers load all websites at the same speed. Now, Big Telecom wants to change the rules so they can extract more money from websites by making them pay to be served to customers at faster speeds.

Stop the corporate take over!

Dave Bruker

47401

=====
From: Dave Buck
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Buck

=====
From: Dave Cavanaugh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Chairman Wheeler,

I'll be brief; you have rules to create and I have a business to run. An open Web is my life-blood; I'm a Search Marketing strategist and consultant. My job is to help small businesses and organizations develop and implement online marketing plans that improve their ROI. It's that simple.

The odds are already stacked against the little guy, so we have to be clever and agile. We quickly seize opportunities and dodge potholes. The slightest hiccup can ruin a small business. An open Web provides equal opportunity. It's not an advantage; it's a level playing field.

Politicians, of all stripes, publicly praise the entrepreneurial and innovative spirit of the small business owner, and then privately work to undermine the very foundation that allows those virtues to flourish. Net neutrality sets the foundation for the American entrepreneur, take that away and youâ\200\231ve rammed the final stake through our hearts.

On September 10th, I will join the Internet Slowdown Net Neutrality protest. Each of my clients and colleagues are aware of this and have committed to joining our cause. Rest assured, we will not forget and we will not stop fighting until the FCC unambiguously protects and preserves Net neutrality.

Best Regards,
Dave Cavanaugh

Dave Cavanaugh

14214

=====
From: Dave Cunningham
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Cunningham

=====
From: dave darnell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dave darnell

=====

From: dave dillon
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dave dillon

=====

From: Dave Dowding
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Dowding

=====

From: Dave Dunkak
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairperson Wheeler,

The Internet is a public utility for which we all pay big telecom companies handsomely already. It is not for you to sell to them in order to concentrate more power in their hands than they already have. Leave the Internet alone. And for God's sake, do not put it in the hands of Big Telecom.

Thank you,

Dave

Dave Dunkak

=====

From: Dave Durham
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Durham

=====

From: Dave Green
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Green

=====

From: dave guidry
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free

is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, dave guidry

=====
From: Dave Hendricks
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Hendricks

=====
From: Dave Herbert
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Herbert

=====
From: Dave Jensen
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Internet access and net neutrality are essential to my children's future success. No other technology has the ability to let them travel the world from our small CNY village.
My wife supplements the family income by selling items on ebay.

I use you tube videos to train the firefighters on my shift and the health care providers at Cayuga Medical Center.
The internet is a public good and a public utility. Please protect net neutrality.

Dave Jensen

13077

=====
From: Dave Johnson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Sir:

For the first time in my more than 70 years, I am deeply concerned about the future of democracy in our country. Our Constitution is under attack with rights I had understood as a youngster now seemingly turned upside down.

The power of money to drown out political voices and narrow access to information seems to be relentless. Net neutrality can help counter that power, ensuring open, complete, and equal access to information and the full expression of our rights.

I do research and I write. The current state of the net allows me to do both in confidence that the only limitations are mine. To have cable companies and telecom providers with the power to block content and create "fast lanes" will be a serious blow to me personally and to many others like me that use the net daily.

I look forward to your full support for net neutrality.

Thank You

Dave Johnson

95993

=====
From: Dave Jordan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Jordan

=====
From: Dave King
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dave King

01002

=====
From: Dave Ladd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Net Neutral for the people !

The internet was invented by the people for the people NOT for corporate america, Comcast nor any other company has the right to control our internet and only you have the power to stop this madness, so please do not allow this to happen to us the people, corporate america and politicians have already destroyed the middle class in america put a stop to this now please !

You people by the way are NOT politicians, your job is to do the right thing by law and by the american people, thank you.

Dave Ladd

37101

=====
From: Dave Ladd
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The internet was invented by the people, for the people and NOT FOR CORPORATE GREEDY PEOPLE to take it over for even higher corporate profits. Corporate America has destroyed the middle class in America and still they want more, the greed has to stop and NOW is the time to send them that message.

Please stop the take over of the open internet ! !

Respectfully,

Dave

Dave Ladd

37101

=====
From: Dave LaGesse
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dave LaGesse

54703

=====
From: Dave Lyons
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Lyons

=====
From: Dave Mackin
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223
The Internet is a public utility that everyone should have equal access to. Allowing big money to change that in any way whatsoever will ruin the Internet entirely. Even if that is not the FCC's intent, it will happen.

Dave Mackin

98052

From: Dave Marsh
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

The Internet belongs to The People. It was not created solely to provide Corporations with a vehicle to generate ungodly amounts of profit. Corporations are welcome to do so ... but not superseding the rights of The People to a level playing field and an Internet unhindered by roadblocks and toll booths run by Corporate Profiteers.

Dave Marsh

40515

=====
From: Dave Matthews
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dave Matthews

ng24hx

=====
From: Dave Mattingly
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Protect net neutrality! Equal access should be available to all companies!

Dave Mattingly

28715

=====
From: Dave Maynard
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Maynard

=====
From: Dave McGowan
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave McGowan

=====
From: Dave Morton
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Morton

=====
From: Dave Orrell
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dave Orrell

27407

=====
From: Dave rhuberg
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

I want Net Neutrality to preserve my freedom of choice and encourage competition in the internet provided digital media market. I got rid of cable TV and only kept cable internet. I get all of my content on the internet and use multiple sources, and enjoy looking for new and startup sources.
Thank you for protecting my freedom of choice,

Dave rhuberg

28645

=====
From: Dave Sherbula
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

Please stop media consolidation.

The public is done a disservice if only a few outlets for information are widely available, and controlled by mega corporations.

Net neutrality and regulation of the internet would best serve the public interest. Public water supplies, sewer systems are excellent examples of public utility models for broadband.

Dave Sherbula

53121

=====
From: Dave Spataro
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet,

I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Spataro

=====
From: Dave Stokes
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didnâ\200\231t regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along â\200\223 no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulationâ\200\224just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCCâ\200\231s dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, Dave Stokes

=====
From: Dave Weber
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissionersâ\200\223â\200\223â\200\223â\200\223

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

Dave Weber

85749

=====
From: David Adam
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCCâ\200\231s crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before theyâ\200\231re enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will changeâ\200\224and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government

didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, David Adam

=====

From: David Anderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

Dear Chairman Wheeler,
As a concerned Citizen I am writing you to support net neutrality and save the internet as we know it. Big telecom has no business establishing themselves as gatekeepers to a system that was developed and paid for by US taxpayers. As someone who uses the internet for both private and business uses, I am concerned that we, the people, have much to lose if the internet is not classified as a public utility, which it certainly is.

Again, I urge you to do the right thing and support net neutrality and treat the internet as a public utility as provided for under Title II of the 1934 Act.

Thank you,
David Anderson
Chicago, IL 60614

David Anderson

60614

=====

From: david anderson
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

Dear Mr. Wheeler, As an American citizen, I wanted to voice my opposition to the FCC's crippling new regulations that would put federal bureaucrats in charge of internet freedom, and urge you to stop these regulations before they're enacted. If the federal government goes through these plans to regulate the internet, I know that the internet will change and not for the better. The Internet is not broken, and does not need to be fixed. Left-wing extremists have been crying wolf for the past decade about the harm to the Internet if the Federal government didn't regulate it. Not only were they wrong, but the Internet has exploded with innovation. Do not regulate the Internet. The best way to keep it open and free is what has kept it open and free all along - no government intervention. Like many Americans, I believe that the internet should remain free of government control and unnecessary regulation just as it has for the last twenty years of unprecedented growth. Please stop the FCC's dangerous new regulations, and protect the future of internet freedom here in America. Sincerely, david anderson

=====

From: David Anthony

Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Docket number: 14-28 protecting an open internet

To Chairman Tom Wheeler and the FCC Commissioners

No Content Found -- Please specify some content

David Anthony

72032

=====
From: David Avalos
Date: 09/05/2014 00:00:00
Subject: Do Not Regulate the Internet

